WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The senate wound up two weeks of wordy debate on the farm bill today by agreeing to limit future speech-making on the measure.

By motion of Senator Barkley, the majority leader, a unanimous consent agreement was reached to cut debate on amendments to the bill to 15 minutes for each speaker, with 20 minutes allowed on the bill itself.

Senators will be permitted to speak only once on each amendment and only once on the bill.

Barkley told the senate that the two weeks of debate had been given full opportunity for discussion and that it was desirable to avoid any unnecessary further delay.

A substitute farm program proposed by Senator Lee, Democrat, Oklahoma, was exempted from the debate limitation agreement, after Lee had protested that he had no opportunity for a full discussion of his measure.

Expected To Recover After Ten Others Taken By Swift Death

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eight infants [illegible] of a mysterious outbreak which brought swift death to ten others at St. Elizabeth's hospital showed definite improvement today.

One of them, 12-day-old Sandra Traska, was apparently cured. She was lifted from her bassinet in the quarantined nursery, placed in an incubator and borne to the home of her happy parents in an ambulance.

Sister Mary Adolphine, superior at the hospital, reported the seven others stricken by an intestinal disorder had taken a turn for the better.

No new cases were reported but scientists exerted every effort to reach an important objective—the finding of the cause of the disease that has puzzled medical men for several years.

It has been diagnosed as enteritis, or acute epidemic diarrhea. The source of the scourge was believed to be a virus.

LEADING BANKERS OF NATION THINK RECESSION WILL RUN COURSE SOON

Majority Predict Upturn In 1938, Probably During Early Months

CHANGED ADMINISTRATION ATTITUDE DEEMED NEEDED

Those Questioned Think Building Program Not Important Factor

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The nation's leading bankers, replying to a questionnaire today, expressed belief that the current slump in American business would run its course for four months or more but would not develop into another major depression.

A majority predicted an upturn in 1938.

This was a consensus of the presidents and chief executives of 125 of the most important banks in 44 states having aggregate deposits of more than $12,000,000,000. The survey was conducted by Reuben A. Lewis, Jr., executive vice-president of the Metropolitan Trust company of Chicago.

Lewis said the opinions of individual bankers could not be made public but the majority expressed the belief that an upturn in business could not come before late in the spring. About one-fifth said the upturn would not be felt before next fall. Five said in 1939; chief executives of two banks among the ten largest in the country declared the upswing would come during the first quarter of 1939.

Lewis said the replies indicated bankers believed an upturn in business was dependent upon a demon-

TECH STADIUM, RUSTON, La., Dec. 4—Louisiana Tech's battling Bulldogs, doped to lose by at least two touchdowns, held Centenary's Gentlemen, conquerors of the mighty T. C. U. eleven, to a 7-7 tie on a muddy gridiron here today before a crowd of approximately 7,000 fans.

Both teams scored their touchdowns in the first quarter and then each battled the other to a standstill as the Techmen gained their "moral victory." It marked the first time in seven years that Centenary and Tech had played a football game, and the resumption of gridiron relations was most friendly from every standpoint.

Despite a rain that began late Friday night and lasted until just a few minutes before the game began, the concrete stands were packed and the extra bleachers set up to take care of the over-flow crowd were comfortably filled. The football field was muddy and slippery, and the ball was hard to handle but there were few fumbles to mar the contest and although the backs weren't able to gain any too firm a footing, there was a minimum of slipping and skidding. And the damp conditions didn't stop Tech's passing attack that was entirely responsible for the Bulldogs' touchdown.

In a way, history repeated itself today. Seven years ago two touchdown passes were dropped by a Tech receiver in the end zone and Centenary romped over the Bulldogs. Today, on the first play of the fourth quarter, a Tech receiver dropped a pass that would have meant a touchdown for the Centaurs. As it developed, a completed pass on that play would have meant a victory for Tech. However, nobody could find fault with the way the Bulldogs performed throughout the entire game.

The Tech defense was magnificent. Time after time the Bulldog forwards stopped the Centenary running attack cold and the great "Wonder Backs" and "Speedsters" were forced to gain through the line, usually in the face of the Techmen, especially in which Al Bessler and Ed Whitmore stood out.

Both touchdowns came as a result of passes. The Bulldogs scored first, after recovering a Centenary fumble about the middle of the field. Two passes were responsible for the score, both from Jack Bynum to Clyde Pennington, a sophomore end.

The Techmen took their second and after taking possession of the ball in Tech territory as a result of a poor kick. A lateral pass, planning the ball from the center of the field, and materially shortened the drive for the score. Stone rushed into the game after Bynum was hurt following a long run that placed the ball on the 15 yard stripe through the line for the tally.

"That was all the scoring, but the remainder of the game produced its thrills. There were several long runs to keep the crowd on edge, the punting was excellent and the play of the lines of both teams was outstanding.

The HUMAN SIDE Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1937, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE JAPANESE are training "carrier bees." Dr. Nihon Matsu of Yamagata hospital is the trainer. "Training" is the word used in the news dispatch. This writer was not only curious but a mite skeptical. Checking up on the item, he was surprised to learn that it isn't so preposterous as it seems. Bees have been trained. They can be "gentled" so they will snuggle in the palm of your hand—yours, not mine. Possibly, the Japanese will teach them to identify and sting only Chinese.

Anyway, Dr. Matsu has been working for years harnessing bees, with a tiny under-slung pocket for a microscopic message. Some are intractable; others don't mind taking up the yellow man's burden. He finds widely varying characteristics among bees—something resembling personality. Some bees are bright and teachable, quick to learn, regular apple-polishers, eager to oblige; others are either dumb or incorrigible. Dr. Matsu breeds the brighter strains and here's a whole new air fleet flying for Japan.

HE GETS thirty miles to the hour out of a late model, soundly re-conditioned bee. They are, obviously, homing bee. The Mason bees have long puzzled scientists by their swift, unhesitating, unerring homeward flights to their hives. Straight as a bullet they go, no matter what you do to confuse them. The current dispatch does not say whether Japan is training its carrier bees for wartime. Such, however, seems a safe deduction, as they have been world leaders in training carrier pigeons and dogs as battle couriers.

It's a quaint story, the tale of this little winged Mercury, a tiny golden arrow against the blue, bearing tidings for masters about whose doings it is perhaps best that it understands little. The poetic unities are marred in their use for war. Rather should they be winging through the sunlight to bring word to the princess in the castle tower that Lancelot will await below with the sinking of the new

Registered Mail Worth $50,000 Taken From Double-Locked Truck

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Crack sleuths of Uncle Sam's postoffice inspection service tonight grimly sought a clue that would lead to the solution of "an almost perfect crime"—the theft without violence of $50,000 worth of registered mail from a double-locked truck in transit.

LITTLE NOBODY TURNS HEIRESS

Rockefeller Millions Lie In Lap Of Tiny, Unknown Blonde Girl

By John Lear

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Little Miss What's-Her-Name was worth a fortune tonight.

No one knew when it happened. No one knew why. But everyone knew she once was a penniless orphan, and was now, overnight, an heiress.

Rockefeller millions lay in her lap, and the world didn't know her name.

She was the little blonde girl at the Muriel McCormick Hubbard estate, a little blonde girl too young to wonder why it should happen to her when there are thousands of orphans.

A little blonde girl—that was all people knew about her, that and the fact she was an orphan and four years old.

Still, she was the adopted great-granddaughter of the late John D. Rockefeller and a probable heiress to part of the McCormick reaper fortune as well.

Everything will not turn to gold for the little blonde girl, but most things will shine for her with a golden tint. Two things, oil and harvesters, two names, Rockefeller and McCormick, will see to that. They may even make Miss What's-Her-Name one of the richest girls in the world some day.

One of the richest girls in the world, maybe, and why?

Because her hair was blonde; or because her eyes were blue; or perhaps because a wealthy woman was lonely, and liked to give a little girl a bath.

"I have a child with me now," the widowed Mrs. Hubbard told an acquaintance who visited her secluded Lone Tree farm estate in October.

"She's four years old. We like to take care of her. I like to give her her bath."

The child may not have been the blonde four-year-old whose adoption was announced in Chicago two days ago by Mrs. Hubbard's father, Harold Fowler McCormick, the International

GOVERNMENT WINS BIG OIL VICTORY

Standard Oil Company Of California Loses $16,000,000 Decision

FRESNO, Calif., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The government won a $16,000,000 legal victory over the Standard Oil company of California today when Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich confirmed its title to a fabulously rich square mile of land in the Elk hills petroleum field.

Besides the land, which was valued at $10,000,000, the court ordered the company to pay the government $6,164,102.42 as damages inflicted by years of oil drilling there.

The government had asked $7,818,868.63 in addition to the title but Judge Yankwich held the company was entitled to a credit of $1,654,766.21 for paying taxes and other expenses incidental to operations.

Company officials announced the decision would be appealed.

The case was decided on a single issue—whether the land was known to be mineral-bearing when it was surveyed in 1903 prior to its being conditionally turned over by the state as school land.

The tract went into private hands when the state began selling school lands to settlers. Standard Oil bought it piece-meal from the settlers in 1909 and thereafter. The company asserted it was not until 1911 that oil was found "within many miles of section 36."

When Elk hills blossomed into a potentially rich oil field the government retained over public domain sections therein as a naval petroleum reserve, which eventually figured in the leasing scandal centering about former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall.

A. F. L. DRAFTS WAGE-HOUR BILL

Green To Offer Substitute Proposal For Administration Measure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor executive council completes drafting a new wage-hour bill proposal today which President William Green said would serve to equalize wage conditions in interstate industry between the north and south.

The bill to be offered as a substitute for the pending administration bill calls for a flat minimum of 40 cents an hour and flat maximum work week of 40 hours. Violations would be prosecuted by the justice department, punishable by a fine of $100 for each offense.

Discussing the economic effects of the federation proposal at a press conference, Green said its passage would wipe out long-standing wage differentials between the north and south.

"The south has long had the economic idea it was different from other sections of the country," he said. "Something has got to move them from that rigid position."

Senor Guerra, Passing Through By Plane, Says Japanese 'Wonderful'

Japan's war with China has had no appreciable effect on Japan's economic life other than to reflect a slight increase in the price of certain commodities, according to Senor Florencio Guerra, ex-vice diplomat of Cuba at Tokyo, who passed through Monroe last night shortly after 8 o'clock on the Delta Air corporation plane from Shreveport.

Senor Guerra, who left Tokyo November 15 on a visit to his former post and who is now en route to Havana, Cuba, with his wife and daughter, was en route to Miami, Fla., from which point he will fly to the Cuban capital. He came to Monroe from Shreveport in the cabin of the plane and he would have preferred to remain here because of the comfort and convenience afforded by air travel.

Recalled to Havana for conference with his government, Senor Guerra made it clear that his return to Cuba had no significance as far as relations between the countries and Japan were concerned, adding that those re-

GREEN HOPES FOR PEACE WITH C. I. O.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—William Green, mild-mannered president of the American Federation of Labor, said today he still nourished hopes for a labor peace with John L. Lewis' C. I. O.

Emerging from a meeting with the federation's executive council, where his futile peace negotiations with Lewis Friday night were discussed, Green said he hoped some conclusions would be reached but could not anticipate what would happen.

The Lewis-Green personal peace negotiations which broke up Friday night without agreement will be reported back to the full negotiating committees December 21.

Some authoritative labor experts trying to estimate the effect of the council meeting on the course of the Lewis-Green conversations, said they believed there was a noticeable stiffening of the federation's settlement terms.

Meanwhile both sides are going ahead with organization work.

RIVERS CONGRESS TO BE HELD EARLY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The national rivers and harbors congress announced today its annual convention would be held several months early because of the "critical situation confronting the entire national flood control, waterway and conservation program."

The meeting has been set for January 20 and 21 at Washington.

The announcement referred to pending bills to "take away from the corps of army engineers" jurisdiction over waterway and flood control and to projected sharp cuts in appropriations.

LITTLE NOBODY TURNS HEIRESS

By John Lear

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Little Miss What's-Her-Name was worth a fortune tonight.

No one knew when it happened. No one knew why. But everyone knew she once was a penniless orphan, and was now, overnight, an heiress.

Rockefeller millions lay in her lap, and the world didn't know her name.

She was the little blonde girl at the Muriel McCormick Hubbard estate, a little blonde girl too young to wonder why it should happen to her when there are thousands of orphans.

A little blonde girl—that was all people knew about her, that and the fact she was an orphan and four years old.

Still, she was the adopted great-granddaughter of the late John D. Rockefeller and a probable heiress to part of the McCormick reaper fortune as well.

Everything will not turn to gold for the little blonde girl, but most things will shine for her with a golden tint. Two things, oil and harvesters, two names, Rockefeller and McCormick, will see to that. They may even make Miss What's-Her-Name one of the richest girls in the world some day.

One of the richest girls in the world, maybe, and why?

Because her hair was blonde; or because her eyes were blue; or perhaps because a wealthy woman was lonely, and liked to give a little girl a bath.

"I have a child with me now," the widowed Mrs. Hubbard told an acquaintance who visited her secluded Lone Tree farm estate in October.

"She's four years old. We like to take care of her. I like to give her her bath."

The child may not have been the blonde four-year-old whose adoption was announced in Chicago two days ago by Mrs. Hubbard's father, Harold Fowler McCormick, the International

Mercy Ship Attacked By Jap Forces

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A British mercy ship was sprayed with bullets today while unsuccessfully attempting to evacuate nine French Canadian nuns from Japanese-occupied Tsungming island, near Shanghai.

Gunfire from an invisible source killed the steamer Sisushan's Chinese chief officer and wounded a sailor and several passengers.

The sudden attack turned back the rescue attempt led by a British consular officer, E. R. Boothby, and a French Canadian missionary, Father Adrien Sansoucy. The nine nuns have been marooned for three months on the Yangtze estuary island.

The incident came as international settlement officials attempted to keep

NEW BLOW STRUCK AT TUBERCULOSIS

Steam-Cooked Germs And Heated Horse Serum Form Safe Vaccine

By Howard W. Blakeslee
(Associated Press Science Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Cornell Medical center here today struck at tuberculosis with news of a new, safe vaccine, made of steam-cooked tuberculosis germs and heated horse serum.

This vaccine, it was announced, has been tried with favorable evidence on humans, after two years of experiments of brown Havana rabbits, in which it demonstrated definite protective powers.

The work was reported in the Journal of Experimental Medicine, Rockefeller institute publication, by Eugene L. Opie, M.D., and Jules Freund, M.D., of Cornell university

GOVERNMENT WINS BIG OIL VICTORY

Standard Oil Company Of California Loses $16,000,000 Decision

FRESNO, Calif., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The government won a $16,000,000 legal victory over the Standard Oil company of California today when Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich confirmed its title to a fabulously rich square mile of land in the Elk hills petroleum field.

Besides the land, which was valued at $10,000,000, the court ordered the company to pay the government $6,164,102.42 as damages inflicted by years of oil drilling there.

The government had asked $7,818,868.63 in addition to the title but Judge Yankwich held the company was entitled to a credit of $1,654,766.21 for paying taxes and other expenses incidental to operations.

Company officials announced the decision would be appealed.

The case was decided on a single issue—whether the land was known to be mineral-bearing when it was surveyed in 1903 prior to its being conditionally turned over by the state as school land.

The tract went into private hands when the state began selling school lands to settlers. Standard Oil bought it piece-meal from the settlers in 1909 and thereafter. The company asserted it was not until 1911 that oil was found "within many miles of section 36."

When Elk hills blossomed into a potentially rich oil field the government retained over public domain sections therein as a naval petroleum reserve, which eventually figured in the leasing scandal centering about former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall.

A. F. L. DRAFTS WAGE-HOUR BILL

Green To Offer Substitute Proposal For Administration Measure

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor executive council completed drafting a new wage-hour bill proposal today which President William Green said would serve to equalize wage conditions in interstate industry between the north and south.

The bill to be offered as a substitute for the pending administration bill, calls for a flat minimum of 40 cents an hour, and flat maximum work week of 40 hours. Violations would be prosecuted by the justice department, punishable by a fine of $100 for each offense.

Discussing the economic effects of the federation proposal at a press conference, Green said its passage would wipe out long-standing wage differentials between the north and south.

"The south has long had the economic idea it was different from other sections of the country," he said. "Something has got to move them from that rigid position."

The federation's proposal for flat

CUBA'S ENVOY TO TOKYO IN MONROE

Senor Guerra, Passing Through By Plane, Says Japanese 'Wonderful'

Japan's war with China has had no appreciable effect on Japan's economic life other than to reflect a slight increase in the price of certain commodities, according to Senor Florencio Guerra, charge d'affaires of Cuba at Tokyo, who passed through Monroe last night shortly after 8 o'clock on the Delta Air corporation plane from Shreveport.

Senor Guerra, who left Tokyo November 17 on orders from his government, and who is traveling to Havana, Cuba, with his wife and daughter, was en route to Miami, Fla., from which point he will fly to his own capital. He used the airways from San Francisco throughout his trip and said he wouldn't travel in any other way because of the comfort and convenience afforded by air travel.

Recalled to Havana for a conference with his government, Senor Guerra made it clear that his return to Cuba had no significance insofar as relations between his country and Japan were concerned, adding that those re-

Helen Keller (left), famous blind-deaf author and lecturer, stood hand-and-hand with Miss Polly Thomson in Queens supreme court in New York, when Miss Thomson, a native of Glasgow, Scotland, received her final United States citizenship papers. Secretary to Miss Keller for 23 years, she now serves as her "eyes and ears." A friend, former Municipal Justice Edward Richards, spelled into Miss Keller's hand with his fingertips a few routine questions, to which the blind woman smilingly replied. The justice then told Miss Thomson she was fortunate in having a person of such "integrity and courage" vouch for her.

The Good Fellows are on the march.

Eagerly they are responding to the call to spread Christmas cheer among the less fortunate in the community—especially among those little girls and lads who have so little and who need so much.

Just as an illustration of the response that has been awakened to the call for Good Fellows activity this Christmas, here is a letter which was circulated among the employes of the Monroe Wholesale Drug company, as a result of which $27.50 has been sent into the Good Fellows Fund:

"To My Fellow Employes: As you are aware, we are on the threshold of the Christmas season—and it is a wonderful spirit. The one regret of the writer's is that this spirit of fellowship does not exist 365 days out of the year instead of just one.

VETS WAGE WAR ON COMMUNISM

All Overseas Groups Urged To Join V. F. W. Fight Against Red Teachings

Declaring that civilization throughout the world is menaced by the objectives of communism, Commander E. H. Miller, of Rodney J. Hobbs post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Saturday issued an invitation to all overseas veterans of this community to support the group's Americanization program opposing subversive propaganda and activities.

"Communism," he declared, "is working through every phase of American life to weaken and undermine principles, ideals and institutions of our form of government. Communists frankly admit six major objectives, which are the abolition of government, abolition of patriotism, abolition of inheritance, abolition of private property, abolition of religion and of family relations. Add these up, he said, and they amount to the complete destruction of democracy and the substitution of a powerful, selfish, oppressive, inhuman dictatorship for democracy and the substitution of a powerful, selfish, oppressive, inhuman dictatorship of the world; ruthlessly crushing all opposition to its mandates.

"The Veterans of Foreign Wars is a logical group to lead opposition to communism, because its membership is composed exclusively of men who have served under America's flag in wars and armed expeditions. Men who have risked their lives for this country, cannot stand by and see its security and welfare endangered by invading forces of communism," he said.

"In the V. F. W. program of Americanism, by which we mean the welfare of this country, and its people as a whole, eligible overseas veterans find a cause as worthy and imperative as that which put them in uniform in 1917 and 1918," the commander said.

The so-called "3R Roundup" was explained as a nation-wide membership campaign by which the V. F. W. is seeking a country-wide membership of at least 500,000 primarily for the support of the organization's program, including opposition to communism and other alien theories of government. The program would keep America out of war, secure adequate benefits for widows, orphans and dependents of overseas veterans, and jobs or pensions for veterans as a whole.

A. B. CALHOUN, JR., NAMED GAME WARDEN

Information was received in Monroe Saturday that A. B. Calhoun, Jr., has been appointed temporarily as deputy game warden, succeeding his uncle, the late Carey M. Calhoun, who died recently.

The position of game preservation officer is filled by appointment by the governor, remuneration coming from the state and the police jury.

The appointment of the nephew of the late Mr. Calhoun to succeed him has particular significance in that the elder man was devoted to planning an extension to the 118,000-acre Terzia game preserve in Morehouse and Union parishes. He had just returned from a special trip from Baton Rouge in behalf of the preserve when his death occurred.

Friends of the late official expressed pleasure at the announcement of the appointment Saturday.

FOR 1938
FORD OFFERS TWO NEW CARS and keeps their PRICES LOW

Right, the Standard Tudor Sedan 60 or 85 horsepower
Below, the De Luxe Fordor Sedan 85 horsepower

THERE are two new Ford cars for 1938 — the De Luxe and the Standard — differing in appearance, appointments and price — but built on the same dependable Ford chassis.

Both bring you the basic advantages of a V-type 8-cylinder power-plant. The De Luxe Ford has the 85-horsepower engine. The Standard Ford provides a choice of 85 or 60 horsepower engines.

STEP UP TO THE V-8 CLASS

V-type 8-cylinder engines were used only in expensive cars before Ford made them available in The Universal Car. Eight cylinders give great smoothness and flexibility. Compact V-type construction leaves more room for passengers and luggage.

Both new cars are economical to operate. The Standard, with thrifty "60" engine, costs less to run than any other Ford car ever built. And both new cars are priced low. Low price, like economy, is a Ford tradition. Ford founded the low-price field 30 years ago and keeps Ford prices low today.

The De Luxe Ford costs slightly more than the Standard Ford, but provides more style with extra room in the sedan bodies. Both cars, in proportion to price, represent unusual values. Both are built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence. Both bring you comfort and pride of ownership.

BUILDING ON 1937 SUCCESS

More people bought the 1937 Ford V-8 than any other 1937 make. It was a good car. But these are better cars, because Ford improvement goes on constantly. You'll realize that when you see and drive either 1938 Ford V-8.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

FOR 1938
FORD OFFERS TWO NEW CARS and keeps their PRICES LOW

Right, the Standard Tudor Sedan 60 or 85 horsepower
Below, the De Luxe Fordor Sedan 85 horsepower

THERE are two new Ford cars for 1938 — the De Luxe and the Standard — differing in appearance, appointments and price — but built on the same dependable Ford chassis.

Both bring you the basic advantages of a V-type 8-cylinder power-plant. The De Luxe Ford has the 85-horsepower engine. The Standard Ford provides a choice of 85 or 60 horsepower engines.

STEP UP TO THE V-8 CLASS

V-type 8-cylinder engines were used only in expensive cars before Ford made them available in The Universal Car. Eight cylinders give great smoothness and flexibility. Compact V-type construction leaves more room for passengers and luggage.

Both new cars are economical to operate. The Standard, with thrifty "60" engine, costs less to run than any other Ford car ever built. And both new cars are priced low. Low price, like economy, is a Ford tradition. Ford founded the low-price field 30 years ago and keeps Ford prices low today.

The De Luxe Ford costs slightly more than the Standard Ford, but provides more style with extra room in the sedan bodies. Both cars, in proportion to price, represent unusual values. Both are built to the same high standard of mechanical excellence. Both bring you comfort and pride of ownership.

BUILDING ON 1937 SUCCESS

More people bought the 1937 Ford V-8 than any other 1937 make. It was a good car. But these are better cars, because Ford improvement goes on constantly. You'll realize that when you see and drive either 1938 Ford V-8.

PRICES FOR CARS DELIVERED IN DETROIT—TAXES EXTRA

Standard Ford V-8 (60 hp.) — Coupe, $599; Tudor Sedan, $644; Fordor Sedan, $689. Standard Ford V-8 (85 hp.) — Coupe, $629; Tudor Sedan, $669; Fordor Sedan, $714.

De Luxe Ford V-8 (85 hp. only) — Coupe, $689; Tudor Sedan, $729; Fordor Sedan, $774; Convertible Coupe, $774; Club Coupe, $749; Convertible Club Coupe, $804; Phaeton, $824; Convertible Sedan, $904.

Both Standard and De Luxe cars come equipped with front and rear bumpers and bumper guards, spare wheel, tire and tube, tire lock and band, cigar lighter, twin horns, and headlight beam indicator on instrument panel, at no extra charge.

In addition, De Luxe cars are equipped with an extra tail light, windshield wiper, sun visor; also de luxe steering wheel, glove compartment lock and clock, and chrome wheel bands, at no extra charge.

STEWART REVIEWS RAILWAY HISTORY

Official Tells Booster Club Of Events Leading To Missouri-Pacific

A. T. Stewart, of St. Louis, Mo., assistant general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the road's booster club held at the clubhouse Friday night. His address dealt with the early history of the road.

In early life, he said, he watched the construction of the railroad through his home town of Independence, Kans., then little thinking that this road would play an important part in his life.

The Missouri Pacific railroad has much of which it can be justly proud, he said. One of the things lies in the fact that it was the first railroad to be constructed west of the Mississippi river. He said that in 1849 the gold rush to California gave impetus to all kinds of construction and development and that this road owes its origin to that era. In 1849, he said, a convention was called to meet in St. Louis to consider the building of a railroad from St. Louis to the Pacific. Twelve states were represented in the attendance at the meeting. At that time, St. Louis had no railroad at all within its limits. On July 4, 1851, the first dirt was turned for the railroad and a big jubilation resulted. The spot where the start was made is on or near the site of the present union station in St. Louis. In order to complete the celebration a well was cleaned out and filled with punch for the regaling of the throng present.

The line first was built to Jefferson City, Mo. Then the Civil war came and all activity ceased in the construction line.

Ultimately the road was constructed to Kansas City and still later to Pueblo, Col.

The speaker cited the construction of the Iron Mountain and its later absorption by the Missouri Pacific. In order for the Iron Mountain road to be built past Jefferson Barracks, Mo., governmental consent which was required was obtained, but only with the specification that when trains passed this point, that no engines be used, and that the train be drawn by horses past the explosive barracks. This ruling however was never enforced, the speaker said, and is today highly amusing when it is discovered in musty railroad documents.

The speaker cited this case as an example illustrating how little was then known of railroading and its future. He said that "We today know only a little of what science and invention may have in store for us in the near future. He cited the radio and said that Moses and Noah could have had radio service had they been familiar with certain natural laws. Also he stated that radio has demonstrated that no sound is lost. That it goes on and on unceasingly. Thus, he said, Jesus' words put in motion 1,900 years ago are still in the air and that we may be able through science to bring them down to earth and hear them again.

In closing, the speaker said that 90 per cent of a railroad's assets lie in the loyal and capable attitude of its employes. The other 10 per cent is found, he said, in the physical equipment of the road.

In the wheat fields of Kansas, he stated, there occurs now and then a crop of volunteer wheat. It comes up without planting and is in some respects superior to the regularly-planted crop. So he said, groups of railroad men and women, bound together to offer volunteer service, that for which no pay is received, are the backbone of the railroad and count for perhaps more than all else in the making of a success of a great railroad like the Missouri Pacific.

E. C. Gibson, chairman of the 1937 Christmas seal program of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association, made an appeal for support of the plan in that all letters and packages sent out should bear the double-barred Red Cross.

J. S. Bassett, superintendent of the road's lines here, discussed proposed railroad rate advances which he said were necessary to maintain high standards and progress of the country's roads.

Community singing was led by Mrs. George Moffett, director of music in the Ouachita Parish High school, with Mrs. Charles Gaushell as pianist.

Invocation was by Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, pastor of the West Monroe First Baptist church.

Members of the Ouachita Parish High school Glee club gave several well received selections; while a musical quartet, directed by Charles Gaushell, pleased with several numbers.

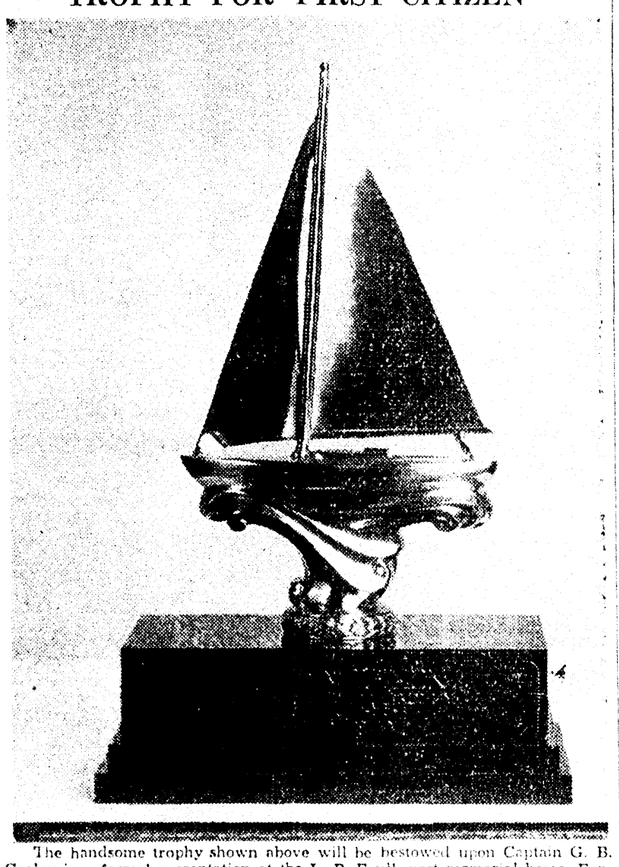

A tap dance by Alice Euson and Johnnye Horton, with Irvie Lee Humble at the piano.

Miss Eloise Crumpler, of Alexandria, presented a solo with Mrs. Charles Gaushell at the piano. Plantation melodies with variations by Mrs. I. H. Harper ended the formal program.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed at the close of the evening. Music for the social hour was provided by Horace Atkin's eight-piece orchestra.

On the average, screen stars have a shorter "life" than those who make a success on the stage.

TROPHY FOR 'FIRST CITIZEN'

The handsome trophy shown above will be bestowed upon Captain G. B. Cooley in a formal presentation at the L. B. Faulk post-memorial home, Forsythe park, Monday at 8 p.m. The public is invited. The presentation is to be made as a result of a ballot taken by a secret legion committee which decided that the captain, through his work in establishing the new tuberculosis hospital and other activities of like nature, is entitled to be ranked as "first citizen" for the year 1937 of Monroe and West Monroe.

You May Do As You Please

The desire to be his own boss burns deep in the breast of nearly every human being. And there is no sound reason why every person should not be his own boss.

Of what does being one's own boss consist? It consists of doing as one pleases. And why shouldn't one do as one pleases? There is only one reason why not—because one may please to do that which he should not do. In other words, everyone has the right to do what he pleases, if he pleases to do right. Therefore, if one pleases to do what he should do, he can do as he pleases.

If an employe wishes to have his own way about coming to work and quitting work, he can have that way if he will choose the right way; if his employer says, "Our hours are from nine to five," then it is the duty of the employe to choose to be on duty at nine and stay until five. If he chooses to observe those hours then he has his own way.

If a boy wishes to have his own way about going to school, let him adopt the plan worked out by older heads after centuries of experimentation; let him make it his plan; then he can do as he pleases about going to school, for he will please to go.

If a motorist wishes to do as he pleases about the speed he travels and the precautions he follows, let him study and make his own the traffic rules which by sad and tragic experience have been found necessary to protect life and limb.

If any person chooses to go through life independent of all restraint, let him ponder the advice, rules and laws of social and moral conduct which the ages have proved to be necessary to human welfare. Let him make these advices, rules and laws his own; then he can do exactly as he pleases when and where he pleases.

The reason human beings are restricted and restrained is that they cannot be trusted free of restrictions and restraints.

Summed up, choose to follow the course you should follow, observe the rules you should observe, obey the laws you should obey, and you may go and come as you please and do as you please.

ALIMONY ABSURDITY

It is a little bit hard to work up a whole lot of sympathy or indignation over the lot of either party to a divorce suit, because the troubles which arise in divorce court are troubles which people bring on themselves. Nevertheless, the matter of alimony does occasionally call for a little straightforward denouncing.

In Connecticut, for instance, a lady who is suing for divorce demands alimony of $1,000 a month pending trial of the suit. Her husband objects, saying that her income is $45,000 a year and that she does not need the alimony. She replies that he is mistaken; last year her income was a scant $30,000.

A case like that makes one wonder why we continue to put up with the institution of alimony at all, except in cases where there are small children to support. For this seems to be the reductio ad absurdum of the idea that an able-bodied woman is entitled to fat sums from a man simply because she once accorded him the privilege of supporting her.

THE OLD HELPS THE NEW

It is interesting to see how very old and very new methods of ocean travel are joining hands in Pan-American Airways' venture in the Pacific.

Pan-American has reconditioned an old four-masted schooner to carry supplies to various island bases. Although equipped with auxiliary Diesel engines, this ship depends on the wind for most of her motive power; her officers thus hark back to old clipper ship days, when a ship captain spent much of his time studying upper air currents and trying to forecast the weather on which the speed of his voyage depended.

Which, in a way, is precisely what the pilots of Pan-American's planes have to do. Like the old-timers, they have to watch the weather far more closely than do steamship skippers; and it is somehow fitting that Pan-American should be using an old-time windjammer, which follows the same rules, as an auxiliary surface ship.

TRAGIC FANTASY

A report from Moscow by way of London tells of the execution of Anatole Tupolev, designer of Sigismund Levanevsky's polar airplane. The execution is explained by the assumption that the design of the plane was faulty, causing the failure of the flight over the pole.

This is a far-fetched conclusion, especially in view of the fact that there never has been any official determination of the cause of the accident. However, this reason will serve as well as any other for the continuance of Moscow's policy of terrorism through the medium of wholesale liquidation.

Sound philosophy is only the realization that everybody's lot in life grows about the same quantity of weeds.

DREAM SHIP

I would not recognize the ship
That sailed away when I was young.
I watched it go, with eager lip,
A thousand wishes on my tongue.

But I was far too ignorant
Of what the coming years might hold!
Does a child know what he may want
When years go by, and he is old?

So if my ship should reach at last
The harbor of imaginings,
My wishes of the happy past
Would weight it down with foolish things!

God's wisdom shaped a better hull.
He gave my dream a new design.
His choice of something beautiful
Was more significant than mine!

AN 'IMPOSSIBLE' CURE

By BRUCE CATTON

If you sit back and look at the autumn of 1937 through half-closed eyes, you are apt to get the haunting and melancholy impression that you have seen the whole show before.

There was a busy summer, with bumper crops and plenty of jobs; there was a stock market smashup, with soothsayers of high and low degree hastening to announce that falling security prices didn't really mean anything; then came a sharp business recession, layoffs in the factories, demands for farm relief at Washington, and solemn promises from the government that the decline would not be permitted to become serious . . . surely, you saw all of that before, somewhere?

To be sure: in 1929. How it all comes back to one! How familiar it all is—and how ominous the parallel begins to look, when one remembers what 1929 led up to.

So the country approaches the end of the year in a state of anxious expectancy, wondering whether the old business cycle is going to have its way under new deal as under old. Are we, after all, helpless? Is there nothing we can do but take it, decade after decade?

As of today there doesn't seem to be much reason for optimism. And yet—well, somehow, it is a little comforting to notice a quotation from a letter written by Andrew Carnegie in 1905. This question, reprinted in the Industrial Bulletin circulated by Arthur D. Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., goes as follows:

"We are greatly pleased with our new Winton. From the very start it has done its work and never failed us. There may be improvements yet to come, even in such autos, but it is difficult to see much room for them."

Mr. Carnegie wrote that away back in the pleistocene age of automotive development. The motorist then started his engine with the crank, straining his back and risking a fractured wrist. He did not dream of driving in winter; with his inefficient brakes his car was apt enough to skid on dry pavement, and besides there was no way of cleaning snow or ice off the windshield. A cross-country drive of a hundred miles was a miracle if it did not include at least one breakdown and two flat tires. Forty miles an hour was a dizzy speed indeed, and a car even moderately comfortable or controlable in the rain was unheard of.

Yet Andrew Carnegie, who could peer as far ahead into the industrial age as the next man, could not conceive that the car of 1905 could ever be improved materially.

What has that to do with the business cycle, depressions, and so on? Nothing, perhaps; but it does indicate that we make the most amazing and unexpected kind of progress, and that the very best effort of one generation it utterly outclassed by the next.

Getting control of the business cycle should not be more of a job than improving the auto of 1905 into the auto of 1937. The brains that did the one job are most certainly equal to the other.

A BOOK REVIEW

'THIS IS MY STORY'—TOLD BY FIRST LADY

Eleanor Roosevelt gave her country something of a shock five years ago by demonstrating that the president's wife could be a person in her own right and could go on living her own life despite the fact that her home happened to be in the White House.

The country looked on in a daze for a little while, and then settled back and decided that Mrs. Roosevelt was an interesting and a stimulating woman who was worth watching.

If you happened to join in that verdict, you will want to know about Mrs. Roosevelt's new book, "This Is My Story."

The book is just what you might expect. Mrs. Roosevelt gives away no state secrets and is discretion's own self when it comes to talking about politicians and statecraft; but she is remarkably frank about everything else, and is engagingly and unassumingly candid in speaking of herself.

She says bluntly that she was something of an ugly duckling as a child, and she lets one see that she had a slightly unhappy and rather ill-guided childhood. She confesses that she was unprepared for marriage and says that when she set up housekeeping she had practically none of the housewifely accomplishments.

Her wedding, by the way, was singular. T. R. came down to give the bride away, and stole the show; bride and groom found themselves deserted right after the ceremony, with everyone gathered around the president listening to him tell stories.

Mrs. Roosevelt carries her story down to 1924, and hints at a second volume to follow. I hope it is soon forthcoming; if this book is any criterion, it will be a volume well worth waiting for.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

There passed from the mortal scene recently one of the kindliest and most talented ladies I have ever known. In private life she was Mrs. Aubrey L. Eads. To the world she was Peggy Hoyt, designer of millinery and gowns for perhaps the smartest clientele in America.

With her husband as business manager, she was the head of the establishment bearing her name and occupying the old Philip Rhinelander mansion in East 55th street. Mr. Eads helped her found the business and will continue it.

Born in a Michigan city—Saginaw as I recall—she began first to express her talents in dressing dolls. Later she came to New York, opened a little hat shop high in an office building, and from that built up the great establishment that bore her name.

Her styles were known not only in America, but were frequently copied even in Paris. But it was her character that endeared her so staunchly to her wide circle of friends. She is the only person I have actually known of whom it might be said she never spoke an unkind word of another.

That was her record among her friends and to which her husband and mother will attest. Yet she was not a Pollyanna, but a likeable, easy-going person, fitting into any company. As a stylist, she was frequently in the night clubs, the smart cafes and at opening nights. Yet somehow she never seemed a part of them. Her spirituality showed through.

She never drank, smoked or indulged in some of the brassier gestures of those with whom she was often cast. But she never gave the feeling of superiority because of the simple fact all her graciousness was natural. It is a notable heritage to have left to those whom she loved. Of no person did she ever speak an unkind word!

Art note: Helen Menken, who has been playing dramatic roles over the radio, works up to her emoting by attending a tear-jerking movie or reading some poem of sorrow just before broadcasting.

From a reliable source I hear one of the wealthier men about town who entertains frequently for lunch, dinner and Sunday breakfasts not only in his private mansion but in public cafes, has restaurant bills monthly that frequently total $3,000. Diamond Jim's after-theater accounts at places like Bustanoby's and Delmonico's were often $1,000 a month.

The Ouija board is having a sharp revival. They have almost professional performers who work together. But the answers are still the same: "Tell mother I'm happy and not to worry," and "You are doing quite right, go ahead."

To my notion, Upper Riverside drive, say from 100th street to the Washington bridge, is the most neighborly stretch of Manhattan. In seasonable weather it moves over to the grassy spaces near the stone wall overlooking the ever-sparkling Hudson.

There is much of the close-knit camaraderie of the small towns about them. Fathers sit in their little groups, on benches puffing pipes and discussing the why of politics and things. And mothers knit or embroider as they swap conversation.

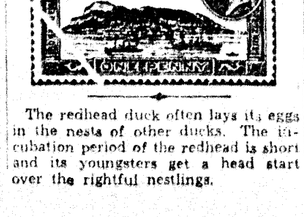

At the parapet always are the young lovers, standing close, whispering and dreaming. In the background, the Jersey hills and the river winding below. Also strollers along the circle of walks that lead down to the river edge and its tranquility.

The play of children here seems heartier, too. Far more so than along the Mall in Central Park. Winter, of course, tends to drive the upper drive folk indoors, but not so much as in other sections. There are always the well-bundled, refusing to desert the benches.

In my years of watching the New York gayer side, I don't recall anyone who so quickly dropped out of things as the diminutive A. C. Blumenthal. There was a time when he was seen everywhere, always entertaining a sizeable group of so-called celebrities. His parties were quite the talk and it was agreed that Blumey knew how to do things up brown—especially was this true in the days of Sid Solomon's casino. But all of a sudden Blumey was seen no more. Of course, he is on the west coast a lot, but even when in town he usually dines alone in some rather obscure eating place or in his hotel suite. One imagines somehow that he just became fed up.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

THE staunch and ancient rock, Gibraltar, which the English won permanently from Spain in 1779-83, shadows the Mediterranean with a new significance these days as the guardian of Britain's famous "lifeline" to the Far East.

That "lifeline," via the Mediterranean, the Suez Canal, the Red Sea, and finally the Indian ocean, faced grave threats during the World War. With Europe and Asia once more seething in discord, it is threatened again, and so Gibraltar stands ready for the first test.

Renowned in ancient days for its collossal Pillars of Hercules, modern Gibraltar is a vast fortified rock, two and one-half miles long and varying from 1550 to 550 yards wide. At its north front it shoots abruptly upward to form a precipice of about 1400 feet. The town of Gibraltar lies crowded together at the northwestern corner of the rock. The entire area is a crown colony.

Since it commands the western entrance to the Mediterranean, Gibraltar is heavily fortified. Many great guns line the crest of the rock itself. New dockyards can now undertake all the ordinary repairs and coaling of a large fleet. There is space in its enclosed harbor for an entire fleet, absolutely secure from torpedo attacks. The harbor covers 440 acres. Radio signal stations add to Gibraltar's strategic importance. The rock is shown on a 1931 stamp of the crown colony.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

When syphilis gets into the spinal system it produces serious changes which make up altogether a collection of disturbances called locomotor ataxia and known scientifically as tabes dorsalis.

Usually five to 15 years after the person has first been infected and has been without adequate treatment for syphilis these symptoms begin to appear. Occasionally they occur much sooner. There are many instances in which people have been infected with syphilis and have not later developed this condition.

Because the disease changes tissues in the spine, the reflexes (particularly the knee jerks) disappear and there are changes in the pupils of the eye. It is customary for doctors in examining people suspected of having this condition to test the reaction of the eye to light and to distance.

In the typical case of locomotor ataxia, the eye will react to looking at a distance and then at a near object with an opening and closing of the pupil, but it will not react to light and dark. Occasionally also the pupils will be irregular and will be very slow to react.

There may be secondary changes, including disturbances of the nerves which control the ears and the eyes and sometimes there are serious knife-like pains in the stomach, the legs or the face.

Associated with these attacks are abnormal changes in the sense of cold, warmth, numbness. Sometimes there is a feeling of tingling or of bugs running on the skin.

One of the most serious symptoms of locomotor ataxia is the inability to co-ordinate actions correctly. For example, the person may be unable to touch the tip of his nose with his finger.

His legs get out of order so that he finds it hard at first to walk in the dark. From a slight unsteadiness in the early stages, there is a gradual change in the gait of the person with locomotor ataxia. In the late stages the foot seems to be thrown up and then brought down unsteadily as if it is being slapped on the floor.

The sudden attack of pain in the internal organs is generally so severe that these cases used to be mistaken for conditions like appendicitis or inflammation of the intestines but by the Wassermann test and similar methods, it is possible to determine that syphilis is present.

CALHOUN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS IN BROADCAST

The Northeast Center broadcast by remote control from station KMLB, the past week, was given by students and faculty members of Calhoun High school.

A unique number was presented by the second grade rhythm band, directed by Mrs. C. Z. Roberts. This feature consisted of "Playing in the Band," a folk song, "America," and "Minuet in C," from Beethoven. This was the first musical performance of this type given this semester in the series of weekly broadcasts.

The fifth and seventh grade harmonica band, directed by Mrs. Frances Manning, played effectively "The Goldfinch," from Brahms; "Winds of Evening," by Underhill; "Are You Sleeping?" French Round, and "America."

Two vocal numbers, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," by Fenne and "Marianna," Italian folk song by Loomis, were rendered by the high school mixed chorus with Miss Doris Pipes accompanying at the piano.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—By no stretch of imagination could this period be called an "era of good feeling" in Washington and the chances are that greater bitterness lies in the month ahead.

In few sessions of congress have so many names been called during the first couple of weeks. Most of these names are being called behind people's backs and sometimes they're only muttered, but they're dirty ones and seem more and more likely to be hurled around openly.

The depression seems to breed exasperation on Capitol Hill, perhaps because no one knows what to do about it. Members find themselves able to get unusually nasty over a farm or wage-hour bill and of course the anti-lynching bill, which always produces hotter, meaner interchanges of personal scorn than any other, has been under debate in the senate.

Assistant Whip Cracks

When "the senator from New York" was being accused of prompting the anti-lynching bill as a vote-getting expedition into the Harlem "black belt," Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York arose to point out that the junior senator from New York, Robert F. Wagner, and not Copeland, was meant.

"The senior senator from New York has already been on a vote-getting expedition," pointed out Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana in what was an especially mean dig, considering the walloping which Copeland took in both the Republican and Democratic mayoralty primaries in New York.

But the really extraordinary thing about Minton's crack is to be found in the fact that Minton is the senate's assistant Democratic whip. Actually he is the real whip, since the title of whip is held by the venerable J. Ham Lewis of Illinois.

One of a whip's jobs—or an assistant whip's—is to go around trying to make everybody happy and one of the ways not to make Senator Copeland happy is to remind him of those primaries. Of course Senator Copeland doesn't make Senator Minton happy, since he is a violently anti-New Deal Democrat. Just the same, a whip is a whip.

Cherry Tree 'Razz'

One hates to see the ladies of congress mixing into anything that suggests a personal squabble, since it is always to be hoped that they will be angels of sweetness and light in a sordid political world. There have been physical encounters between members—and many threats of them—but a hair-pulling match between two congresswomen is almost unimaginable.

There was much suppressed excitement when Senator Dixie Graves of Alabama jumped into the anti-lynching debate, because of the rough fighting that had been going on there, but Mrs. Graves used no fighting words and her delivery was so good that many listeners commented on it.

Nevertheless, it does seem to be too bad about Congresswoman Virginia E. Jenckes of Indiana and Congresswoman Nan Lee Honeyman of Oregon. Mrs. Honeyman seems to stand guilty of giving Mrs. Jenckes and one of her pet ideas the razz.

Congresswoman Jenckes has just started a one-woman campaign for uprooting the famous Japanese cherry trees around Washington's Tidal Basin and burning them up as firewood. Mrs. Jenckes doesn't think much of Japan.

But Congresswoman Honeyman, who lives much nearer Japan than Mrs. Jenckes, seemed to just about put the kibosh on her Indiana sister's idea when asked for comment. She said tearing up those cherry trees would be just like slashing an old painting by one of the Italian masters just because of a dislike of Mussolini.

Exit 'Senatorial Courtesy'

"Senatorial courtesy" isn't the grand old institution it was before the Black-Klan incident. The notion that any senator or ex-senator is good enough for any job, without question, has dropped out the window.

BYRON GRIGSBY NAMED PING PONG CHAMPION

In the final playoff at the municipal recreation center Saturday, Byron Grigsby won over Billy Bowen and thereby became the ping pong champion of Monroe, it was announced by Miss Lucyle Godwin, recreation director. The contest was won after a exciting and hard fought race she said.

The recreation center is one of the most popular places in Monroe these days, Miss Godwin said. Saturday morning there were more than 1 children there, engaged in playing games, reading papers, books and other enterprises.

Games that were in progress included parlor tennis, badminton, ping pong, shuffle board, volley ball, checkers, and similar contests. The center is well supplied with games and material to absorb the attention of boys and girls who find great enjoyment in spending their idle hours there amid wholesome surroundings, the director said.

KIWANIS CLUB SHOW PROVES BIG SUCCESS

"The Rodeo of Entertainment," presented by the West Monroe Kiwanis club at Crosley school auditorium Friday night, proved an outstanding success, despite the fact that the crowd was not so large because of inclement weather.

Mrs. King Hunt, as director of the night's performance, accredited herself well, and there was not a dull moment from start to finish.

Hugh Wallace, member of the Monroe Kiwanis club, served in a highly satisfactory manner as master of ceremonies, keeping the crowd in merriment with his witticisms.

The Brown Paper Mill harmony band was one of the outstanding features of the occasion and delighted with numerous selections.

During the evening every member of the Kiwanis club participated in the program.

So the country approaches the end of the year in a state of anxious expectancy, wondering whether the old business cycle is going to have its way under new deal as under old. Are we, after all, helpless? Is there nothing we can do but take it, decade after decade?

As of today there doesn't seem to be much reason for optimism. And yet—well, somehow, it is a little comforting to notice a quotation from a letter written by Andrew Carnegie in 1905. This question, reprinted in the Industrial Bulletin circulated by Arthur D. Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., goes as follows:

"We are greatly pleased with our new Winton. From the very start it has done its work and never failed us. There may be improvements yet to come, even in such autos, but it is difficult to see much room for them."

Mr. Carnegie wrote that away back in the pleistocene age of automotive development. The motorist then started his engine with the crank, straining his back and risking a fractured wrist. He did not dream of driving in winter; with his inefficient brakes his car was apt enough to skid on dry pavement, and besides there was no way of cleaning snow or ice off the windshield. A cross-country drive of a hundred miles was a miracle if it did not include at least one breakdown and two flat tires. Forty miles an hour was a dizzy speed indeed, and a car even moderately comfortable or controlable in the rain was unheard of.

Yet Andrew Carnegie, who could peer as far ahead into the industrial age as the next man, could not conceive that the car of 1905 could ever be improved materially.

What has that to do with the business cycle, depressions, and so on? Nothing, perhaps; but it does indicate that we make the most amazing and unexpected kind of progress, and that the very best effort of one generation it utterly outclassed by the next.

Getting control of the business cycle should not be more of a job than improving the auto of 1905 into the auto of 1937. The brains that did the one job are most certainly equal to the other.

A BOOK REVIEW

'THIS IS MY STORY'—TOLD BY FIRST LADY

Eleanor Roosevelt gave her country something of a shock five years ago by demonstrating that the president's wife could be a person in her own right and could go on living her own life despite the fact that her home happened to be in the White House.

The country looked on in a daze for a little while, and then settled back and decided that Mrs. Roosevelt was an interesting and a stimulating woman who was worth watching.

If you happened to join in that verdict, you will want to know about Mrs. Roosevelt's new book, "This Is My Story."

The book is just what you might expect. Mrs. Roosevelt gives away no state secrets and is discretion's own self when it comes to talking about politicians and statecraft; but she is remarkably frank about everything else, and is engagingly and unassumingly candid in speaking of herself.

She says bluntly that she was something of an ugly duckling as a child, and she lets one see that she had a slightly unhappy and rather ill-guided childhood. She confesses that she was unprepared for marriage and says that when she set up housekeeping she had practically none of the housewifely accomplishments.

Her wedding, by the way, was singular. T. R. came down to give the bride away, and stole the show; bride and groom found themselves deserted right after the ceremony, with everyone gathered around the president listening to him tell stories.

Mrs. Roosevelt carries her story down to 1924, and hints at a second volume to follow. I hope it is soon forthcoming; if this book is any criterion, it will be a volume well worth waiting for.

MOHAMMED GOES TO THE MOUNTAIN

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

There passed from the mortal scene recently one of the kindliest and most talented ladies I have ever known. In private life she was Mrs. Aubrey L. Eads. To the world she was Peggy Hoyt, designer of millinery and gowns for perhaps the smartest clientele in America.

With her husband as business manager, she was the head of the establishment bearing her name and occupying the old Philip Rhinelander mansion in East 55th street. Mr. Eads helped her found the business and will continue it.

Born in a Michigan city—Saginaw as I recall—she began first to express her talents in dressing dolls. Later she came to New York, opened a little hat shop high in an office building, and from that built up the great establishment that bore her name.

Her styles were known not only in America, but were frequently copied even in Paris. But it was her character that endeared her so staunchly to her wide circle of friends. She is the only person I have actually known of whom it might be said she never spoke an unkind word of another.

That was her record among her friends and to which her husband and mother will attest. Yet she was not a Pollyanna, but a likeable, easy-going person, fitting into any company. As a stylist, she was frequently in the night clubs, the smart cafes and at opening nights. Yet somehow she never seemed a part of them. Her spirituality showed through.

She never drank, smoked or indulged in some of the brassier gestures of those with whom she was often cast. But she never gave the feeling of superiority because of the simple fact all her graciousness was natural. It is a notable heritage to have left to those whom she loved—Of no person did she ever speak an unkind word!

Art note: Helen Menken, who has been playing dramatic roles over the radio, works up to her emoting by attending a tear-jerking movie or reading some poem of sorrow just before broadcasting.

From a reliable source I hear one of the wealthier men about town who entertains frequently for lunch, dinner and Sunday breakfasts not only in his private mansion but in public cafes, has restaurant bills monthly that frequently total $3,000. Diamond Jim's after-theater accounts at places like Bustanoby's and Delmonico's were often $1,000 a month.

The Ouija board is having a sharp revival. They have almost professional performers who work together. But the answers are still the same: "Tell mother I'm happy and not to worry," and "You are doing quite right, go ahead."

To my notion, Upper Riverside drive, say from 100th street to the Washington bridge, is the most neighborly stretch of Manhattan. In seasonable weather it moves over to the grassy spaces near the stone wall overlooking the ever-sparkling Hudson.

There is much of the close-knit camaraderie of the small towns about them. Fathers sit in their little groups, on benches puffing pipes and discussing the why of politics and things. And mothers knit or embroider as they swap conversation.

At the parapet always are the young lovers, standing close, whispering and dreaming. In the background, the Jersey hills and the river winding below. Also strollers along the circle of walks that lead down to the river edge and its tranquility.

The play of children here seems heartier, too. Far more so than along the Mall in Central Park. Winter, of course, tends to drive the upper drive folk indoors, but not so much as in other sections. There are always the well-bundled, refusing to desert the benches.

In my years of watching the New York gayer side, I don't recall anyone who so quickly dropped out of things as the diminutive A. C. Blumenthal. There was a time when he was seen everywhere, always entertaining a sizeable group of so-called celebrities. His parties were quite the talk and it was agreed that Blumey knew how to do things up brown—especially was this true in the days of Sid Solomon's casino. But all of a sudden Blumey was seen no more. Of course, he is on the west coast a lot, but even when in town he usually dines alone in some rather obscure eating place or in his hotel suite. One imagines somehow that he just became fed up.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

THE staunch and ancient rock, Gibraltar, which the English won permanently from Spain in 1779-83, shadows the Mediterranean with a new significance these days as the guardian of Britain's famous "lifeline" to the Far East.

That "lifeline," via the Mediterranean, the Suez Canal, the Red Sea, and finally the Indian ocean, faced grave threats during the World War. With Europe and Asia once more seething in discord, it is threatened again, and so Gibraltar stands ready for the first test.

Renowned in ancient days for its collossal Pillars of Hercules, modern Gibraltar is a vast fortified rock, two and one-half miles long and varying from 1550 to 550 yards wide. At its north front it shoots abruptly upward to form a precipice of about 1400 feet. The town of Gibraltar lies crowded together at the northwestern corner of the rock. The entire area is a crown colony.

Since it commands the western entrance to the Mediterranean, Gibraltar is heavily fortified. Many great guns line the crest of the rock itself. New dockyards can now undertake all the ordinary repairs and coaling of a large fleet. There is space in its enclosed harbor for an entire fleet, absolutely secure from torpedo attacks. The harbor covers 440 acres. Radio signal stations add to Gibraltar's strategic importance. The rock is shown on a 1931 stamp of the crown colony.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

When syphilis gets into the spinal system it produces serious changes which make up altogether a collection of disturbances called locomotor ataxia and known scientifically as tabes dorsalis.

Usually five to 15 years after the person has first been infected and has been without adequate treatment for syphilis, these symptoms begin to appear. Occasionally they occur much sooner. There are many instances in which people have been infected with syphilis and have not later developed this condition.

Because the disease changes tissues in the spine, the reflexes (particularly the knee jerks) disappear and there are changes in the pupils of the eye. It is customary for doctors in examining people suspected of having this condition to test the reaction of the eye to light and to distance.

In the typical case of locomotor ataxia, the eye will react to looking at a distance and then at a near object with an opening and closing of the pupil, but it will not react to light and dark. Occasionally also the pupils will be irregular and will be very slow to react.

There may be secondary changes, including disturbances of the nerves which control the ears and the eyes and sometimes there are serious knife-like pains in the stomach, the legs or the face.

Associated with these attacks are abnormal changes in the sense of cold, warmth, numbness. Sometimes there is a feeling of tingling or of bugs running on the skin.

One of the most serious symptoms of locomotor ataxia is the inability to co-ordinate actions correctly. For example, the person may be unable to touch the tip of his nose with his finger.

His legs get out of order so that he finds it hard at first to walk in the dark. From a slight unsteadiness in the early stages, there is a gradual change in the gait of the person with locomotor ataxia. In the late stages the foot seems to be thrown up and then brought down unsteadily as if it is being slapped on the floor.

The sudden attack of pain in the internal organs is generally so severe that these cases used to be mistaken for conditions like appendicitis or inflammation of the intestines but by the Wassermann test and similar methods, it is possible to determine that syphilis is present.

CALHOUN HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS IN BROADCAST

The Northeast Center broadcast by remote control from station KMLB, the past week, was given by students and faculty members of Calhoun High school.

A unique number was presented by the second grade rhythm band, directed by Mrs. C. Z. Roberts. This feature consisted of "Playing in the Band," a folk song, "America," and "Minuet in C," from Beethoven. This was the first musical performance of this type given this semester in the series of weekly broadcasts.

The fifth and seventh grade harmonica band, directed by Mrs. Frances Manning, played effectively: "The Goldfinch," from Brahms; "Winds of Evening," by Underhill; "Are You Sleeping?" French Round, and "America."

Two vocal numbers, "Prayer of Thanksgiving," by Fenne and "Marianna," Italian folk song by Loomis, were rendered by the high school mixed chorus with Miss Doris Pipes accompanying at the piano.

F. F. A. NAMES OFFICERS

EROS, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—Officers were elected by the Eros chapter of Future Farmers of America as follows: J. B. Zeigler, president; Clu Flu Lusk, vice-president; Billy Gaston, secretary-treasurer; Clu Flu Lusk, parliamentarian; Mr. V. B. Dunn, adviser.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—By no stretch of imagination could this period be called an "era of good feeling" in Washington and the chances are that greater bitterness lies in the month ahead.

In few sessions of congress have so many names been called during the first couple of weeks. Most of these names are being called behind people's backs and sometimes they're only muttered, but they're dirty ones and seem more and more likely to be hurled around openly.

The depression seems to breed exasperation on Capitol Hill, perhaps because no one knows what to do about it. Members find themselves able to get unusually nasty over a farm or wage-hour bill and of course the anti-lynching bill, which always produces hotter, meaner interchanges of personal scorn than any other, has been under debate in the senate.

Assistant Whip Cracks

When "the senator from New York" was being accused of prompting the anti-lynching bill as a vote-getting expedition into the Harlem "black belt," Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York arose to point out that the junior senator from New York, Robert F. Wagner, and not Copeland, was meant.

"The senior senator from New York has already been on a vote-getting expedition," pointed out Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana in what was an especially mean dig, considering the walloping which Copeland took in both the Republican and Democratic mayoralty primaries in New York.

But the really extraordinary thing about Minton's crack is to be found in the fact that Minton is the senate's assistant Democratic whip. Actually he is the real whip, since the title of whip is held by the venerable J. Ham Lewis of Illinois.

One of a whip's jobs—or an assistant whip's—is to go around trying to make everybody happy and one of the ways not to make Senator Copeland happy is to remind him of those primaries. Of course Senator Copeland doesn't make Senator Minton happy, since he is a violently anti-New Deal Democrat. Just the same, a whip is a whip.

Cherry Tree 'Razz'

One hates to see the ladies of congress mixing into anything that suggests a personal squabble, since it is always to be hoped that they will be angels of sweetness and light in a sordid political world. There have been physical encounters between members—and many threats of them—but a hair-pulling match between two congresswomen is almost unimaginable.

There was much suppressed excitement when Senator Dixie Graves of Alabama jumped into the anti-lynching debate, because of the rough fighting that had been going on there, but Mrs. Graves used no fighting words and her delivery was so good that many listeners commented on it.

Nevertheless, it does seem to be too bad about Congresswoman Virginia E. Jenckes of Indiana and Congresswoman Nan Lee Honeyman of Oregon. Mrs. Honeyman seems to stand guilty of giving Mrs. Jenckes and one of her pet ideas the razz.

Congresswoman Jenckes has just started a one-woman campaign for uprooting the famous Japanese cherry trees around Washington's Tidal Basin and burning them up as firewood. Mrs. Jenckes doesn't think much of Japan.

But Congresswoman Honeyman, who lives much nearer Japan than Mrs. Jenckes, seemed to just about put the kibosh on her Indiana sister's idea when asked for comment. She said tearing up those cherry trees would be just like slashing an old painting by one of the Italian masters just because of a dislike of Mussolini.

Exit 'Senatorial Courtesy'

"Senatorial courtesy" isn't the grand old institution it was before the Black-Klan incident. The notion that any senator or ex-senator is good enough for any job, without question, has dropped out the window.

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

BYRON GRIGSBY NAMED PING PONG CHAMPION

In the final playoff at the municipal recreation center Saturday, Byron Grigsby won over Billy Bowen and thereby became the ping pong champion of Monroe, it was announced by Miss Lucyle Godwin, recreation director. The contest was won after an exciting and hard fought race she said.

The recreation center is one of the most popular places in Monroe these days, Miss Godwin said. Saturday morning there were more than 100 children there, engaged in playing games, reading papers, books and other enterprises.

Games that were in progress included parlor tennis, badminton, ping pong, shuffle-board, volley ball, checkers, and similar contests. The center is well supplied with games and material to absorb the attention of boys and girls who find great enjoyment in spending their idle hours there amid wholesome surroundings, the director said.

KIWANIS CLUB SHOW PROVES BIG SUCCESS

"The Rodeo of Entertainment," presented by the West Monroe Kiwanis club at Crosley school auditorium, Friday night, proved an outstanding success, despite the fact that the crowd was not so large because of inclement weather.

Mrs. King Hunt, as director of the night's performance, accredited herself well, and there was not a dull moment from start to finish.

Hugh Wallace, member of the Monroe Kiwanis club, served in a highly satisfactory manner as master-of-ceremonies, keeping the crowd in a merriment with his witticisms.

The Brown Paper Mill harmonica band was one of the outstanding features of the occasion and delighted with numerous selections.

TRAFFIC BUREAU HAS GOOD YEAR

Report Shows Many Improvements Made In Transportation Situation

The Monroe Traffic bureau, since it was reorganized earlier in the present year, has been highly active in its efforts to improve the traffic situation in this area and is rounding out one of its most important years of work, according to M. S. Biedenharn, chairman of the executive committee. Activities of the year are detailed in a report that has been issued by the group.

One of the chief improvements effected is comprised in the announcement that effective December 31, there will be removal of discrimination against Monroe and West Monroe on less than carload traffic moving to and from Louisiana points. This places Monroe and West Monroe on an equal basis with New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Alexandria, Shreveport and Lake Charles.

Elimination of a discrimination against Monroe and in favor of Shreveport on the Illinois Central railroad has also been effected. All rail class rates were reduced approximately 10 per cent on April 9, 1937, which has meant the saving of thousands of dollars.

The class rates between points in Louisiana, readjusted April 9, placed Monroe in a more favorable traffic position.

An increase in rates became effective on all classes and commodities from seaboard territory via ocean and rail on July 22, 1937. With Monroe's all-water route from the seaboard territory, this city, it was stated, will be in a more favorable position for doing business than competitors having no low all-water rates.

Numerous individual commodity rates, rules and regulations have been changed, and in most instances, changes have been made in favor of this area, the report showed.

Other betterments effected and activities are the following: Prevention of further discrimination in rate structure; establishment in numerous instances of specific rates for individual members; stop-over privilege effected at Shreveport and other points on fruit and vegetables originating from Pacific coast points; rates reduced on log-loading machines between points in Louisiana; attempt made to prevent increase in rates of hides; readjustment of rates on cottonseed and its products from the southwest to northern points, effective April 17 1938; secured establishment of cutback rates on cottonseed to West Monroe from points in Mississippi; appeared before the interstate commerce commission in opposition to the discontinuance of motor truck service from Monroe to points in southeastern Arkansas; handled with the interstate commerce commission various motor carrier matters for account of various private operators.

One of the specific things accomplished, the report stated, was carried out in auditing freight bills and filing claims for overcharges. The collections amounted to $1,919.

Numerous other traffic matters are pending adjustments and the general outlook for the coming year is said to be exceptionally bright.

TEXACO DEALERS WILL ASSEMBLE THIS WEEK

Night meetings will be conducted at Hotel Frances with discussions as to the company's various activities.

WEST MONROE TO EXPAND SERVICE

Construction of the Ransom sewer system in West Monroe is now under way and will cost an estimated sum of $48,375, being financed by the city of West Monroe and the Works Progress administration. More than 45 men will be given employment on the project, which calls for the extension of the present sanitary sewer system on various streets, including the laying of approximately 6,000 lineal feet of 10-inch water mains, construction of complete lift station with motors, pumps and necessary fittings.

Trenches to receive the concrete sewer pipe are being opened by a large crew of workers, the digging beginning at the outlet end of the system, where the pipe will be buried deep under the ground.

Some days will elapse before the laying of the pipe will begin and arrangements have been made by the city of West Monroe to have all supplies on hand when needed. The contract was awarded October 19 to the Central Culvert company for approximately 25,000 lineal feet of pipe of varying sizes at a cost of $8,811.10.

The city of West Monroe is to provide approximately $17,000 of the cost, and the remainder, $48,000, will be furnished by the government.

At a special meeting of the city council last week, arrangements were made for the sale of bonds aggregating $17,000 and this sale will be completed shortly, it is said.

Public telephone booths are easy to find in England. They're painted red and set out on the sidwalks.

CHAPTER VII

Zachary "Hades" Jones was working over near the stream bed, now dry and usually so, which lay at the foot of the great cliff. He was cutting sapling poles—long, slender ones—with which to make ladders. He stopped swinging his axe to rest when Mary Melissa came through the bushes toward him.

"You aren't expected to do this hard labor, Uncle Hades," she began. "Wasn't Mr. Holliman hired for this?"

"Ain't never shirked no work yet, Miss M'lissy. Think I'm gittin' old, do ye?"

"No! Oh no! Sometimes I think you are younger than I. But—"

The old man was eyeing her closely, kindly.

"Somethin's on yore mind. You been cryin'."

She sat down on a rock, and he waited patiently for her to talk.

"Uncle Hades, what do you think of—of the cook? The girl?"

"Why she's a godd—'scuse, ma'am—she's a danged redskin squaw ain't she?" Uncle Hades' manner suggested that such a classification was sufficient to damn her irrevocably, forever and ever.

'Lissa nodded.

"I mean—is she—is she all right? Oh I'll tell you, confidentially, Uncle Hades. She is throwing herself at Dr. Barry! I think she imagines he's in love with her."

Hades chewed on his tobacco for a few seconds.

"I seen that already," he stated calmly. "I been figgerin' what to do about it."

"You have seen it?" Mary Melissa was surprised. "You did?"

"Yes'm. Everybody has, I reckon, except Bob himself. Blind young squirt. Not that he ain't right to me, ma'am, but—looky here, Miss M'lissy, ain't choo sort of took to him yoreself?"

His jaw stopped working as he peered at her intently. Her blush was answer enough. The old man cackled in friendly laughter.

"Honey," he patted her shoulder paternally, "I ain't figgered it out yet, but don't you worry none. I'd see him roast on coals before I'd let any Indian make a fool of him."

Uncle Hades meant just what he said. In the rare times when the old man grew reminiscent and talked of yesteryear, rip-snorting tales of death and danger came from him. Ten years hence he and all his kind will be dead—that grand army of self-reliant men and women who pioneered western America, who fought nature and Indians alike, and triumphed by sheer force of character and brawn. The 1930's saw these great ones in their sunset years, and if a real Indian fighter lingers until 1945 it will be a miracle. Hades Jones was one of the hardiest.

The old man picked up his ax, resumed swinging. He had the skill of long experience. And he had many a labor-saving trick stored away. Holliman was for lashing the cross bars or steps to the ladders with small rope, after setting them into notches. Hades made a stronger ladder in half that time by heating an iron rod and burning holes through the uprights, then inserting his short steps therein. Mary Melissa was able to help him with the heating, and she trimmed the step ends with a hatchet.

"In two days we'll have ladders all the way up," Bob predicted.

"Who will place them?" 'Lissa asked.

"Holliman and I. There are enough safe footings, mostly. We'll chisel a few. I'm anxious to start excavation up there, Miss Lane. You must be next one up. It's—it's marvelous!"

He tingled with enthusiasm, Mary Melissa saw.

Honey Bee Girl kept to herself for the two busy days. That is, she said little, but she observed much. She had been rebuffed by Bob, who hadn't perceived her purpose, but she was by no means admitting defeat. She knew some paleface tricks as well as Indian wiles, and she meant to use them.

The very decorous manner in which Mary Melissa now sought to gain Bob's personal approval did not escape Honey Bee's notice. Why should a white girl, miles from civilization, spend half an hour on her personal toilet each morning, and again before each evening meal? What mattered it, on a rough outdoor expedition, if one's hair were not curled and set exactly right? Or if one's rouge were not applied perfectly, and one's clothes meticulously dainty and clean?

Honey Bee Girl, however, came from a race whose dominant characteristic is patience.

She watched her chance to catch Scott Holliman alone, at some distance from the camp. She came quickly to the point, as usual in her conversations.

"You want to make money," she suggested, scowling, but not looking directly in his eyes.

"Why—yeah. Don't ever'body? What's eatin' you, woman?" Holliman was also matter-of-fact.

"I know more about thee Indian caves." Honey Bee's speech had its brogue. "Thee white man, in thee big cities, they pay for what I know."

"That so? How's that?"

"I can show you many fine jar. Many big ollas, pots and things. In cave. Not broke. Worth many dollars. Some with thee horse design. You know?"

Holliman knew. Most outdoorsmen do, in the southwest. An ancient pot, from some prehistoric ruin, is likely to be worth $100 or more as a museum piece. A horse design used in ornamenting water jars and grain storage jars, would more likely be worth $1,000.

Horses were not native to this continent. They were brought here by the first Spaniards. Horse patterns painted on walls of prehistoric ruins probably are due to Spanish invasion, as at Canyon de Chelly or Canyon del Muerto, Arizona, far to the north of Defiance Castle. But horse patterns on still earlier relics, especially on pottery pieces, might indicate descent from or communication with Asia. Each such piece would tend to strengthen the theory that America was populated first by Asiatics, hence each such piece was of high value. Holliman knew that.

"Jars with horses on 'em? Whole jars?"

Honey Bee nodded.

"All right, I'll bite. What you want?"

"You make thee love, try marry thee white woman?"

"Hunh?" Holliman was shocked with surprise.

"You make thee love, Miss Lane. Keep her away from Bawb. I show you thee cave with horse jars."

It was sort of fantastic, funny even, this strange proposition. But Holliman got the point. He pushed his floppy 10-gallon hat back on his head and grinned, but he told Honey Bee it was a bargain.

"You do it—without me. You know?" Honey Bee scowled at him, in her peculiar manner. She looked a little vicious then, for all her wild beauty, Holliman sobered.

"Yeah, I see. I get paid for making love and keeping my mouth shut, while you take Barry. It's a deal. It oughtn't to be such a mean job, nohow."

CHAPTER VII

Zachary "Hades" Jones was working over near the stream bed, now dry and usually so, which lay at the foot of the great cliff. He was cutting sapling poles—long, slender ones—with which to make ladders. He stopped swinging his axe to rest when Mary Melissa came through the bushes toward him.

"You aren't expected to do this hard labor, Uncle Hades," she began. "Wasn't Mr. Holliman hired for this?"

"Ain't never shirked no work yet, Miss M'lissy. Think I'm gittin' old, do ye?"

"No! Oh no! Sometimes I think you are younger than I. But—"

The old man was eyeing her closely, kindly.

"Somethin's on yore mind. You been cryin'."

She sat down on a rock, and he waited patiently for her to talk.

"Uncle Hades, what do you think of—of the cook? The girl?"

"Why she's a godd—'scuse, ma'am—she's a danged redskin squaw ain't she?" Uncle Hades' manner suggested that such a classification was sufficient to damn her irrevocably, forever and ever.

'Lissa nodded.

"I mean—is she—is she all right? Oh I'll tell you, confidentially, Uncle Hades. She is throwing herself at Dr. Barry! I think she imagines he's in love with her."

Hades chewed on his tobacco for a few seconds.

"I seen that already," he stated calmly. "I been figgerin' what to do about it."

"You have seen it?" Mary Melissa was surprised. "You did?"

"Yes'm. Everybody has, I reckon, except Bob himself. Blind young squirt. Not that he ain't right to me, ma'am, but—looky here, Miss M'lissy, ain't choo sort of took to him yoreself?"

His jaw stopped working as he peered at her intently. Her blush was answer enough. The old man cackled in friendly laughter.

"Honey," he patted her shoulder paternally, "I ain't figgered it out yet, but don't you worry none. I'd see him roast on coals before I'd let any Indian make a fool of him."

Uncle Hades meant just what he said. In the rare times when the old man grew reminiscent and talked of yesteryear, rip-snorting tales of death and danger came from him. Ten years hence he and all his kind will be dead—that grand army of self-reliant men and women who pioneered western America, who fought nature and Indians alike, and triumphed by sheer force of character and brawn. The 1930's saw these great ones in their sunset years, and if a real Indian fighter lingers until 1945 it will be a miracle. Hades Jones was one of the hardiest.

The old man picked up his ax, resumed swinging. He had the skill of long experience. And he had many a labor-saving trick stored away. Holliman was for lashing the cross bars or steps to the ladders with small rope, after setting them into notches. Hades made a stronger ladder in half that time by heating an iron rod and burning holes through the uprights, then inserting his short steps therein. Mary Melissa was able to help him with the heating, and she trimmed the step ends with a hatchet.

"In two days we'll have ladders all the way up," Bob predicted.

"Who will place them?" 'Lissa asked.

"Holliman and I. There are enough safe footings, mostly. We'll chisel a few. I'm anxious to start excavation up there, Miss Lane. You must be next one up. It's—it's marvelous!"

He tingled with enthusiasm, Mary Melissa saw.

Honey Bee Girl kept to herself for the two busy days. That is, she said little, but she observed much. She had been rebuffed by Bob, who hadn't perceived her purpose, but she was by no means admitting defeat. She knew some paleface tricks as well as Indian wiles, and she meant to use them.

The very decorous manner in which Mary Melissa now sought to gain Bob's personal approval did not escape Honey Bee's notice. Why should a white girl, miles from civilization, spend half an hour on her personal toilet each morning, and again before each evening meal? What mattered it, on a rough outdoor expedition, if one's hair were not curled and set exactly right? Or if one's rouge were not applied perfectly, and one's clothes meticulously dainty and clean?

Honey Bee Girl, however, came from a race whose dominant characteristic is patience.

She watched her chance to catch Scott Holliman alone, at some distance from the camp. She came quickly to the point, as usual in her conversations.

"You want to make money," she suggested, scowling, but not looking directly in his eyes.

"Why—yeah. Don't ever'body? What's eatin' you, woman?" Holliman was also matter-of-fact.

"I know more about thee Indian caves." Honey Bee's speech had its brogue. "Thee white man, in thee big cities, they pay for what I know."

"That so? How's that?"

"I can show you many fine jar. Many big ollas, pots and things. In cave. Not broke. Worth many dollars. Some with thee horse design. You know?"

Holliman knew. Most outdoorsmen do, in the southwest. An ancient pot, from some prehistoric ruin, is likely to be worth $100 or more as a museum piece. A horse design used in ornamenting water jars and grain storage jars, would more likely be worth $1,000.

Horse patterns painted on walls of prehistoric ruins probably are due to Spanish invasion, as at Canyon de Chelly or Canyon del Muerto, Arizona, far to the north of Defiance Castle. But horse patterns on still earlier relics, especially on pottery pieces, might indicate descent from or communication with Asia. Each such piece would tend to strengthen the theory that America was populated first by Asiatics, hence each such piece was of high value. Holliman knew that.

"Jars with horses on 'em? Whole jars?"

Honey Bee nodded.

"All right, I'll bite. What you want?"

"You make thee love, try marry thee white woman?"

"Hunh?" Holliman was shocked with surprise.

"You make thee love, Miss Lane. Keep her away from Bawb. I show you thee cave with horse jars."

It was sort of fantastic, funny even, this strange proposition. But Holliman got the point. He pushed his floppy 10-gallon hat back on his head and grinned, but he told Honey Bee it was a bargain.

"You do it—without me. You know?" Honey Bee scowled at him, in her peculiar manner. She looked a little vicious then, for all her wild beauty. Holliman sobered.

"Yeah, I see. I get paid for making love and keeping my mouth shut, while you take Barry. It's a deal. It oughtn't to be such a mean job, nohow."

PRIMOS CAFETERIA, RESTAURANT AND BAKERY—1st BIRTHDAY

PRIMOS' CASHIER CITY'S YOUNGEST

Miss Josephine Nola Also Secretary To Cafeteria Proprietor

At the age of 18 years, Josephine Nola, petite and blonde, is Monroe's youngest cashier employed in a restaurant and her position as cashier and secretary to Gus Primos, proprietor of Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, which is celebrating its first anniversary, places her at the top of the list of restaurant cashiers in the city.

Miss Nola is a graduate of Neville High school, where she won a four-year scholarship to Louisiana State university. She attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. for half a term but her natural bent for the business world impelled her to seek a position. Her application so impressed Mr. Primos that, despite her youth, he took her into his employ and after a few months during which she quickly learned her duties, she was installed as head cashier and secretary.

While attending Neville High school Miss Nola was president of the school's group of a national honor society, president of the History club, president of the Home Economics club and a member of Sigma Sigma sorority. She was considered one of the finest students in mathematics ever to attend Neville High school, and won the admiration of her instructors by the ease with which she solved intricate mathematical problems.

Miss Nola is fond of athletics in general but is particularly fond of tennis and swimming and loves to dance.

STRATOS DIRECTS PRIMOS' AT NIGHT

Manager Well Experienced In Profession; Has Colorful Career

Jim Stratos, night manager at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, which is celebrating its first anniversary as Monroe's leading catering establishment, has had long experience as a restaurateur.

Coming to Monroe from South Carolina in 1924, Stratos took over the management of the old Metropolitan cafe, then considered Monroe's finest restaurant. When the cafe was closed to give place to other building establishments on DeSiard street, Stratos was employed by Gus Primos as night manager for the Electric Maid restaurant.

Stratos had a colorful career in his native country before coming to these shores. He was employed in the Greek postal service, but when the Balkan wars broke out in 1912 Stratos joined the Greek forces and was attached to the cavalry.

Stratos was the courier selected to notify General Sapuntsakis, commander of the Greek forces operating against Turkey, of the capture of Salonica, the military action that proved the death blow to Turkish aspirations in the Balkans and assured victory to Greece.

Shortly after that war, Greece was again involved in hostilities in the Balkan peninsula, and Stratos, because of his previous outstanding record, was promoted and assigned to the Greek general staff as courier and remained at headquarters until the end of the war. During his services there he often came in contact with King Constantine and other outstanding Greek leaders.

Stratos received a good education in his native country and delights to talk of his motherland. Athens, he says, is a composite of ancient and modern times. Its classic monuments are the most beautiful in the world and as a youth Stratos often spent many hours in the shadows of the Acropolis while he studied the ancient lore of his country's immortal philosophers and poets.

"The Greek people are gay and love good music and wine," Stratos declared. "They are abreast with the latest developments and have won a strong foothold among the nations of the Balkans."

Stratos is popular with the "night owls" who frequent Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, and not a little of his popularity has been won as a result of his patience in listening to those customers who make Primos' place a rendezvous for coffee preparatory to a hunting or fishing trip, and who delight in telling Stratos their stories of field and stream, while the genial manager sees to it that their cups are well filled with steaming coffee.

Accustomed to restaurant management through his previous experience as manager of the Metropolitan cafe, Stratos maintains a high standard of quality and service at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria during the hours when he is in charge of the establishment.

Gus Primos Invites Public To Join In Celebration Of 1st Anniversary

Souvenirs To Be Distributed Sunday, Monday At Monroe Establishment Considered One Of Finest In North Louisiana

Primos' restaurant, cafeteria and bakery, located at the corner of North Fourth and DeSiard streets, celebrates its first anniversary this week and Gus Primos, proprietor and manager, invites the public of this section to visit his establishment and receive souvenirs which will be distributed Sunday and Monday in honor of the occasion.

Considered one of the finest establishments of its kind in north Louisiana, Primos' restaurant, cafeteria and bakery occupies floor space in excess of 6,000 feet and combines three distinct businesses under one roof. It is decorated in modernistic style, the best of taste being observed in the entire scheme which is restful and inviting.

The counter seats 25 persons. Seventeen booths provide privacy for those who prefer to dine alone. The booths are of Japanese mahogany and are decorated with half-moon mirrors. Seats are comfortable and are spring cushioned and upholstered in red morocco leather. The tables are made of "foamite," smooth to the touch and with blue tops trimmed in black with carved chromium steel legs. Booths have a capacity of four persons each.

The blue room, used as a regular dining room and for banquets, is a section apart from the counter and booths and has a capacity of 100. The tables are artistically designed and set with blue-trimmed table cloths and blue sugar bowls as well as California type water jugs.

The cafeteria occupies the north part of the room and is equipped with modern steel and glass cases designed to assure the utmost sanitary conditions. All food is on display behind the glass-enclosed counters so that clients may be able to signify their choice without touching the dishes. The cases also afford protection against breath exhalations of patrons as they pass along and select their dishes.

The finest equipment is installed in the kitchen and pantry departments, including a Warren porcelain refrigerator with meat storage capacity of 10,000 pounds; a Victor washing machine which automatically washes and sanitizes 10,000 dishes an hour; Hart range, Hobart vegetable chopper equipped with electric drive; specially designed sea-food containers of stainless steel; stainless steel containers for beer, cold drinks, milk and cream.

Success Crowns Efforts

The bakery department is equipped with an automatic "Super-Bake" oven, two electric mixers and other automatic machinery designed for and used by the most modern baking establishments in the country.

In keeping with the trend for air-conditioning, Primos' restaurant and cafeteria was equipped with a Westinghouse air-conditioning unit last summer which provided cool and healthful temperatures inside, regardless of the heat outside the building.

The success of Primos' restaurant, cafeteria and bakery is the reward of energy and ambition operating under the most adverse conditions.

Mr. Primos came to this country from Bulgaria in 1911 and settled in New Orleans. After the first few months in that city he decided to return to Europe because of the apparent handicaps which confronted him in securing an education. During his stay in New Orleans Mr. Primos lived at the Y. M. C. A. and took a keen interest in athletics. His natural aptitude for sports won him a place on the Y. M. C. A. teams which, once a week, played teams from Tulane university.

It was while playing with the university youths, Mr. Primos said, that he overheard a conversation between students from the university and members of his own team in which the former contended that they would have to study and work for at least eight years before they could hope to achieve success in their chosen professions.

Began Own Business

"I decided then and there to prove that I could make just as much a success as those more fortunate than myself," Mr. Primos said. "I was then working for $25 a week, but gave up my job to take one at $6 a week in order to learn the catering business which appealed to me most. After working in the kitchen of one of the finest establishments in New Orleans until I was earning $32 a week, I

CASHIER ENJOYS WORK AT NIGHT

Miss Helen Youngblood Likes Brisk Atmosphere, Charm Of Surroundings

Helen Youngblood, 19-year-old night cashier at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, is a native of Oklahoma, having been born at Shawnee, where she lived until she was six years of age, at which stage in her life her family moved to West Monroe.

She receive her education at the West Monroe schools and the Ouachita Parish High school. Following her graduation from high school Miss Youngblood applied for and obtained a job at the Electric Maid restaurant.

The efficiency she displayed while employed there resulted in her promotion to her present post, Gus Primos appointing her night cashier of the restaurant which is now observing its first anniversary.

"Although I work at night, my job is as interesting to me as a daytime job might be," Miss Youngblood said. "Business is always brisk and there is a certain atmosphere about the place which lends a certain charm to the surroundings. I think it's fun to have a really good excuse for staying up all night," the young lady said with a mischievous twinkle.

Miss Youngblood aspires to become secretary to an executive of an exclusive ladies' clothing establishment, but until that ambition is realized she is determined to be Monroe's most efficient night cashier. When not engaged in ringing food checks and making change Miss Youngblood reads detective picture shows, eats fried chicken and drinks cokes.

EMPLOYE MAKES SUCCESS OF JOB

Miss May Nola, Assistant Cashier, Strives For Career In Business

May Nola, assistant cashier at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, was born in Birmingham, Ala., but came to Monroe as a child and was educated in the city schools. After graduating from Neville High school she attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. for half a term but decided that the business world offered more attractions and secured a position with Gus Primos.

One of the most popular employes at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, Miss Nola's winning smile has won her a host of friends and the efficiency with which she discharges her duties has established her as a leader among the younger women in Monroe's business circles.

While attending Neville High school she won an art scholarship and has studied drawing under such able local masters as Miss Stella Vinson and Miss Lucille Moore. Miss Nola has a fine voice and sang in the glee club at Northeast Center. She still sings and because of this talent, as well as on account of her engaging personality, she is in demand at parties.

"I have my whole heart in my job and my ambition is to win a place in the business world," Miss Nola declared. Judging from her ready smile and the deft manner in which she discharges her duties as assistant cashier, it is a safe bet that Miss Nola will achieve her ambition.

PRIMOS CAFETERIA, RESTAURANT AND BAKERY—1st BIRTHDAY

PRIMOS' CASHIER CITY'S YOUNGEST

Miss Josephine Nola Also Secretary To Cafeteria Proprietor

At the age of 18 years, Josephine Nola, petite and blonde, is Monroe's youngest cashier employed in a restaurant and her position as cashier and secretary to Gus Primos, proprietor of Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, which is celebrating its first anniversary, places her at the top of the list of restaurant cashiers in the city.

Miss Nola is a graduate of Neville High school, where she won a four-year scholarship to Louisiana State university. She attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. for half a term but her natural bent for the business world impelled her to seek a position. Her application so impressed Mr. Primos that, despite her youth, he took her into his employ and after a few months during which she quickly learned her duties, she was installed as head cashier and secretary.

While attending Neville High school Miss Nola was president of the school's group of a national honor society, president of the History club, president of the Home Economics club and a member of Sigma Sigma sorority. She was considered one of the finest students in mathematics ever to attend Neville High school, and won the admiration of her instructors by the ease with which she solved intricate mathematical problems.

Miss Nola is fond of athletics in general but is particularly fond of tennis and swimming and loves to dance.

STRATOS DIRECTS PRIMOS' AT NIGHT

Manager Well Experienced In Profession; Has Colorful Career

Jim Stratos, night manager at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, which is celebrating its first anniversary as Monroe's leading catering establishment, has had long experience as a restaurateur.

Coming to Monroe from South Carolina in 1924, Stratos took over the management of the old Metropolitan cafe, then considered Monroe's finest restaurant. When the cafe was closed to give place to other building establishments on DeSiard street, Stratos was employed by Gus Primos as night manager for the Electric Maid restaurant.

Stratos had a colorful career in his native country before coming to these shores. He was employed in the Greek postal service, but when the Balkan wars broke out in 1912 Stratos joined the Greek forces and was attached to the cavalry.

Stratos was the courier selected to notify General Sapuntsakis, commander of the Greek forces operating against Turkey, of the capture of Salonica, the military action that proved the death blow to Turkish aspirations in the Balkans and assured victory to Greece.

Shortly after that war, Greece was again involved in hostilities in the Balkan peninsula, and Stratos, because of his previous outstanding record, was promoted and assigned to the Greek general staff as courier and remained at headquarters until the end of the war. During his services there he often came in contact with King Constantine and other outstanding Greek leaders.

Stratos received a good education in his native country and delights to talk of his motherland. Athens, he says, is a composite of ancient and modern times. Its classic monuments are the most beautiful in the world and as a youth Stratos often spent many hours in the shadows of the Acropolis while he studied the ancient lore of his country's immortal philosophers and poets.

"The Greek people are gay and love good music and wine," Stratos declared. "They are abreast with the latest developments and have won a strong foothold among the nations of the Balkans."

Stratos is popular with the "night owls" who frequent Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, and not a little of his popularity has been won as a result of his patience in listening to those customers who make Primos' place a rendezvous for coffee preparatory to a hunting or fishing trip, and who delight in telling Stratos their stories of field and stream, while the genial manager sees to it that their cups are well filled with steaming coffee.

Accustomed to restaurant management through his previous experience as manager of the Metropolitan cafe, Stratos maintains a high standard of quality and service at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria during the hours when he is in charge of the establishment.

Gus Primos Invites Public To Join In Celebration Of 1st Anniversary

Souvenirs To Be Distributed Sunday, Monday At Monroe Establishment Considered One Of Finest In North Louisiana

Primos' restaurant, cafeteria and bakery, located at the corner of North Fourth and DeSiard streets, celebrates its first anniversary this week and Gus Primos, proprietor and manager, invites the public of this section to visit his establishment and receive souvenirs which will be distributed Sunday and Monday in honor of the occasion.

Considered one of the finest establishments of its kind in north Louisiana, Primos' restaurant, cafeteria and bakery occupies floor space in excess of 6,000 feet and combines three distinct businesses under one roof. It is decorated in modernistic style, the best of taste being observed in the entire scheme which is restful and inviting.

The counter seats 25 persons. Seventeen booths provide privacy for those who prefer to dine alone. The booths are of Japanese mahogany and are decorated with half-moon mirrors. Seats are comfortable and are spring cushioned and upholstered in red morocco leather. The tables are made of "foamite," smooth to the touch and with blue tops trimmed in black with carved chromium steel legs. Booths have a capacity of four persons each.

The blue room, used as a regular dining room and for banquets, is a section apart from the counter and booths and has a capacity of 100. The tables are artistically designed and set with blue-trimmed table cloths and blue sugar bowls as well as California type water jugs.

The cafeteria occupies the north part of the room and is equipped with modern steel and glass cases designed to assure the utmost sanitary conditions. All food is on display behind the glass-enclosed counters so that clients may be able to signify their choice without touching the dishes. The cases also afford protection against breath exhalations of patrons as they pass along and select their dishes.

The finest equipment is installed in the kitchen and pantry departments, including a Warren porcelain refrigerator with meat storage capacity of 10,000 pounds; a Victor washing machine which automatically washes and sanitizes 10,000 dishes an hour; Hart range, Hobart vegetable chopper equipped with electric drive; specially designed sea-food containers of stainless steel; stainless steel containers for beer, cold drinks, milk and cream.

Success Crowns Efforts

The bakery department is equipped with an automatic "Super-Bake" oven, two electric mixers and other automatic machinery designed for and used by the most modern baking establishments in the country.

In keeping with the trend for air-conditioning, Primos' restaurant and cafeteria was equipped with a Westinghouse air-conditioning unit last summer which provided cool and healthful temperatures inside, regardless of the heat outside the building.

The success of Primos' restaurant, cafeteria and bakery is the reward of energy and ambition operating under the most adverse conditions.

Mr. Primos came to this country from Bulgaria in 1911 and settled in New Orleans. After the first few months in that city he decided to return to Europe because of the apparent handicaps which confronted him in securing an education. During his stay in New Orleans Mr. Primos lived at the Y. M. C. A., and took a keen interest in athletics. His natural aptitude for sports won him a place in the Y. M. C. A. teams which, once a week, played teams from Tulane university.

It was while playing with the university youths, Mr. Primos said, that he overheard a conversation between students from the university and members of his own team in which the former contended that they would have to study and work for at least eight years before they could hope to achieve success in their chosen professions.

Began Own Business

"I decided then and there to prove that I could make just as much a success as those more fortunate than myself," Mr. Primos said. "I was then working for $25 a week, but gave up my job to take one at $6 a week in order to learn the catering business which appealed to me most. After working in the kitchen of one of the finest establishments in New Orleans until I was earning $32 a week, I

CASHIER ENJOYS WORK AT NIGHT

Miss Helen Youngblood Likes Brisk Atmosphere, Charm Of Surroundings

Helen Youngblood, 19-year-old night cashier at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, is a native of Oklahoma, having been born at Shawnee, where she lived until she was six years of age, at which stage in her life her family moved to West Monroe.

She receive her education at the West Monroe schools and the Ouachita Parish High school. Following her graduation from high school Miss Youngblood applied for and obtained a job at the Electric Maid restaurant. The efficiency she displayed while employed there resulted in her promotion to her present post, Gus Primos appointing her night cashier of the restaurant which is now observing its first anniversary.

"Although I work at night, my job is as interesting to me as a day-time job might be," Miss Youngblood said. "Business is always brisk and there is a certain atmosphere about the place which lends a certain charm to the surroundings. I think it's fun to have a really good excuse for staying up all night," the young lady said with a mischievous twinkle.

Miss Youngblood aspires to become secretary to an executive of an exclusive ladies clothing establishment, but until that ambition is realized she is determined to be Monroe's most efficient night cashier. When not scrutinizing food checks and making change, Miss Youngblood reads, attends picture shows, eats fried chicken and drinks "cokes."

EMPLOYE MAKES SUCCESS OF JOB

Miss May Nola, Assistant Cashier, Strives For Career In Business

May Nola, assistant cashier at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, was born in Birmingham, Ala., but came to Monroe as a child and was educated in the city schools. After graduating from Neville High school she attended Northeast Center of L. S. U. for half a term but decided that the business world offered more attractions and secured a position with Gus Primos.

One of the most popular employes at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, Miss Nola's winning smile has won her a host of friends and the efficiency with which she discharges her duties has established her as a leader among the younger women in Monroe's business circles.

While attending Neville High school she won an art scholarship and has studied drawing under such able local masters as Miss Stella Vinson and Miss Lucille Moore. Miss Nola has a fine voice and sang in the glee club at Northeast Center. She still sings and because of this talent, as well as on account of her engaging personality, she is in demand at parties.

"I have my whole heart in my job and my ambition is to win a place in the business world," Miss Nola declared. Judging from her ready smile and the deft manner in which she discharges her duties as assistant cashier, it is a safe bet that Miss Nola will achieve her ambition.

Miss Mae Bennett Possesses Unusual Qualifications For Job

To be a successful cafeteria checker, one must think quickly, have steady nerves, be especially dexterous with the fingers and have a ready smile for all the customers.

Mae Bennett, cafeteria checker at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria for more than a year, possesses all the above qualifications and is considered one of the most accurate girls in her work in Monroe.

Miss Bennett is a native of Richland parish where she received her education. After graduating from high school she came to Monroe and obtained a position with Gus Primos at the Electric Maid restaurant and bakery, across the street from the present location of Primos' restaurant and cafeteria.

When Mr. Primos moved to his present location last year, he installed Miss Bennett at the cafeteria checking desk where she readily mastered her job. Customers often comment on the precision with which she adds their checks, striking the keys of the adding machine with accuracy and seldom making a mistake.

Miss Bennett likes her job. She is popular with her customers, 75 per cent of whom are women.

"The cafeteria is very popular and is operated along most efficient lines," Miss Bennett said. "As most of our patrons are numbered among the ladies, our dishes must always be well cooked, appetizing and popularly priced as ladies, as a rule, are the most exacting of critics."

Harvester company executive. But the description fitted her.

From whence the little girl came was a mystery. "Some place in the east," Mr. McCormick said. And where she was tonight was a mystery. "Away for a while" the servants said at Lone Tree farm.

Wherever she was, Miss What's-Her-Name was filling a vacant spot in the life of Mrs. Hubbard, who had no children and has lived alone since her husband, Major Elisha Dyer Hubbard, died last December.

Mrs. Hubbard claims four-sevenths of the $30,000,000 trust fund the late John D. Rochefeller gave his daughter, Mrs. Hubbard's mother, the late Edith Rockefeller McCormick. And although her mother divorced him, Mrs. Hubbard is on friendly terms with her father and can be expected to share the fortune he built from the harvesting machines his father invented.

Despite her wealth and social position, Mrs. Hubbard personally oversees the 35-acre farm on which she and the child apparently will live. She drives her own car. She shops at the small town shops of Middletown. And she likes to give a little girl a bath.

His autopsies showed marked changes in the brains of the two infants he examined. The same infections were found in both bodies. His studies tended to support the theory that the disease was caused by a virus invisible under a microscope.

The importance of his research was enhanced by the report of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, relating that similar outbreaks had occurred in recent years in New York, Toronto, Memphis, Seattle, Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y., and in France and Scotland.

He said that 234 babies died in New York City between July, 1934, and December, 1936.

He warned all parents they were required by law to report any manifestations of the malady to the board of health.

Primos' Chef Has Served Fourteen Dixie Governors

Master Of Culinary Art Tells Of Tastes Of State Executives

James Colan, chef de cuisine at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, has served 14 southern governors during the 20 years he has handled a skillet and knows the tastes of each chief executive who has, at various times, feasted on the delectable dishes which this master of the culinary art has prepared for gubernatorial tastes.

Appetites among governors run pretty well along the same lines as the rank and file of the citizenry, Colan declared, but perhaps the most peculiar taste was that exhibited by the late Governor Austin Peay of Tennessee, a frequent habitue of the Cafe Splendid at Gulfport, Miss., where Colan was chef, and whose favorite dish was, of all things, spinach.

"Governor Peay could eat more spinach than any other customer at the cafe," Colan said. "When the governor entered the doors of the Cafe Splendid I gave immediate orders to warm up the spinach and woe betide my assistants if a goodly portion of this vegetable was not instantly available for the governor."

Long Liked Sea Food

The late Senator Huey P. Long revelled in sea food, Colan said. He was particularly partial to oysters fried in corn flour, a dish for which Primos' cafeteria and restaurant is noted, as it is there prepared under the personal supervision of Colan.

"Senator Theodore Bilbo, when he was governor of Mississippi, frequently visited Gulfport and invariably lunched or dined at the Cafe Splendid," Colan said. "Governor Bilbo never sat down to a table unless oyster stew was served, followed by a generous portion of Spanish mackerel. Patrons at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria may enjoy these two excellent dishes as prepared for the 'stormy petrel' of Mississippi politics," he said.

Semmes Walmsley, former mayor of New Orleans, who often was seen at the Gulfport restaurant over which Colan presided, was exceptionally fond of turkey and oyster dressing, and it was a safe bet that "Hizzoner" would give his usual order for turkey. "When I saw Mayor Walmsley step in the door of the Cafe Splendid I usually selected the choice cuts of turkey and by the time he was ready to give his order, which, nine times out of ten, was 'turkey and oyster dressing,' I was in a position to tell the mayor that his choice was ready to be served. This tickled Mr. Walmsley immensely."

Jimmie Noe 'Reduces'

Senator "Jimmie" Noe, a good customer at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, and an admirer of Colan for the excellence of his craft, is the object of good-natured chaff on the part of the chef de cuisine, who insists that every time Jimmie visits Primos' restaurant and cafeteria he tells Colan that he "must go light on food as he is reducing."

"But Senator Jimmie," Colan declares, "always succumbs to the appetizing odors and appearance of the dishes especially prepared for him by me and breaks his good resolution by eating two portions of whatever I serve him. Jimmie is a gourmet and appreciates good cooking."

Among governors and other leading public men for whom Colan has catered, he remembers John M. Parker, Ruffin G. Pleasant, O. K. Allen, Senator Pat Harrison and Governor Whitfield of Mississippi, all of whom were partial to sea food and good cooking.

"I learned to prepare sea food to a 'queen's taste' while chef at Gulfport," Colan declared. "My customers, most of whom had dined in the finest restaurants in the country, often contributed new ideas in the preparation of lobster, fish, oysters and other sea food, as well as for sauces which would bring out the finest tasting qualities of the various dishes, and I pride myself on the fact that I have not lost the art. The same dishes which tickled the palates of governors, senators, congressmen and diplomats from foreign countries are to be had today at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria and if anyone doubts my assertion I invite them to visit me and let me show them."

Was Soldier, Sailor

Colan has not always been a chef de cuisine. Prior to coming to America in 1917 he was a soldier in the Greek army. During the World war Colan joined the British merchant marine and on one of his voyages off the French coast experienced the thrill of watching the periscope of a German submarine slowly cutting the waters of the gray Atlantic, followed shortly afterwards by the U-boat, from the conning tower of which a German officer gruffly ordered the crew of the steamer to take to the lifeboats. Hastily the sailors complied with the order and scarcely had the boats pulled away from the doomed vessel than the Germans opened fire and sent the ship to the bottom. Colan, miserable and cold, was shortly afterwards picked up by a French man-o'-war.

Transferring from the British to the Greek service, Colan again found himself a participant in another drama of the sea when the steamer on which he was serving struck a submerged reef as it maneuvered to avoid ramming a Chinese junk. The shipwreck took place in the Red sea, and once more Colan, together with his mates, took to the lifeboats and was tossed on the turbulent waters of the Red sea for many hours before rescued by a steamer.

Colan has served as chef de cuisine at Primos' restaurant and cafeteria for more than a year, and has made many friends in Monroe during that time. He has worked in the largest restaurants in the country from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore., and his experience has equipped him well for his present post. At Primos' he has charge of a kitchen staff of 26 persons who are ready to attest that Colan, soldier, sailor and appeaser of gubernatorial appetites, is a "real guy."

lations were of the best. He expects to return to his post in about two months.

Senor Guerra was enthusiastic in his praise of the Japanese people who, he said, were showing great fortitude and self sacrifice during the present crisis.

"The Japanese are a wonderful people who are being called upon to face a serious situation," he said. "The manner in which they are doing this merits the highest praise."

Because of his diplomatic status Senor Guerra refused to make any comments on the war itself, stating only that there are no questions pending between the Cuban and the Japanese governments.

Senor Guerra praised Colonel Fulgencio Batista, "strong man" of Cuba, for the progress which has followed in the wake of his accession to power and declared that a feature of the Cuban statesman's conduct of affairs is the three-year plan which envisages the partition of large landed estates among the people who now are without lands. He explained the Cuban government intends to indemnify the landowners, many of whom are Americans, and denied there was any taint of Communism to the proposed expropriation of the large estates for the benefit of the peasants.

medical college and New York university.

Although the human values have yet to be learned, the new vaccine drew medical interest immediately, because it broke a barrier that for years had held back a world-wide scientific hunt for a tuberculosis preventive.

This barrier was the belief, backed by many experiments, that an effective vaccine could not be made with dead tuberculosis bacteria. The living germs were considered extremely dangerous for vaccine. The Cornell workers broke the "dead" germ line with two new moves.

First they killed their germs with heat—212 degree steam for an hour. Heat killing, they found, left the germs' bodies somewhat more effective as a vaccine than previously tried dead bacteria.

Second, they found that adding horse serum raised the vaccine's potency into the useful range. Horse serum is the watery fluid extracted from horse blood.

The two substances were added together under a recently discovered principle that "immunization with one antigen may accelerate production of anti-bodies by another." The dead germs are one "antigen"; the horse serum the other.

The terms Occident, meaning the west, and Orient, meaning the east, are derived from the Latin words, occidens, the falling sun, and oriens, the rising sun.

again gave up the more lucrative job to take one at $5 a week in the old Green Bowl, now the Roosevelt hotel, in order to learn how to meet people. I served as bus boy there and after a year resigned the job and started my own business."

Mr. Primos first opened a restaurant on St. Charles street, New Orleans. Later he moved to Atlanta, Ga., where he operated two establishments. He made another move to Shreveport, where he also operated two establishments, and in 1929 sold both businesses there and came to Monroe, where he established the Electric Maid restaurant and bakery, and operated it until he moved his business to its present location.

Primos' restaurant and cafeteria has a staff of 35 experienced and courteous waitresses and department chiefs. It is open 24 hours a day and is the only establishment of its kind in this part of the state where customers can be served at all hours and order at any time any kind of meal desired.

Give Finest Service

"We cater to home folks and they send us the out-of-town visitors," Mr. Primos said. "We estimate that we have 60 per cent repeat business of which one-half is made up of people who eat three meals a day with us, spending almost a dollar a day.

"The cafeteria offers the finest service of its kind in this section," he said. "Silver knife, fork and teaspoon are wrapped in a 19 by 19 inch cloth napkin, ready for the customer to put on his tray. Composition trays are stacked at the starting end of the counter. There are approximately 70 dishes out of the 80 carried at every meal which sell at five and 10 cents. The cafeteria serves four kinds of cold plates and about 24 different salads; 20 different kinds of desserts, including pies and cakes; some sort of fruit roll, and one or more miscellaneous items like gelatin. Ten different meats are served at every meal, five to 10 different kinds of vegetables, according to season; 10 different kinds of bread.

"Lunch and dinner," Mr. Primos said, "find nine pans on the steam table, with room between for individual dishes and special plates. Here, garnished and kept as neat and appealing as possible, down to the last service, are usually a roast to be carved on the counter, some sort of chicken dish, three or four more meats and on Wednesday and Friday two or three sea foods. The rest are entrees and vegetables to be served from the pans. At dinner there are usually six vegetables to be served from crocks. Pans are shallow and replaced rapidly. Only four or five fish orders come up at a time and not more than half a dozen chicken pies at a counter.

Demands, Serves Best

"Food is prepared as customers come in the front door," Mr. Primos explained. "Everything on the steam counter changes every meal, barring a few standard items every restaurant man keeps on hand. Hot breads are, of course, served for both meals. Food warmers and cold boxes are used extensively. Anything that is not on the menu, guests may order when passing down the line.

"Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, like its patrons, demands and selects the best that the market provides, with a fine appreciation of its responsibility in holding a priceless reputation," Mr. Primos concluded.

A. F. L. DRAFTS WAGE-HOUR BILL

minimum wages and maximum hours, he said, would leave southern manufacturers with a choice between "poverty wage scales" or an improved purchasing power for their products.

The council's chief concern in drafting the proposed bill, he said, was to exclude creation of a labor standards board with wide discretionary powers to adjust wages and hours, a feature of the pending administration bill.

Imposing a 40-cent minimum on southern industry, Green pointed, would not necessarily change competitive conditions between the south and north.

In justification of this view, the A. F. of L., leader said southern industry still would have the advantages of climate, low living costs and nearby sources of raw materials.

The council's decision to support a 40 hour week, Green added, did not mean that the federation was giving up its fight for a 30 hour week.

"The 40-hour week was considered as more practical at this time," he said.

There was immediate antagonistic reaction to the federation's proposal among house members. Majority Leader Rayburn, Democrat, Texas, expressed belief the suggestion for substitution of uniform wage-hour standards for the bill's present flexible provisions would impair its chance for passage. Other members called the A. F. L.'s plan unconstitutional.

Rayburn said the federation had done nothing to warrant a change in the leadership's plans to pass the pending measure during the week of December 13 as nearly as possible in its present form.

Ten different meats are served at every meal, five to 10 different kinds of vegetables, according to season; 10 different kinds of bread.

"Lunch and dinner," Mr. Primos said, "find nine pans on the steam table, with room between for individual dishes and special plates. Here, garnished and kept as neat and appealing as possible, down to the last service, are usually a roast to be carved on the counter, some sort of chicken dish, three or four more meats and on Wednesday and Friday two or three sea foods. The rest are entrees and vegetables to be served from the pans. At dinner there are usually six vegetables to be served from crocks. Pans are shallow and replaced rapidly. Only four or five fish orders come up at a time and not more than half a dozen chicken pies at a counter.

Demands, Serves Best

"Food is prepared as customers come in the front door," Mr. Primos explained. "Everything on the steam counter changes every meal, barring a few standard items every restaurant man keeps on hand. Hot breads are, of course, served for both meals. Food warmers and cold boxes are used extensively. Anything that is not on the menu, guests may order when passing down the line.

"Primos' restaurant and cafeteria, like its patrons, demands and selects the best that the market provides, with a fine appreciation of its responsibility in holding a priceless reputation," Mr. Primos concluded.

A. F. L. DRAFTS WAGE-HOUR BILL

minimum wages and maximum hours, he said, would leave southern manufacturers with a choice between "poverty wage scales" or an improved purchasing power for their products.

The council's chief concern in drafting the proposed bill, he said, was to exclude creation of a labor standards board with wide discretionary powers to adjust wages and hours, a feature of the pending administration bill.

Imposing a 40-cent minimum on southern industry, Green pointed would not necessarily change competitive conditions between the south and north.

In justification of this view, the A. F. of L., leader said southern industry still would have the advantages of climate, low living costs and nearby sources of raw materials.

The council's decision to support 40 hour week, Green added, did not mean that the federation was giving up its fight for a 30 hour week.

"The 40-hour week was considered as more practical at this time," he said.

There was immediate antagonistic reaction to the federation's proposal among house members. Majority Leader Rayburn, Democrat, Texas expressed belief the suggestion for substitution of uniform wage-hour standards for the bill's present flexible provisions would impair its chance for passage. Other members called the A. F. L.'s plan unconstitutional.

Rayburn said the federation has done nothing to warrant a change in the leadership's plans to pass the pending measure during the week of December 13 as nearly as possible in its present form.

It is that the world of light is, after all, just an old friend to one who has known it before only through the restricted sense of imagination, touch and hearing.

"A Universal Bible Sunday Meditation" and "God's Word" are the topics to be considered this Sabbath. The folk of Christendom are thinking today about the revealed will of God, and in keeping with the plan we shall offer two messages. The Psalmist understood the value of Scriptural knowledge. It gave him victory over sin. It kept him alive to the demands of God. It presented the strategy by which he was able to resist evil.

A memorial service will be held at the Sabbath school hour in the sanctuary, honoring the life and splendid services of a faithful and loyal member of this congregation, Mrs. Alice Millsaps. A Bible class in which she was interested and to which she gave years of labor will be named after her. The Ministers' Annuity Fund is before us. Have you indicated your part of the obligation? It is the desire of the local committee that the matter be brought to a successful termination by January 1, 1938. Almost cordial invitation is extended to worship with us.

Edward Farren Hayward, Pastor

In the beginning God. In the beginning of the Christian year the church calls us to think of God—God our King and our Judge in the person of Jesus Christ, the Word made flesh. The Advent cry is "Behold the King cometh unto thee." Advent puts before us four comings of our Lord: (1) His coming in great humility on the first Cnristmas day, (2) His coming in great humility in the Sacrament of the Altar. (3) His coming at death and after death the judgment. (4) His coming in power and great glory at the end of the world for the final judgment. Upon all these comings to us we should meditate during Advent. The Scriptures for the second Sunday in Advent set before us the great truth, that Holy Scriptures are given us to prepare us for the judgment, as well as to testify of Christ. In the Collect We Entreat Almighty God for grace to use the Scriptures aright, which are "able to make us wise unto Salvation." While the portion of Scriptures appointed for the Epistle sets forth Chris. as the "Root of Jesse," and the hope of the Gentiles. And the Holy Gospel makes itself felt as an overwhelming sublime prediction of the last day, and of the fearful signs which shall precede it. Services for second Sunday in Advent are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 and 10:45 a.m., the choir being present at the second celebration and singing the service, and the rector will preach. Church school will meet at 9:30 a.m. Evensong will be said and sermon preached by the rector at St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m. The church is open daily. Come in, rest and pray and give thanks.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made." (John 1). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "This creation consists of the unfolding of spiritual ideas and their identities, which are embraced in the Infinite Mind and forever reflected. These ideas range from the infinitesimal to infinity, and the higest ideas are the sons and daughters of God." (p. 502).

December 1 marks the beginning of the new church year. Our year just completed was a most successful one from every standpoint and indications point to a great year in 1938. Let every member resolve to serve better than ever before that this year may be one of great achievement in service to God and our fellowman. Sunday has been designated by the board of stewards as "Pledge Day," when members will be given an opportunity to express their intentions for the support of the church in 1938. Until there is an expression from every member we will not know what our income will be during the year and can make no definite plans. Members are urged to bear this in mind—that all pledges will be in by December 5 and our plans made before the Christmas holidays. Don't make it necessary for a committee to visit you. Our Sunday services are held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Epworth league meets at 6:30 each Sunday. The Woman's Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday for the monthly business meeting. The local board of Christian education will meet in the church office Wednesday night at 7:30. On Thursday night, our young people will entertain the Service Union of the Monroe district.

Our new church is almost completed. We will have new pews installed in the next two weeks and plan for the opening service on the night of December 17. Rev. Charles C. Robinson of Fort Worth, Tex., will begin a series of revival services with us Tuesday night, December 7. We extend a cordial invitation to his many friends and see and hear him again. FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
Jackson At Wood Street
Walter C. Scott, Minister

December 1 marks the beginning of the new church year. Our year just completed was a most successful one from every standpoint and indications point to a great year in 1938. Let every member resolve to serve better than ever before that this year may be one of great achievement in service to God and our fellowman. Sunday has been designated by the board of stewards as "Pledge Day," when members will be given an opportunity to express their intentions for the support of the church in 1938. Until there is an expression from every member we will not know what our income will be during the year and can make no definite plans. Members are urged to bear this in mind—that all pledges will be in by December 5 and our plans made before the Christmas holidays. Don't make it necessary for a committee to visit you. Our Sunday services are held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Epworth league meets at 6:30 each Sunday. The Woman's Missionary society will meet at the church Tuesday for the monthly business meeting. The local board of Christian education will meet in the church office Wednesday night at 7:30. On Thursday night, our young people will entertain the Service Union of the Monroe district.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
WEST MONROE

A.'s meet Mnoday at the church, 4:15 p.m. The Y. W. A.'s will meet Monday evening 7:00 in the home of Miss Johnette Register. The executive committee of the W. M. S. will meet Tuesday at 2 o'clock at the church. The W. M. S. will meet in regular monthly business session Tuesday, 2:30 p.m., at the church. Teacher's meeting Wednesday evening, 7 o'clock, followed by prayer meeting at 8 o'clock. Choir practice will be Thursday evening, 8 o'clock. The Sunbeam Band will meet Friday afternoon, 3:15, at the church.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Corner St. John And Oak Streets

Our aim: Every member present on time; a studied lesson with a mind to learn. Our Sunday school enrollment has increased in the past month. Let's keep it up. Establish an even larger enrollment for December. Be there Sunday morning. Regular church service begins at 10:50 a.m. Preaching and communion will follow immediately with Rev. R. T. Watson, pastor of the First Christian church of Bryan, O., delivering the sermon. Christian Endeavors will meet at 6:30 p.m. Rev. Watson will again occupy the pulpit for the evening service, immediately after Christian Endeavor. We wish to announce that our pulpit will continue to be filled each Sunday by some visiting pastor until definite arrangements have been made for our future regular minister.

INDUSTRIAL AND BUSINESS REVIEW OF THE TWIN CITIES NORTH LOUISIANA'S COMMERCIAL CENTER

BAKERY FEATURING CHRISTMAS CAKES

Mel-O-Fruits May Be Had At North Fourth Street Plant Or Groceries

Why spend hours in the kitchen baking Christmas fruit cakes when you can buy them. Not just ordinary fruit cakes, but Mel-O-Fruit cakes, baked by the maker of Mel-O-Toast bread, City Bakery, 320 North Fourth street.

The price? Merely 50 cents a pound.

Mel-O-Fruit cakes may be had either at the bakery or at your grocer's. And in nifty holiday attire.

Unsurpassed as an article to have around the house for holiday parties and meals, Mel-O-Fruit cakes make swell Christmas gifts.

You can get them wrapped in celophane, in celophane boxes, in sturdy mahogany-colored boxes and in sateen aluminum serving ovens.

When the cake is removed from the serving oven, the latter makes an attractive, useful utensil. It is excellent for reheating, recrisping and refreshing various foods.

Mel-O-Fruit cakes vary in weight from one to five pounds.

City Bakery, the telephone number of which is 848, is also featuring angel food cakes for Christmas. These are the famous Betty Crocker 13-egg angel food cakes. Made in two sizes, they sell for 25 and 39 cents.

Snow White Cuts Dyeing Cost Fourth

Overstocked on dye, Snow White Cleaners, 2215 DeSiard street, is anxious to convert the commodity into cash. As a consequence, the establishment, the telephone number of which is 4300, has slashed its dyeing prices 25 per cent.

And such a cut really means something at Snow White Cleaners, for the firm is noted for its reasonable prices, said to be the lowest on dyeing in this vicinity.

Save one-fourth by having your dyeing done now at Snow White Cleaners. Spruce up for Christmas. Let Snow White Cleaners make those old garments look like new ones.

All dyeing at Snow White Cleaners is done under the personal supervision of A. L. Parker, owner of the establishment. He said he can dye any kind of fabric any color desired. All work is guaranteed.

Besides dyeing, Snow White Cleaners engages in general cleaning and pressing, hat renovating and bleaching of fabrics.

INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS POPULAR

The many advantages of the new model D-300 cab-over-engine Internationals in a city delivery program are becoming increasingly apparent in the operations of numerous business concerns, according to Godfrey Williams, manager of the Monroe store of the International Harvester company, located at 720 DeSiard street.

"In the first place, the drivers like cab-over-engine Internationals," Mr. Williams said. "They comment on the riding quality, the maneuverability in heavy traffic, the ease of parking in crowded streets and in small spaces behind and alongside buildings, the absence of delay in getting to the dock for loading and unloading, because with the shorter overall length the limited space accommodates more truck.

"As a result of these advantages," Mr. Williams said, "dock crews load and unload more units in less time, the trucks get away quicker, drivers save steps at nearly every stop, more stops are made each day and consequently more sales, and drivers are less fatigued when the day's work is finished."

Owners of D-300 International fleets can now store eight cab-over-engine trucks where seven conventional trucks with bodies of the same size once stood, due to the fact that the ratio of storage space conservation is about eight to seven in favor of the cab-over-engine truck, body size remaining the same. Conservation of storage space is an important factor in reducing fixed costs in a city delivery operation, Mr. Williams pointed out.

"More favorable distribution of gross load and payload provided by the D-300 also results in more even tire wear, longer tire life, more even brake wear and longer chassis life," Mr. Williams concluded.

FLOURNOY 'DARNS' FENDERS, BODIES

Wrecked Automobiles Reconditioned At Repair Shop In West Monroe

Those whose memories stretch back a decade or two are familiar with the art (or science) of darning. When mother got through with holes in a pair of socks or stockings, the footwear looked better than new.

Today, E. K. Flournoy, operating a general automotive repair shop at 704 Trenton street, West Monroe, is applying that same art (or science) to automobile tops, bodies and fenders. When he and his workmen get through with a car, no matter how badly it has been wrecked, it looks better than new.

Just because a hole has been knocked in a fender, Mr. Flournoy doesn't replace it with a new one. Just because a body panel or a section of a top has been gashed, he doesn't replace it with a new panel or a new section. He "darns" the hole or gash with his welding equipment, the latest obtainable.

Mr. Flournoy thereby effects a material saving for the motorist whose automobile has been wrecked.

Besides reconditioning tops, bodies and fenders, Mr. Flournoy engages in general motor repairs, automobile upholstering work and electric and acetylene welding of every description.

Although he has just branched into automobile repair work, Mr. Flournoy is not new to the garage business. While affiliated some years ago, with Wagner Electric company in St. Louis, Mo., he engaged, for a long while, in the installation of new electrical devices in automobiles.

In addition to operating an automobile repair shop, Mr. Flournoy is affiliated with the firm of Flournoy and McElroy, electrical contractors. This concern shares quarters with the garage. These quarters are located on Trenton street, just north of the new bridge across Ouachita river, in West Monroe.

The telephone number of the shop is 2817.

Its patrons don't dress up and come to town to shop for their groceries, meats, vegetables and poultry. They devote that time to something else. They don't burn gasoline and wear out their automobiles and tires in driving to and from the store. They don't run up their cleaning and pressing bills by venturing out on a rainy day. They don't worry about the next meal when their supply of cash is at a low ebb.

They take advantage of the delivery and credit facilities of the grocery. The establishment utilizes bicycles as well as a truck in delivering orders and extends credit to reliable persons either on a weekly, semi-monthly or monthly basis.

Bunn Offers Profits To Customers

Entering into the Christmas spirit, T. O. Bunn Music company, 415 DeSiard street, in appreciation of the splendid patronage it has experienced since opening for business in Monroe a number of years ago, is going to share its profits with its cash customers—from Monday through the close of business Christmas eve.

It is doing so through a coupon appearing on this page of The Monroe Morning World. It entitles its holder to a 10 per cent discount on all cash spent at the store from the time it opens Monday, December 6, until the time it closes December 24.

The discount not only applies to list prices of all purchases, but to down payments, payments on account and to settlements in full.

Be sure and clip the coupons and take advantage of the saving offered by T. O. Bunn Music company.

The concern, which is in a position to offer terms to responsible persons on all the merchandise it sells, handles General Electric radios, the Regent and Harry Pedler lines of band instruments, Slingerland guitars and drums, the famous Gretsch line of guitars, the Straube line of pianos, ukeleles, all the latest hits in phonograph records and sheet music and music supplies of every kind.

Remember, clip the coupon. That is the only way you can get the 10 per cent discount. It will save you 10 cents on every $1 you spend, 1 cent on every dime.

But only one coupon will be applied to a purchase or a payment. Tow coupons will not entitle you to a 20 per cent discount, and so on.

However, one will save a liberal amount. So clip it.

Mel-O-Fruits May Be Had At North Fourth Street Plant Or Groceries

Why spend hours in the kitchen baking Christmas fruit cakes when you can buy them. Not just ordinary fruit cakes, but Mel-O-Fruit cakes, baked by the maker of Mel-O-Toast bread, City Bakery, 320 North Fourth street.

The price? Merely 50 cents a pound. Mel-O-Fruit cakes may be had either at the bakery or at your grocer's. And in nifty holiday attire.

Unsurpassed as an article to have around the house for holiday parties and meals, Mel-O-Fruit cakes make swell Christmas gifts.

You can get them wrapped in celophane, in celophane boxes, in sturdy mahogany-colored boxes and in sateen aluminum serving ovens.

When the cake is removed from the serving oven, the latter makes an attractive, useful utensil. It is excellent for reheating, recrisping and refreshing various foods.

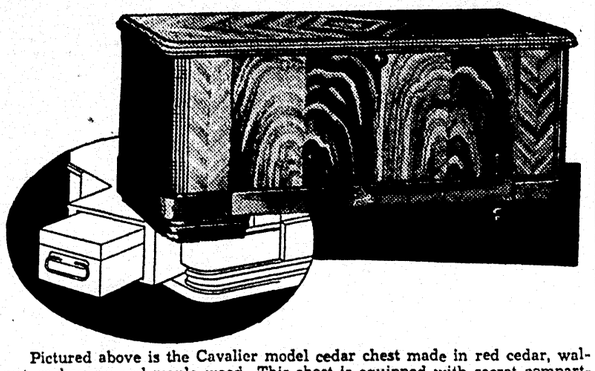

Mel-O-Fruit cakes vary in weight from one to five pounds.

City Bakery, the telephone number of which is 848, is also featuring angel food cakes for Christmas. These are the famous Betty Crocker 13-egg angel food cakes. Made in two sizes, they sell for 25 and 39 cents.

Mel-O-Fruit cakes are on display in one of the windows of City Bakery. The cakes occupy the center of a Christmas scene depicted in toys. To the left is a church, toward which a sled is being driven. To the right is a home. Apparently Santa Claus is in the house, for his sled is in front of the residence. Everything is covered with snow.

At sea level, the boiling point of water is 212 degrees. For each 550 feet above sea level, the boiling point drops 1 degree.

MODERN CEDAR CHEST

Pictured above is the Cavalier model cedar chest made in red cedar, walnut, mahogany and maple wood. This chest is equipped with secret compartments and trays, combination lock the same as on a safe and is well constructed and finished. It makes a fine appearance in any home and is featured by the Home Furniture company, 501-11 DeSiard street, Monroe. These chests are priced from $15 to $50 and are sold on convenient terms.

Snow White Cuts Dyeing Cost Fourth

Overstocked on dye, Snow White Cleaners, 2215 DeSiard street, is anxious to convert the commodity into cash. As a consequence, the establishment, the telephone number of which is 4300, has slashed its dyeing prices 25 per cent.

And such a cut really means something at Snow White Cleaners, for the firm is noted for its reasonable prices, said to be the lowest on dyeing in this vicinity.

Save one-fourth by having your dyeing done now at Snow White Cleaners. Spruce up for Christmas. Let Snow White Cleaners make those old garments look like new ones.

All dyeing at Snow White Cleaners is done under the personal supervision of A. L. Parker, owner of the establishment. He said he can dye any kind of fabric any color desired. All work is guaranteed.

Besides dyeing, Snow White Cleaners engages in general cleaning and pressing, hat renovating and bleaching of fabrics.

Girls and boys between 18 months and 4 years of age average about 36 minutes of crying every 24 hours, tests have revealed.

INTERNATIONAL TRUCKS POPULAR

The many advantages of the new model D-300 cab-over-engine Internationals in a city delivery program are becoming increasingly apparent in the operations of numerous business concerns, according to Godfrey Williams, manager of the Monroe store of the International Harvester company, located at 720 DeSiard street.

"In the first place, the drivers like cab-over-engine Internationals," Mr. Williams said. "They comment on the riding quality, the maneuverability in heavy traffic, the ease of parking in crowded streets and in small spaces behind and alongside buildings, the absence of delay in getting to the dock for loading and unloading, because with the shorter overall length the limited space accommodates more truck.

"As a result of these advantages," Mr. Williams said, "dock crews load and unload more units in less time, the trucks get away quicker, drivers save steps at nearly every stop, more stops are made each day and consequently more sales, and drivers are less fatigued when the day's work is finished."

Owners of D-300 International fleets can now store eight cab-over-engine trucks where seven conventional trucks with bodies of the same size once stood, due to the fact that the ratio of storage space conservation is about eight to seven in favor of the cab-over-engine truck, body size remaining the same. Conservation of storage space is an important factor in reducing fixed costs in a city delivery operation, Mr. Williams pointed out.

"More favorable distribution of gross load and payload provided by the D-300 also results in more even tire wear, longer tire life, more even brake wear and longer chassis life," Mr. Williams concluded.

FLOURNOY 'DARNS' FENDERS, BODIES

Wrecked Automobiles Reconditioned At Repair Shop In West Monroe

Those whose memories stretch back a decade or two are familiar with the art (or science) of darning. When mother got through with holes in a pair of socks or stockings, the footwear looked better than new.

Today, E. K. Flournoy, operating a general automotive repair shop at 704 Trenton street, West Monroe, is applying that same art (or science) to automobile tops, bodies and fenders. When he and his workmen get through with a car, no matter how badly it has been wrecked, it looks better than new.

Just because a hole has been knocked in a fender, Mr. Flournoy doesn't replace it with a new one. Just because a body panel or a section of a top has been gashed, he doesn't replace it with a new panel or a new section. He "darns" the hole or gash with his welding equipment, the latest obtainable.

Mr. Flournoy thereby effects a material saving for the motorist whose automobile has been wrecked.

Besides reconditioning tops, bodies and fenders, Mr. Flournoy engages in general motor repairs, automobile upholstering work and electric and acetylene welding of every description.

Although he has just branched into automobile repair work, Mr. Flournoy is not new to the garage business. While affiliated some years ago, with Wagner Electric company in St. Louis, Mo., he engaged, for a long while, in the installation of new electrical devices in automobiles.

In addition to operating an automobile repair shop, Mr. Flournoy is affiliated with the firm of Flournoy and McElroy, electrical contractors. This concern shares quarters with the garage. These quarters are located on Trenton street, just north of the new bridge across Ouachita river, in West Monroe.

The telephone number of the shop is 2817.

Breard Grocery, 401 Washington street, is as near to you as your telephone. All you have to do is call 177 or 486, give your order and presto! It's delivered to your back door. The establishment prides itself on its rapid free delivery.

Its patrons don't dress up and come to town to shop for their groceries, meats, vegetables and poultry. They devote that time to something else. They don't burn gasoline and wear out their automobiles and tires in driving to and from the store. They don't run up their cleaning and pressing bills by venturing out on a rainy day. They don't worry about the next meal when their supply of cash is at a low ebb.

They take advantage of the delivery and credit facilities of the grocery. The establishment utilizes bicycles as well as a truck in delivering orders and extends credit to reliable persons either on a weekly, semi-monthly or monthly basis.

The hamburgers, as well as the hot dogs, are priced at 5 cents.

The telephone number of the company is 670.

The 1935 farm population of the United States was 31,800,907.

Bunn Offers Profits To Customers

Entering into the Christmas spirit, T. O. Bunn Music company, 415 DeSiard street, in appreciation of the splendid patronage it has experienced since opening for business in Monroe a number of years ago, is going to share its profits with its cash customers—from Monday through the close of business Christmas eve.

It is doing so through a coupon appearing on this page of The Monroe Morning World. It entitles its holder to a 10 per cent discount on all cash spent at the store from the time it opens Monday, December 6, until the time it closes December 24.

The discount not only applies to list prices of all purchases, but to down payments, payments on account and to settlements in full.

Be sure and clip the coupons and take advantage of the saving offered by T. O. Bunn Music company.

The concern, which is in a position to offer terms to responsible persons on all the merchandise it sells, handles General Electric radios, the Regent and Harry Pedler lines of band instruments, Slingerland guitars and drums, the famous Gretsch line of guitars, the Straube line of pianos, ukeleles, all the latest hits in phonograph records and sheet music and music supplies of every kind.

Everything handled by T. O. Bunn Music company is of the highest quality and the firm stands behind each item it sells.

The telephone number of the concern is 1825.

Remember, clip the coupon. That is the only way you can get the 10 per cent discount. It will save you 10 cents on every $1 you spend, 1 cent on every dime.

But only one coupon will be applied to a purchase or a payment. Tow coupons will not entitle you to a 20 per cent discount, and so on.

However, one will save a liberal amount. So clip it.

LEADING BANKERS SEE RECESSION END

strated change in attitude on the part of the administration toward business.

Ranking first among recovery measures suggested, Lewis said, was repeal of the undistributed earnings tax; next, balancing of the budget; third, lowering of taxes on capital gains; fourth, increase in rail freight rates to provide reasonable return on investment, and fifth, encouragement to utilities to promote expansion.

Replies also stressed necessity of a satisfactory settlement of the labor problem. Lewis quoted the head of a large middlewestern bank as saying "the responsibility of labor unions is still a major factor which retards recovery," and another banker said a change in governmental attitude toward the labor question was necessary.

Lewis said, "In view of the recent announcement as to the administration program to bring about revival of building on a broad scale, it is significant that the bankers did not think this would be as important a factor as the other measures in promoting business recovery."

One banker was quoted as saying, "I am fearful that the housing program might be extended too greatly by public grants which I think would be an unnecessary stimulant and might react in too much of a building boom and the consequent reaction."

The executive of a big bank in the south said "Our principal reason for believing the current recession in business is not to assume the characteristics of a general major depression is that none of the monetary influences exist today which have usually existed prior to previous major depressions.

"Bank reserves, excess reserves and other banking funds for lending at current low rates of interest are at a high point and there is apparently a plethora of funds for building and other legitimate uses at exceptionally reasonable rates. There has been no serious over-expansion of credit and there should, therefore, be no corresponding disastrous contraction. We feel rather that the slump is largely due to the reaction from an over-anticipation of business inflation and to the failure of expected building activity to fully develop."

Flush Poisons From Kidneys And Stop Getting Up Nights

Be Healthier, Happier—Live Longer

When you can get for 35 cents a supremely efficient and harmless stimulant and diuretic that will flush from your kidneys the waste matter, poisons and acid that are now doing you harm, why continue to break your restful slee, by getting up thru the night.

Just ask your druggist for Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—but be sure and get GOLD MEDAL—right from Haarlem in Holland. Other symptoms of weak kidneys and irritated bladder are backache, puffy eyes, leg cramps, moist palms, burning or scanty passage. —Adv.

uries, and are unable to provide their children and loved ones with the means for a festive Christmas. Therefore, I take this means of asking each one of you to give to the Good Fellows' Fund so that as many as possible can enjoy the Christmas spirit.

"I ask that you stop a minute and say, 'Thank God, I am not one of these unfortunates.'"

The names and the individual contributions accompanying this letter are as follows: Leon G. Sugar, $5; W. A. Burgoyne, $5; R. E. Marioneaux, $1; Beatrice Burgoyne, $1; George Kincaid, $1; W. C. Kelly, 50c; Mable Hunt, $1; L. C. Schneider, $1; Mrs. Alyne Newsom, $1; John M. Druett, $1; C. W. Martin, $1; Hy Williams, 50c; William Calhoun, 50c; M. B. Hearne, 50c; Fred M. This list represents 100 per cent of the employes of the company, and shows the fine spirit of good will which is manifested by the organization.

School children have caught the spirit of Good Fellowship. Today's list of contributions includes one from the Fine Arts club in the fourth grade of Georgia Tucker school, who collected $4.50 for the fund. Three northside lads pooled their contributions and sent in $1. These youngsters are anxious that other children shall have some of the pleasures of the Yuletide that they themselves are assured of enjoying.

Another fine evidence of group cooperation is that given by the members of Barkdull Faulk Post No. 13, American Legion, and the Legion Auxiliary, in sponsoring the special presentation of "The Drunkard" at the Three-Mile inn Friday night. Returns from this production have not yet been completed, pending reports of the advance ticket sale. As soon as this compilation has been made due acknowledgment will be made of the results.

Meantime, there is a growing list of the children in various homes of the city who are counting on the efforts of the Good Fellows to make their Christmas bright and joyous. A great deal more must be done before the Good Fellows will be in a position to say that their task is amply provided for.

One of the privileges of citizenship is to lend succor to less unfortunate ones, and there is no better time in the year than Christmas to do that. Donations of cash and checks should be sent to the Morning World, 110 North Second street. If you have merchandise to donate, call the Good Fellows editor, 4800, and the gifts will be collected.

the eyes of vigilant guards, the list was checked off. The three men closed the iron truck doors, slammed up the heavy tailboard, ran through an iron-lock bolt, and on its end, fastened a government padlock.

There were only two known keys for that lock—one was in Pennsylvania station, the other in the Lackawanna terminal at Hoboken.

In the bags in the truck were many registered parcels—in one little sack was $7,000 in currency, in another, a $400 piece of jewelry. In other packages addressed to banks, business firms and individuals were packets of money, of checks, of securities, mostly non-negotiable.

The truck had an easy five or ten-minute run across the dark and gloomy midtown west side streets to make the 9 o'clock ferry at 23rd street and the Hudson river.

But at 29th street and Tenth avenue a freight train pulled slowly by. The postal truck waited—exactly four minutes by the wrist watches of the impatient three men in the armored front compartment.

When the train had rattled past, the truck sped on, made the ferry, and the men got out to stretch their legs. The cautious railway mail clerk looked behind the truck.

The undamaged padlock—open—was hanging at the end of its chain.

Eleven sacks were missing.

Five of the eleven sacks, four of which contained registered mail, were found, stuffed into burlap sugar bags along with discarded, looted letters, floating in the east river, on the other side of Manhattan, yesterday, by an unemployed fisherman.

The other known facts are few: the three employes are not under suspicion, although they admittedly may be mistaken in believing the padlock was securely fastened.

moon. But the Japanese are not romantic—although they are supposed to be.

AT ANY EMBASSY ball in Washington, a young woman, dancing with a Japanese military attache, praised their art and poetry.

"That is for women and children," he said. "Our pride is in our chimneys and our battleships. Praise those if you like us. As to poetry, it is considered childish in Japan. Any Japanese can make poetry just as he speaks prose."

"Indeed! the music has nice rhythm now; suppose you make me a poem to keep time to it," she asked.

Beating time to the music he made his poem: "Come to me loff—only come! I loff you since last autumn; I loff you from heart's bottom. Come!"

Lafcadio Hearn, shortly before his death, took back everything he had ever written about the Japanese being gentle, naive and poetic. This apostasy never has been published and he is still cited for his emphasis of these endearing qualities in the Japanese make-up. His retraction of virtually everything he had ever written about Nippon was contained in letters to his friend Grant Wallace, an American correspondent in the Russo-Japanese war. I have this from a trustworthy friend, a New York newspaperman, who has examined the letters. Hearn said, in effect, that the Japanese were the most coldly realistic people in the world, despite their ritualistic elaborations of poetry and sentiment.

GETTING BACK to the bees, Foster A. Lockhart, the famous bee man of Lake George, N. Y., tells bee stories which would make it seem plausible if we heard that the Japanese taught them to goose-step and march in phalanx. It happens that he has been sending specially bred bees to Japan, and it is possible they are the ones now being recruited for war service. After 50 years of bee culture, Mr. Lockhart says bees have both personality and character. He says they dance for joy, moan with loss or bereavement and sing with happiness. He says there are racketeering and hijacking bees who just won't work. There are cadgers and no-good bees and sub-normal bees.

He has one bit of news which, if Japan hears it, probably will make her fire the whole lot of her carrier bees. They are communists, with the highest degree of living and working regimentation of any living creatures. And, says Mr. Lockhart, they have policemen, laborers, chemists, heating plant engineers, air conditioning experts, undertakers, nursemaids and structural engineers.

BEES HAVE been used in war. In some ancient Macedonian milling, I believe there is a story of one outfit routing another by tossing hives of bees. And just to bring it down to date, only last August some strikers in Montreal put the opposition on the run by heaving bee hives.

J. J. Hambleton, of the United States department of agriculture, is the most explicit authority on the subject of training bees as house pets—if you feel that you must have a pet bee. Among bee lore, I find the most fascinating books are Lubbock's "Ants, Bees and Wasps," and anything included in the vast output of that enchanting old Frenchman, Henri Fabre.

agriculture committee measure in that it would be entirely voluntary.

The agreement will go into effect Monday afternoon.

There was sentiment, however, for recommitting the farm bill to the agriculture committee for further study. Senators favoring this move argued that objections to the legislation raised by Secretary Wallace could be more expeditiously met by committee action.

With the house in recess until Monday, the senate heard Senator King, Democrat, Utah, denounce the pending farm bill as a "monstrous measure" which "will make the secretary of agriculture a dictator over the farmer."

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, broke in to compare the policies of President Roosevelt with those of President Vargas of Brazil.

King said the farm bill was a part of a "movement on foot to concentrate power in the hands of the federal government and make the states mere geographical expressions."

In senate conversations about the business situation, attention centered on a luncheon meeting of 10 senators yesterday with Lewis Douglas, a former director of the budget.

Senator Van Nuys, Democrat, Indiana, one of those who talked with Douglas, said there was no discussion of politics and that conversation centered largely on the business recession and what should be done to check it.

Douglas told the group, Van Nuys said, that repeal or modification of the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes would "help" business but "wouldn't be enough."

Gly-Cas Gives New Health To Many

Constipation and Stomach Trouble Had The Best of Miss Elias; Gly-Cas Brings Her Surprising Results.

"Gly-Cas is entitled to all its praises beyond all doubt," said Miss Nora Elias, 1812 Spain St., Baton Rouge, Louisiana. "For the past several years my entire system had been accumulating poisons caused by a bad case of constipation. My stomach refused to function properly, gas formed in abundance after each meal, heart palpitated and often became so dizzy I could hardly stand. I was terribly nervous and my kidneys became badly disordered until I was unable to get a good night's sleep. The pains in the small part of my back were unbearable. In spite of all I tried I was terribly discouraged until I was finally persuaded to give Gly-Cas a trial."

MISS NORA ELIAS

"Never before have I seen a medicine do its work as well as this new Gly-Cas," continued Miss Elias. "My bowels were regulated almost at once, the poisons were removed from my system in a most natural way and within a few days I began to eat foods that had been denied me for years without any distress afterwards. My kidneys are functioning normally, the pains in my back are gone, I get perfect sleep every night. It is wonderful to feel so good again. Gly-Cas deserves much praise for its efficacy."

Gly-Cas is sold by Phoenix Drug Co., 348 DeSiard St., this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. (Adv.)

JAPANESE ATTACK VESSEL OF MERCY

peace with the Japanese conquerors of Shanghai, who demanded freedom to enter the international settlement at will. Twice American and French troops have balked their entry.

Three Japanese staff officers apologized to Brigadier-General John C. Beaumont, United States marine commander, for their troops' intrusion on the American defense sector Friday after a hand grenade disrupted a Japanese "victory parade."

In a brush with French authorities, five Japanese army trucks at first were prevented from entering the French concession but finally were allowed to pass through under French military guard.

The demand for unrestricted entry was made to the Shanghai municipal council at the same time an army representative demanded police take steps to prevent occurrences such as marred the Friday parade. Japanese said the incident was closed.

It was understood the Japanese demands would be passed on from the municipal council to the foreign consular body for reference finally to Washington and other capitals.

(In Nanking, American citizens were warned to be ready to evacuate on short notice, possibly tomorrow, in the face of the Japanese advance toward the virtually abandoned capital.)

It was learned authoritatively that Japan would launch her biggest offensive against Nanking next week and that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has mobilized 300,000 seasoned troops to defend the city.

New appeals from American, French and British residents of Hangchow were made to save the historic city from bombardment by Japanese columns advancing south of Lake Tai. Japanese thus far have not answered the appeals.

'VICTORY' PARADE MORE THAN MARCH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Japanese "victory" parade at Shanghai which brought American-Japanese forces to the verge of a clash, was much more than a parade to the minds of military and diplomatic officials here.

Behind it, they thought, lay a Japanese attempt to apply to Chinese residents even of the foreign controlled international settlement a psychological object lesson of a sort commanders of armies of occupation always have found useful.

The march of allied and American troops to the Rhine after the armistice ended World war hostilities was more than an expedition to occupy defensive bridgeheads. It was grim demonstration to German inhabitants of the occupied area that they had been conquered.

The technique is designed to lessen the danger of civilian sniping, to break down the public will to resist the invader.

Eye-witness accounts of the bombing incident picture the Japanese troops as breaking in all directions, discipline forgotten, when the explosion came. Chinese Nationalist story-tellers will make much of that to instill fresh courage among civilians and build up the conception that despite their impressive victories, the Japanese are not invincible.

The American-Japanese clash, even with full official reports lacking, is viewed here as an incident over and done with so far as any added strain on the relations of the two governments is concerned. It may even have a helpful effect, some Washington officials believe, toward smoothing out the vexing problems of adjustment of the Shanghai international settlement affairs to Japanese military control of all surrounding regions of China.

It has at least demonstrated graphically the American position that special status of American nationals in the Shanghai concessions has not been impaired legally or in fact by an undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

AMERICANS WARNED TO BE READY TO FLEE

NANKING, Dec. 4.—(AP)—American citizens were warned today to be ready to quit Nanking at short notice—possibly tomorrow—as Japanese columns pressed their advance on China's virtually abandoned capital.

United States embassy officials told Americans to be prepared to go aboard the gunboat Panay for safety. The skeleton embassy was left behind by Ambassador Nelson Johnson when he evacuated his staff with the Chinese government. The Panay remained as a last-minute refuge for the some 30 Americans who insisted on staying in the threatened city.

Japanese bombing planes persistently and accurately were bombing military objectives within and without the city. Chinese military commanders admitted the Japanese columns were within 60 miles of the city and redoubled their defense preparations.

Long lines of troops moved through the city toward the suburban defense positions. The columns included hundreds of fresh levies whose only military equipment was rifles and bandoliers. The supply of uniforms was exhausted long ago.

Defense authorities were evacuating whole villages and all women and children from a 20-mile semi-circular area in which elaborate fortifications are being raised. The trees which made the Ming tombs and the Sun Yat-Sen mausoleum outside Nanking two of modern China's most beautiful spots fell under military axes. Tacticians ordered them cut to clear a field of fire along the hillsides.

CHILDREN GIVE TOYS

The children's Christmas matinee, held at the Capitol theater Saturday, was much enjoyed by the youngsters, although the attendance was less than would have been the case had the day been less inclement. Admission was paid by each youngster by the giving of an old toy, slightly broken or damaged but able to be repaired. These toys will be reconstructed at the toy shop and will be donated to the Good Fellows as presents for less fortunate children at Christmas time.

O. E. S. TO MEET

Past matrons and past patrons of the Order of Eastern star, district No. 4, will meet at the local Masonic temple, Thursday at 6:30 p.m. A banquet will be served after which the Alexandria club will be in charge of the initiation.

ATTENDS CONENTION

George J. Mallett, of the J. C. Steele Lumber company, Inc., left here last night for Kansas City, Mo., where he will attend the 125th annual convention of the Devoe-Raynold Paint company. He plans to be in Kansas City several days.

RESIGNATION WON'T STOP INVESTIGATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Tammany District Leader Albert Marinelli's resignation under fire as New York county clerk will not save him from further investigation, it became apparent today as the United States attorney's office began where Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey left off.

Assistant United States Attorney Seymour Klein arranged with Dewey's chief assistant, Jacob Rosenblum, to turn over Dewey's evidence against Marinelli to a federal grand jury.

One of the new charges made by Dewey in his letter to the governor was that Marinelli harbored Charles Falci while Falci was a fugitive from federal justice.

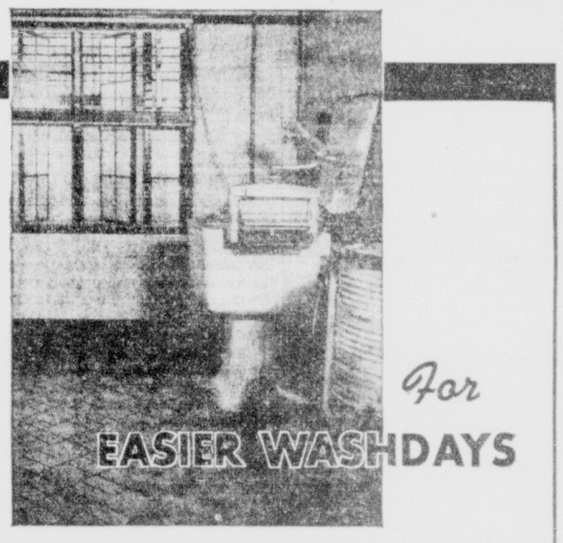

Falci, a Marinelli election inspector, was indicted by the federal grand jury for an election fraud.

Dailey said today the old grand jury investigation in the Falci case has been reopened, but that it has not yet been determined whether there is sufficient evidence to justify issuing a warrant charging anyone with harboring a fugitive.

NEGRO ARRESTED IN THEFT OF SHOTGUN

Arrested in Donaldsonville, La., yesterday afternoon, Taylor Bowman, 23-year-old negro, formerly employed by R. H. Oliver, Jr., of Monroe, will be returned to Ouachita parish to face a charge of larceny in connection with the theft of a shotgun belonging to Mr. Oliver.

Sheriff Milton Coverdale reported the negro borrowed the shotgun from his employer last Tuesday, promising to return it the following day. The negro failed to show up and Mr. Oliver, becoming suspicious, informed the sheriff's office, who located the gun at a local pawnshop.

H. A. Averette yesterday was arrested by the sheriff's department on a peace warrant and placed in the Ouachita parish jail.

Cut down the expense of Game Wardens and put shotgun ammunition monopolies out of business. This receipt has just recently been discovered in the marsh lands near Lake Charles, La., and is a howling success, especially on a bright sunshiny day. Antelopes on the plains have a great curiosity for the color red and a red flag is often used while stalking them. This new duck persuader consists of a clean shave. The hunter should have a red, rosy complexion, a cheerful as well as a hopeful disposition, wear a large bright yellow necktie, a snow white shirt and sandpaper the barrel of his gun very, very bright.

Gun barrels treated in this manner seem to have about the same effect on the ducks' noodles that the Roosevelt crystal has on the average relief workers' mind—at any rate the ducks close their wings while descending, cross their legs, ready and willing to abide by any and all game and fish laws written by mere man and not enforced by the same PUSSON.

Our present two hundred and fifty-two pounds of governor can put you wise as to taming deer on the Singer Sewing Machine Reservation, Tensas River, with Joe Austin's three barrel gun. At any rate, all ducks to date captured alive swear without cussing.

Ranking first among recovery measures suggested, Lewis said, was repeal of the undistributed earnings tax; next, balancing of the budget; third, lowering of taxes on capital gains; fourth, increase in rail freight rates to provide reasonable return on investment, and fifth, encouragement to utilities to promote expansion.

Replies also stressed necessity of a satisfactory settlement of the labor problem. Lewis quoted the head of a large middlewestern bank as saying "the responsibility of labor unions is still a major factor which retards recovery," and another banker said a change in governmental attitude toward the labor question was necessary.

Lewis said, "In view of the recent announcement as to the administration program to bring about revival of building on a broad scale, it is significant that the bankers did not think this would be as important a factor as the other measures in promoting business recovery."

One banker was quoted as saying, "I am fearful that the housing program might be extended too greatly by public grants which I think would be an unnecessary stimulant and might react in too much of a building boom and the consequent reaction."

The executive of a big bank in the south said "Our principal reason for believing the current recession in business is not to assume the characteristics of a general major depression is that none of the monetary influences exist today which have usually existed prior to previous major depressions.

"Bank reserves, excess reserves and other banking funds for lending at current low rates of interest are at a high point and there is apparently a plethora of funds for building and other legitimate uses at exceptionally reasonable rates. There has been no serious over-expansion of credit and there should, therefore, be no corresponding disastrous contraction. We feel rather that the slump is largely due to the reaction from an over-anticipation of business inflation and to the failure of expected building activity to fully develop."

BEES HAVE been used in war. In some ancient Macedonian milling, I believe there is a story of one outfit routing another by tossing hives of bees. And just to bring it down to date, only last August some strikers in Montreal put the opposition on the run by heaving bee hives.

J. J. Hambleton, of the United States department of agriculture, is the most explicit authority on the subject of training bees as house pets—if you feel that you must have a pet bee. Among bee lore, I find the most fascinating books are Lubbock's "Ants, Bees and Wasps," and anything included in the vast output of that enchanting old Frenchman, Henri Fabre.

agriculture committee measure in that it would be entirely voluntary.

The agreement will go into effect Monday afternoon.

There was sentiment, however, for recommitting the farm bill to the agriculture committee for further study. Senators favoring this move argued that objections to the legislation raised by Secretary Wallace could be more expeditiously met by committee action.

With the house in recess until Monday, the senate heard Senator King, Democrat, Utah, denounce the pending farm bill as a "monstrous measure" which "will make the secretary of agriculture a dictator over the farmer."

Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, broke in to compare the policies of President Roosevelt with those of President Vargas of Brazil.

King said the farm bill was a part of a "movement on foot to concentrate power in the hands of the federal government and make the states mere geographical expressions."

In senate conversations about the business situation, attention centered on a luncheon meeting of 10 senators yesterday with Lewis Douglas, a former director of the budget.

Senator Van Nuys, Democrat, Indiana, one of those who talked with Douglas, said there was no discussion of politics and that conversation centered largely on the business recession and what should be done to check it.

Douglas told the group, Van Nuys said, that repeal or modification of the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes would "help" business but "wouldn't be enough."

JAPANESE ATTACK VESSEL OF MERCY

peace with the Japanese conquerors of Shanghai, who demanded freedom to enter the international settlement at will. Twice American and French troops have balked their entry.

Three Japanese staff officers apologized to Brigadier-General John C. Beaumont, United States marine commander, for their troops' intrusion on the American defense sector Friday after a hand grenade disrupted a Japanese "victory parade."

In a brush with French authorities, five Japanese army trucks at first were prevented from entering the French concession but finally were allowed to pass through under French military guard.

The demand for unrestricted entry was made to the Shanghai municipal council at the same time an army representative demanded police take steps to prevent occurrences such as marred the Friday parade. Japanese said the incident was closed.

It was understood the Japanese demands would be passed on from the municipal council to the foreign consular body for reference finally to Washington and other capitals.

(In Nanking, American citizens were warned to be ready to evacuate on short notice, possibly tomorrow, in the face of the Japanese advance toward the virtually abandoned capital.)

It was learned authoritatively that Japan would launch her biggest offensive against Nanking next week and that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek has mobilized 300,000 seasoned troops to defend the city.

New appeals from American, French and British residents of Hangchow were made to save the historic city from bombardment by Japanese columns advancing south of Lake Tai. Japanese thus far have not answered the appeals.

'VICTORY' PARADE MORE THAN MARCH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Japanese "victory" parade at Shanghai which brought American-Japanese forces to the verge of a clash, was much more than a parade to the minds of military and diplomatic officials here.

Behind it, they thought, lay a Japanese attempt to apply to Chinese residents even of the foreign controlled international settlement a psychological object lesson of a sort commanders of armies of occupation always have found useful.

The march of allied and American troops to the Rhine after the armistice ended World war hostilities was more than an expedition to occupy defensive bridgeheads. It was grim demonstration to German inhabitants of the occupied area that they had been conquered.

The technique is designed to lessen the danger of civilian sniping, to break down the public will to resist the invader.

Eye-witness accounts of the bombing incident picture the Japanese troops as breaking in all directions, discipline forgotten, when the explosion came. Chinese Nationalist story-tellers will make much of that to instill fresh courage among civilians and build up the conception that despite their impressive victories, the Japanese are not invincible.

The American-Japanese clash, even with full official reports lacking, is viewed here as an incident over and done with so far as any added strain on the relations of the two governments is concerned. It may even have a helpful effect, some Washington officials believe, toward smoothing out the vexing problems of adjustment of the Shanghai international settlement affairs to Japanese military control of all surrounding regions of China.

It has at least demonstrated graphically the American position that special status of American nationals in the Shanghai concessions has not been impaired legally or in fact by an undeclared Sino-Japanese war.

AMERICANS WARNED TO BE READY TO FLEE

NANKING, Dec. 4.—(AP)—American citizens were warned today to be ready to quit Nanking at short notice—possibly tomorrow—as Japanese columns pressed their advance on China's virtually abandoned capital.

United States embassy officials told Americans to be prepared to go aboard the gunboat Panay for safety. The skeleton embassy was left behind by Ambassador Nelson Johnson when he evacuated his staff with the Chinese government. The Panay remained as a last-minute refuge for the some 30 Americans who insisted on staying in the threatened city.

Japanese bombing planes persistently and accurately were bombing military objectives within and without the city. Chinese military commanders admitted the Japanese columns were within 60 miles of the city and redoubled their defense preparations.

Long lines of troops moved through the city toward the suburban defense positions. The columns included hundreds of fresh levies whose only military equipment was rifles and bandoliers. The supply of uniforms was exhausted long ago.

Defense authorities were evacuating whole villages and all women and children from a 20-mile semi-circular area in which elaborate fortifications are being raised. The trees which made the Ming tombs and the Sun Yat-Sen mausoleum outside Nanking two of modern China's most beautiful spots fell under military axes. Tacticians ordered them cut to clear a field of fire along the hillsides.

lating poisons caused by a bad case of constipation. My stomach refused to function properly, gas formed in abundance after each meal, heart palpitated and often became so dizzy I could hardly stand. I was terribly nervous and my kidneys became badly disordered until I was unable to get a good night's sleep. The pains in the small part of my back were unbearable. In spite of all I tried I was terribly discouraged until I was finally persuaded to give Gly-Cas a trial."

"Never before have I seen a medicine do its work as well as this new Gly-Cas," continued Miss Elias. "My bowels were regulated almost at once, the poisons were removed from my system in a most natural way and within a few days I began to eat foods that had been denied me for years without any distress afterwards. My kidneys are functioning normally, the pains in my back are gone. I get perfect sleep every night. It is wonderful to feel so good again. Gly-Cas deserves much praise for its efficacy."

CHILDREN GIVE TOYS

The children's Christmas matinee, held at the Capitol theater Saturday, was much enjoyed by the youngsters, although the attendance was less than would have been the case had the day been less inclement. Admission was paid by each youngster by the giving of an old toy, slightly broken or damaged but able to be repaired. These toys will be reconstructed at the toy shop and will be donated to the Good Fellows as presents for less fortunate children at Christmas time.

O. E. S. TO MEET

Past matrons and past patrons of the Order of Eastern star, district No. 4, will meet at the local Masonic temple, Thursday at 6:30 p.m. A banquet will be served after which the Alexandria club will be in charge of the initiation.

ATTENDS CONENTION

George J. Mallett, of the J. C. Steele Lumber company, Inc., left here last night for Kansas City, Mo., where he will attend the 125th annual convention of the Devoe-Raynold Paint company. He plans to be in Kansas City several days.

RESIGNATION WON'T STOP INVESTIGATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Tammany District Leader Albert Marinelli's resignation under fire as New York county clerk will not save him from further investigation, it became apparent today as the United States attorney's office began where Special Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey left off.

Assistant United States Attorney Seymour Klein arranged with Dewey's chief assistant, Jacob Rosenblum, to turn over Dewey's evidence against Marinelli to a federal grand jury.

One of the new charges made by Dewey in his letter to the governor was that Marinelli harbored Charles Falci while Falci was a fugitive from federal justice.

Falci, a Marinelli election inspector, was indicted by the federal grand jury for an election fraud.

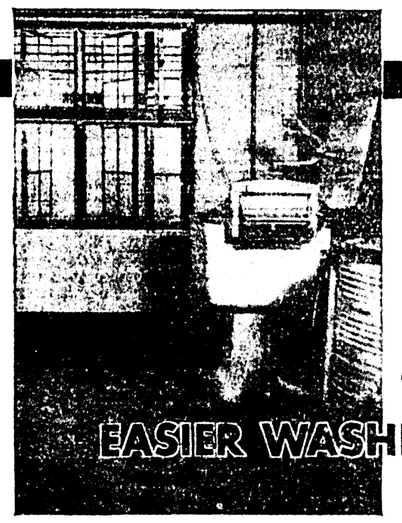

Dailey said today the old grand jury investigation in the Falci case has been reopened but that it has not yet been determined whether there is sufficient evidence to justify issuing a warrant charging anyone with harboring a fugitive.

How to Preserve Wild Ducks

Cut down the expense of Game Wardens and put shotgun ammunition monopolies out of business. This receipt has just recently been discovered in the marsh lands near Lake Charles, La., and is a howling success, especially on a bright sunshiny day. Antelopes on the plains have a great curiosity for the color red and a red flag is often used while stalking them. This new duck persuader consists of a clean shave. The hunter should have a red, rosy complexion, a cheerful as well as a hopeful disposition, wear a large bright yellow necktie, a snow white shirt and sandpaper the barrel of his gun very, very bright.

Gun barrels treated in this manner seem to have about the same effect on the ducks' noodles that the Roosevelt crystal has on the average relief workers' mind—at any rate the ducks close their wings while descending, cross their legs, ready and willing to abide by any and all game and fish laws written by mere man and not enforced by the same PUSSON.

Our present two hundred and fifty-two pounds of governor can put you wise as to taming deer on the Singer Sewing Machine Reservation, Tensas River, with Joe Austin's three barrel gun. At any rate, all ducks to date captured alive swear without cussing.

TECH BATTLES CENTENARY TO 7-7 DEADLOCK

BULLDOGS SCORE EARLY WITH TWO PERFECT PASSES

and after losing two yards on a line play, Darling kicked to Centenary's 40-yard line and the ball was killed. Bynum went wide around his right end for 13 yards and a first down but on the next play Bynum fumbled and Aloys Adkins recovered for Tech on the Bulldogs' 47-yard line and the first break went to the Techmen. Eagar gained three yards and then, apparently smothered on attempt to pass, he faded 'way back, started to run around his right end, but paused momentarily and heaved a beautiful pass to Funderburk, the Wisner end, who took it in on the 20 and battled his way to the 14 before he was stopped by Bynum, Centenary safety man. Alton Westbrook gained one yard and then Eagar passed to Funderburk again. Fundy took the ball on the five, eluded the safety man and scored the first touchdown after seven minutes of play, as the crowd went wild. Eagar kicked the extra point to give the Bulldogs' a 7-0 lead.

After an exchange of punts following the kickoff, Centenary got its first break when Don Darling's kick came down on Tech's 47 and was killed. A forward pass and a running play by Bynum netted a three-yard loss. However, Tech also was forced to punt and Bynum downed it on the Tech 49. A pass from Bynum to Birkelbach gained 10 yards and a first down and then Bynum got loose wide around his left end and sprinted to the 19-yard line, a 20-yard gain, for another first down. Tech was penalized 15 yards for roughness, placing the oval on the Bulldog four. "Grandma" Stone, who went into the game for Centenary in Bynum's place, gained a yard and then, on the second play, went through a big hole at right guard and crossed the goal line standing up. Birkelbach kicked the extra point and the ball game was tied up, 7-7.

The remainder of the quarter was a punting duel, with Darling having the edge over Stone, and the period ended with Tech in possession on Centenary's 46 and first down and 10 to go.

Tech sent in an entire new team at the start of the second quarter and Centenary made three substitutions.

After an exchange of punts, the Bulldogs were placed in a hole when Stone kicked out of bounds on the Tech 12. Don Wiley kicked out to his own 40 and Stone returned to the 36. Stone lost five on the first play but got loose on the next attempt, squirmed away from at least four Bulldogs, who apparently had him stopped, and reached the Tech 18 before Wiley stopped him. Stone gained one yard and then Lingo picked up eight to put the ball on the nine. On the next play the Bulldogs swarmed over Stone and he lost two yards. The Techmen again put up a magnificent defense and, on fourth down, Stone was thrown for another yard loss, Tech taking the ball on their 12. Wiley then got off a beautiful punt to remove the threat, the ball going out of bounds on Centenary's 35-yard line.

Neither team threatened in the remaining minutes of the first half and the score was still deadlocked at the rest period.

The entire third quarter was a punting duel, with neither team able to get very far with their offense. Tech made the only first down of the period when Westbrook skirted end for 20 yards. On the last play of the quarter, an intercepted pass gave Tech the ball on the Centenary 38-yard line.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Adams dropped a pass that would have meant a Bulldog touchdown. Another pass was incomplete and then a running play lost four yards. Barnett then kicked out of bounds of Centenary's 28-yard line.

Centenary drove hard after that play, and two first downs, featured by a 24-yard run by Bynum, placed the ball on Tech's 24-yard line. The entire team that started the game rushed back into the fray for the Bulldogs. Three thrusts at the line gained seven yards and a fourth smash into the Tech forwards failed to make a first down, and Tech took possession on their 15-yard line to halt that drive. Tech immediately kicked out of danger.

On Centenary's first play from the Tech 42-yard line, the Gents fumbled and Tech recovered on the Centenary 49. Eagar dropped back to pass, was smothered and then skirted his left end for 16 yards and a first down on Centenary's 33-yard line, a jaunt that immediately changed the complexion of the ball game. A 15-yard penalty for holding, however, set the Bulldogs back to midfield. That wouldn't have been so bad if, on the next play, a Tech receiver hadn't dropped a perfect pass that would have netted at least 15 yards. On the following play, Lingo intercepted a Tech pass on Centenary's 21-yard line and Tech's drive was stopped.

Centenary made a first down as a result of a five-yard penalty against Tech but the subsequent running plays lost four yards as the hard-charging Tech line smothered every attempt. Bynum then got off a beautiful punt that was killed on the Bulldogs' 19-yard line with three minutes left of the ball game.

Sports Chatter

By GEORGE V. LOFTON

After acting as though it preferred to play Amherst or Johns Hopkins, California winds up with a representative and worthy opponent in the Rose Bowl, January 1.

The current and young Alabama varsity may not be the equal of two or three of its predecessors which appeared at Pasadena, but it's a determined and well-drilled team, and the Tuscaloosa tribe's nickname, Red Elephants, always was a misnomer.

Alabama was California's second choice, but what institution in need of funds wouldn't want $110,000, which should be each club's share with the the top tariff jacked up to $5.50?

California handled the situation all right once it settled down to inviting, but the pre-bid talk on the golden slope did the football department of the Tournament of Roses no good.

While the Pittsburgh players were fed up, the statement by California officials that they'd like their opponents to wear the cloaks of appropriate scholarship rating, undoubtedly had some bearing on the Panthers' refusal to make the trip to the coast.

It was reported that President Rob-

LAIN STARS AS OWLS RALLY TO TRIM MUSTANGS

Methodists Score First But Stellar Soph Turns Tide For Houston Team

By Felix R. McKnight

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Off the bench came the greatest "substitute" in the business today, Burly Ernie Lain of Rice institute, to crush Southern Methodist, 15-7, win the Southwest conference title and get his Owls an invitation for the Cotton Bowl classic here New Year's day.

Ponderous, 218-pound Lain, a trouble-shooter who never starts a game but who figured in 12 of Rice's 13 touchdowns this season, gave the chilled crowd of 13,000 a one-man show that stamped him as one of the most dangerous conference backs in history.

His Owls trailed, 0-7, when Lain got the "go" signal from Coach Jimmie Kitts late in the first period. Five minutes later he had passed and bucked Rice to a touchdown on the first play of the second period.

Early in the third period Lain personally took charge again and threw two passes to Frank Steen and Johnny Neece that netted 31 yards, crashed the line down to the four and blocked out a Methodist line surge as Jack Vestal kicked a field goal from the Methodist 13 that put the Owls ahead, 9-7.

The big halfback plucked off one of Jack Morrison's wild passes in the fourth period on the Methodist 21 and returned to the nine, from which point he simply power-housed his way across on three surges for a touchdown.

The Methodists, crippled but playing one of the scrappiest games of the season, got away to a lead within five minutes of the kickoff, when Bob Belville, sturdy fullback who played a smashing game, plunged over from the one after a 40-yard drive off the tackles by himself, John Stidger and John Harlow.

It is necessary to obtain approval of the conference members to engage in a post-season game.

McCants was on his way to Houston by train.

Terms of the bid from J. Curtis Sanford, president of the Cotton Bowl athletic association, were not revealed but Johnson said they were "in agreement" with those made Colorado.

HOT SPRINGS HOOKS UP WITH CHI CUBS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Dec. 4.—(AP)—President Lloyd Adams of the Hot Springs Cotton States League Baseball club announced tonight that the local team would be affiliated with the Chicago Cubs during the coming season.

Adams said five applications had been received for the job of manager of the Hot Springs entry. They include Spike Hunter, manager of Jonesboro in the Northeast Arkansas league last year; Earl Smith, former New York Giant catcher who lives here; Lena Styles, who piloted Greenville, Miss., of the Cotton States league last season, and Wally Dashiel, 1937 manager of the Tyler, East Texas league club.

MAJOR LEAGUES IN MEETINGS AT CHICAGO MONDAY

Several Trades Expected To Be Closed During Annual Three-Day Confabs

By Earl Hilligan

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. — (AP) — Major league baseball's trading cauldron continued to simmer steadily today with prospects that selling and buying of diamond talent would reach the boiling point when the American and National circuits open their annual meetings Monday.

Going into bargaining huddles which were well-rehearsed at the minor league meetings in Milwaukee, club owners, managers and scouts held "conferences" which added to the already bumper crop of "ivory" transaction rumors. For the most part, however, actual deals made today were of minor league interest, with the likelihood that the major David Harums would keep their ears to the ground and pens in pockets until the meetings get under way.

The St. Louis Browns, who figured in two of the three all-major league transactions completed at Milwaukee, gave further indication they would make every effort to improve the club. They obtained Vito "Round Man" Tamulis, young left-handed pitcher, from Newark's Bears for First Baseman Harry Davis and cash.

The American association swung into its annual meeting by voting to use the Shaughnessy playoff system again in 1938. The International league previously had taken similar action and another "Little World Series" between the International and American association circuits thus is assured.

The Chicago White Sox, who took part in the biggest piece of business at Milwaukee by trading three players to Detroit, continued in the market by dickering with Washington's Senators. The Sox, it was known, have offered Zeke Bonura, first sacker and hitting star, plus Lou "Boze" Berger, utility infielder, to the Senators for Joe Kuhel, first baseman, and Buddy Myer, second sacker. The Senators, however, are holding out in the faint hope they can trade Myer and Kuhel for Bonura and Minter (Jackie) Hayes, nimble White Sox second baseman.

The Van Lingle Mungo deal continued "on the fire," with the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants known to be seeking the Brooklyn pitching ace. The Giants, however, are loath to part with Mel Ott, the little slugger who Manager Burleigh Grimes of Brooklyn thinks would hammer holes through the Dodger rightfield wall. The Cubs are balking at giving the Dodgers their "lone" outfield—Frank Demaree—with the result that Manager Grimes and Mungo, who don't hit it off too well, still are mates on the Flatbush crew.

Washington Goofy Over Sammy Baugh And Mates

Merry Crop Of Football Filberts Goes Mad Over Capital's Pro Eleven

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The maddest, merriest crop of football filberts in the nation at the moment appears to have sprung up at Washington, D. C.

They've quit pointing out the Washington monument to visitors. The most hallowed spot of them all now is located just south of midfield at Griffith stadium, where Sammy Baugh stood last Sunday and pegged a touchdown pass against the mighty Green Bay Packers.

There's some talk of re-naming the village Baughville, or at least running the tall Texan and all his teammates on the professional Redskins for congress. Seven thousand of the team's most incoherent admirers are coming up here on special trains Sunday to watch it play the New York Giants for the championship of the eastern division of the National Pro league.

"I never saw a town go so football mad in my life," said Coach Ray Flaherty as he practiced the Redskins at Westchester Country club.

"There were 30,000 out to see us play last Sunday, and that's the second largest crowd ever to attend a sports event of any sort in Washington."

The Redskins moved to the capital from Boston only this season. George Marshall, owner of the club, dropped $15,000 in five years at Boston. When Sunday's game is over he expects to have wiped that loss off the books and cleared an additional $50,000. That's nice business.

Baugh, who a year ago was throwing passes for Texas Christian university, is given most of the credit for Redskins' sudden rise. While at Boston, the team had a great runner in Cliff Battles, but needed a passer like Baugh.

A dozen photographers were snapping Sammy from every conceivable position during the workout. Other members of the squad stood about and wise-cracked.

"You might as well have let the rest of us guys stay in bed, coach," observed Turk Edwards, ponderous lineman.

Flaherty was asked if there had been any symptoms of jealousy of Baugh's popularity.

"Not a sign," he negatived. "He's the most popular boy on the squad. Reason is he acted modest and full of fun from the moment he reported."

With one game to go, Baugh has completed 70 passes and needs eight more Sunday to break the league record. He hasn't taken much of a beating from charging linemen, like some passers do.

"They're afraid to rush him too hard," Flaherty explained. "He's too dangerous a runner. He'll sidestep them and light out with the ball."

TEXAS AGGIES WIN BY LOPSIDED SCORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Texas Aggies bounced University of San Francisco's Dons all over the field today to pile up a 42 to 0 score, one of the worst defeats ever inflicted on the local school.

The Aggies opened the scoring with a touchdown midway of the first period. Left Halfback Dick Todd, who returned a punt 17 yards to the S. F. U. 45, dashed 11 and 22 yards, then crashed over from the one-yard line.

He added another touchdown in the second period when he caught a punt on the S. F. U. 42 and raced the distance to score.

Jim Nesrsta, substitute right halfback, went over from the one-yard line in the third period. A few minutes later Bill Boyd, sub back, placekicked a field goal from the 15 yard line.

The Aggies almost doubled the score in the last period, cashing in three touchdowns, two on long pass plays and a third on line smashes.

DUQUESNE WHIPS MAROONS, 9 TO 0

Dukes Pack All Their Scoring In Last Two Minutes Of Close Battle

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Duquesne university turned a scoreless 58 minutes into a 9-0 victory over Mississippi State here today on the wings of a field goal and a last-minute touchdown from an intercepted pass.

With two minutes to play, the Dukes pulled up to the State six-yard line with a first down, but three plays left the oval three yards short of the goal. Zoppetti replaced Yurchey at quarter and called for a placekick. He held the ball on the 15 and Brumbaugh booted it between the uprights to give the Dukes a 3-point lead.

State received the kick-off and was given the ball on their 46 when officials ruled pass interference. Ed Scott faded back and shot a flat pass intended for Joe Ruffin, but Grabinski, Duke center, raced in, pulled it out of the air and ran 40 yards to score standing up.

Taking the kick-off State threw two passes that planted the ball in midfield as the game ended.

Fine line play turned back several Duquesne scoring threats. In the second quarter, the Dukes pounded out a first down on the State 3-yard line, but four plays left the ball six inches short.

Beautiful kicking by Bob Hardison got State out of several tight places but State, pushed back early in the game, never got far enough to open up. They tried late in the game but could go no distance.

Brumbaugh ignored a muddy ball in keeping the air full of passes of all variety. He uncorked a number of long ones, but an alert State secondary broke them up, especially when a connection meant a score.

No fumbles, despite a wet field, marred the work of either team and not a poor punt rolled from the toe of either Hardison or Brumbaugh. Both teams, primed to pass, did not change tactics although a constant drizzle and a dense fog draped the field.

The lineups:

Score by quarters:

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 4.—(AP)—After 19 years of brave effort, little Grinnell (Iowa) college decided to quit trying to keep up with the "Joneses" and resigned from the Missouri Valley athletic conference.

TECH BATTLES CENTENARY TO 7-7 DEADLOCK

Gents Tie Game In First Quarter And Then Two Defenses Fight It Out

and after losing two yards on a line play, Darling kicked to Centenary's 40-yard line and the ball was killed. Bynum went wide around his right end for 13 yards and a first down but on the next play Bynum fumbled and Aloys Adkins recovered for Tech on the Bulldogs' 47-yard line and the first break went to the Techmen. Eagar gained three yards and then, apparently smothered on attempt to pass, he faded 'way back, started to run around his right end, but paused momentarily and heaved a beautiful pass to Funderburk, the Wisner end, who took it in on the 20 and battled his way to the 14 before he was stopped by Bynum, Centenary safety man. Alton Westbrook gained one yard and then Eagar passed to Funderburk again. Fundy took the ball on the five, eluded the safety man and scored the first touchdown after seven minutes of play, as the crowd went wild. Eagar kicked the extra point to give the Bulldogs' a 7-0 lead.

After an exchange of punts following the kickoff, Centenary got its first break when Don Darling's kick came down on Tech's 47 and was killed. A forward pass and a running play by Bynum netted a three-yard loss. However, Tech also was forced to punt and Bynum downed it on the Tech 49. A pass from Bynum to Birkelbach gained 10 yards and a first down and then Bynum got loose wide around his left end and sprinted to the 19-yard line, a 20-yard gain, for another first down. Tech was penalized 15 yards for roughness, placing the oval on the Bulldog four. "Grandma" Stone, who went into the game for Centenary in Bynum's place, gained a yard and then, on the second play, went through a big hole at right guard and crossed the goal line standing up. Birkelbach kicked the extra point and the ball game was tied up, 7-7.

The remainder of the quarter was a punting duel, with Darling having the edge over Stone, and the period ended with Tech in possession on Centenary's 46 and first down and 10 to go.

Tech sent in an entire new team at the start of the second quarter and Centenary made three substitutions.

After an exchange of punts, the Bulldogs were placed in a hole when Stone kicked out of bounds on the Tech 12. Don Wiley kicked out to his own 40 and Stone returned to the 36. Stone lost five on the first play but got loose on the next attempt, squirmed away from at least four Bulldogs, who apparently had him stopped, and reached the Tech 18 before Wiley stopped him. Stone gained one yard and then Lingo picked up eight to put the ball on the nine. On the next play the Bulldogs swarmed over Stone and he lost two yards. The Techmen again put up a magnificent defense and, on fourth down, Stone was thrown for another yard loss, Tech taking the ball on their 12. Wiley then got off a beautiful punt to remove the threat, the ball going out of bounds on Centenary's 35-yard line.

Neither team threatened in the remaining minutes of the first half and the score was still deadlocked at the rest period.

The entire third quarter was a punting duel, with neither team able to get very far with their offense. Tech made the only first down of the period when Westbrook skirted end for 20 yards. On the last play of the quarter, an intercepted pass gave Tech the ball on the Centenary 38-yard line.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Adams dropped a pass that would have meant a Bulldog touchdown. Another pass was incomplete and then a running play lost four yards. Barnett then kicked out of bounds of Centenary's 28-yard line.

Centenary drove hard after that play, and two first downs, featured by a 24-yard run by Bynum, placed the ball on Tech's 24-yard line. The entire team that started the game rushed back into the fray for the Bulldogs. Three thrusts at the line gained seven yards and a fourth smash into the Tech forwards failed to make a first down, and Tech took possession on their 15-yard line to halt that drive. Tech immediately kicked out of danger.

On Centenary's first play from the Tech 42-yard line, the Gents fumbled and Tech recovered on the Centenary 49. Eagar dropped back to pass, was smothered and then skirted his left end for 16 yards and a first down on Centenary's 33-yard line, a jaunt that immediately changed the complexion of the ball game. A 15-yard penalty for holding, however, set the Bulldogs back to midfield. That wouldn't have been so bad if, on the next play, a Tech receiver hadn't dropped a perfect pass that would have netted at least 15 yards. On the following play, Lingo intercepted a Tech pass on Centenary's 21-yard line and Tech's drive was stopped.

Centenary made a first down as a result of a five-yard penalty against Tech but the subsequent running plays lost four yards as the hard-charging Tech line smothered every attempt. Bynum then got off a beautiful punt that was killed on the Bulldogs' 19-yard line with three minutes left of the ball game.

MAJOR LEAGUES IN MEETINGS AT CHICAGO MONDAY

Several Trades Expected To Be Closed During Annual Three-Day Confabs

By Earl Hilligan

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. — (AP) — Major league baseball's trading cauldron continued to simmer steadily today with prospects that selling and buying of diamond talent would reach the boiling point when the American and National circuits open their annual meetings Monday.

Going into bargaining huddles which were well-rehearsed at the minor league meetings in Milwaukee, club owners, managers and scouts held "conferences" which added to the already bumper crop of "ivory" transaction rumors. For the most part, however, actual deals made today were of minor league interest, with the likelihood that the major David Harums would keep their ears to the ground and pens in pockets until the meetings get under way.

The St. Louis Browns, who figured in two of the three all-major league transactions completed at Milwaukee, gave further indication they would make every effort to improve the club. They obtained Vito "Round Man" Tamulis, young left-handed pitcher, from Newark's Bears for First Baseman Harry Davis and cash.

The American association swung into its annual meeting by voting to use the Shaughnessy playoff system again in 1938. The International league previously had taken similar action and another "Little World Series" between the International and American association circuits thus is assured.

The Chicago White Sox, who took part in the biggest piece of business at Milwaukee by trading three players to Detroit, continued in the market by dickering with Washington's Senators. The Sox, it was known, have offered Zeke Bonura, first sacker and hitting star, plus Lou "Boze" Berger, utility infielder, to the Senators for Joe Kuhel, first baseman, and Buddy Myer, second sacker. The Senators, however, are holding out in the faint hope they can trade Myer and Kuhel for Bonura and Minter (Jackie) Hayes, nimble White Sox second baseman.

The Van Lingle Mungo deal continued "on the fire," with the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants known to be seeking the Brooklyn pitching ace. The Giants, however, are loath to part with Mel Ott, the little slugger who Manager Burleigh Grimes of Brooklyn thinks would hammer holes through the Dodger rightfield wall. The Cubs are balking at giving the Dodgers their "lone" outfield—Frank Demaree—with the result that Manager Grimes and Mungo, who don't hit it off too well, still are mates on the Flatbush crew.

Washington Goofy Over Sammy Baugh And Mates

Merry Crop Of Football Filberts Goes Mad Over Capital's Pro Eleven

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The maddest, merriest crop of football filberts in the nation at the moment appears to have sprung up at Washington, D. C.

They've quit pointing out the Washington monument to visitors. The most hallowed spot of them all now is located just south of midfield at Griffith stadium, where Sammy Baugh stood last Sunday and pegged a touchdown pass against the mighty Green Bay Packers.

There's some talk of re-naming the village Baughville, or at least running the tall Texan and all his teammates on the professional Redskins for congress. Seven thousand of the team's most incoherent admirers are coming up here on special trains Sunday to watch it play the New York Giants for the championship of the eastern division of the National Pro league.

"I never saw a town go so football mad in my life," said Coach Ray Flaherty as he practiced the Redskins at Westchester Country club.

"There were 30,000 out to see us play last Sunday, and that's the second largest crowd ever to attend a sports event of any sort in Washington."

The Redskins moved to the capital from Boston only this season. George Marshall, owner of the club, dropped $75,000 in five years at Boston. When Sunday's game is over he expects to have wiped that loss off the books and cleared an additional $50,000. That's nice business.

Baugh, who a year ago was throwing passes for Texas Christian university, is given most of the credit for Redskins' sudden rise. While at Boston, the team had a great runner in Cliff Battles, but needed a passer like Baugh.

A dozen photographers were snapping Sammy from every conceivable position during the workout. Other members of the squad stood about and wise-cracked.

"You might as well have let the rest of us guys stay in bed, coach," observed Turk Edwards, ponderous lineman.

Flaherty was asked if there had been any symptoms of jealousy of Baugh's popularity.

"Not a sign," he negatived. "He's the most popular boy on the squad. Reason is he acted modest and full of fun from the moment he reported."

With one game to go, Baugh has completed 70 passes and needs eight more Sunday to break the league record. He hasn't taken much of a beating from charging linemen, like some passers do.

"They're afraid to rush him too hard," Flaherty explained. "He's too dangerous a runner. He'll sidestep them and light out with the ball."

TEXAS AGGIES WIN BY LOPSIDED SCORE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Texas Aggies bounced University of San Francisco's Dons all over the field today to pile up a 42 to 0 score, one of the worst defeats ever inflicted on the local school.

Jim Nearsta, substitute right halfback, went over from the one-yard line in the third period. A few minutes later Bill Boyd, sub back, placekicked a field goal from the 15 yard line.

The Aggies almost doubled the score in the last period, cashing in three touchdowns, two on long pass plays and a third on line smashes.

Methodists Score First But Stellar Soph Turns Tide For Houston Team

By Felix R. McKnight

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Off the bench came the greatest "substitute" in the business today, Burly Ernie Lain of Rice institute, to crush Southern Methodist, 15-7, win the Southwest conference title and get his Owls an invitation for the Cotton Bowl classic here New Year's day.

Ponderous, 218-pound Lain, a trouble-shooter who never starts a game but who figured in 12 of Rice's 13 touchdowns this season, gave the chilled crowd of 13,000 a one-man show that stamped him as one of the most dangerous conference backs in history.

His Owls trailed, 0-7, when Lain got the "go" signal from Coach Jimmie Kitts late in the first period. Five minutes later he had passed and bucked Rice to a touchdown on the first play of the second period.

Early in the third period Lain personally took charge again and threw two passes to Frank Steen and Johnny Neece that netted 31 yards, crashed the line down to the four and blocked out a Methodist line surge as Jack Vestal kicked a field goal from the Methodist 13 that put the Owls ahead, 9-7.

The big halfback plucked off one of Jack Morrison's wild passes in the fourth period on the Methodist 21 and returned to the nine, from which point he simply power-housed his way across on three surges for a touchdown.

The Methodists, crippled but playing one of the scrappiest games of the season, got away to a lead within five minutes of the kickoff, when Bob Belville, sturdy fullback who played a smashing game, plunged over from the one after a 40-yard drive off the tackles by himself, John Stidger and John Harlow.

Lineups:

It is necessary to obtain approval of the conference members to engage in a post-season game.

McCants was on his way to Houston by train.

Terms of the bid from J. Curtis Sanford, president of the Cotton Bowl athletic association, were not revealed but Johnson said they were "in agreement" with those made Colorado.

Colorado was guaranteed $10,000, with a privilege of taking one-third of the gate receipts.

Sports Chatter

By GEORGE V. LOFTON

After acting as though it preferred to play Amherst or Johns Hopkins, California winds up with a representative and worthy opponent in the Rose Bowl, January 1.

The current and young Alabama varsity may not be the equal of two or three of its predecessors which appeared at Pasadena, but it's a determined and well-drilled team, and the Tuscaloosa tribe's nickname, Red Elephants, always was a misnomer.

Alabama was California's second choice, but what institution in need of funds wouldn't want $110,000, which should be each club's share with the the top tariff jacked up to $5.50?

California handled the situation all right once it settled down to inviting, but the pre-bid talk on the golden slope did the football department of the Tournament of Roses no good.

While the Pittsburgh players were fed up, the statement by California officials that they'd like their opponents to wear the cloaks of appropriate scholarship rating, undoubtedly had some bearing on the Panthers' refusal to make the trip to the coast.

It was reported that President Rob-

VOLS PUSH OVER FIVE TOUCHDOWNS TO WALLOP REBS

Sophomore George Cafego Paces Tennesseeans To Overwhelming Triumph

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The University of Tennessee climaxed an only fair gridiron season today with a brilliant running and passing exhibition, which rolled up five touchdowns to defeat the University of Mississippi here in Crump stadium, 32 to 0.

Sophomore Halfback George Cafego sparked the Vol ground and aerial attack, which clicked with ease through the much heavier Ole Miss line. The game was played in a mist before 7,000 spectators.

A Vol fumble in the first, recovered by the Rebels' Captain Bruiser Kinard on the Ole Miss 40, set the stage for an aerial attack which penetrated to the Tennessee 19. The Vols got down to business then, and stopped the drive.

The first score came in the second on a pass interception neatly executed by Halfback Melvin Herring, who took the Rebels' throw on the Ole Miss 40 and, behind the inspired blocking of Leonard Coffman and George Hunter, ran for a touchdown. Herring's placement was good.

Earlier in the period Cafego, on consecutive plunges and end sweeps, carried the ball from the Ole Miss 44 to the eight. Ray Hapes knocked down Cafego's pass intended for Bowden Wyatt and on the next play the Vols lost 12 yards. A try for a field goal by Herring was short.

Shortly after the third period opened Cafego, from his own 36, ripped through right tackle for 32 yards to the Ole Miss 32, where he was downed by Parker Hall. Cafego's pass to George Hunter was good for 14 more and on the next play the fleet halfback plunged to the eight. Marion Perkins carried to the one and Cafego took it over. Herring converted.

Cafego's punt from his own 39 rolled crazily and touched Jack Ward, Ole Miss end, on the ankle. Hunter fell on the ball, giving possession to the Vols on the Rebel 23. A pass, Cafego to Hunter, placed it on the eight and Perkins scored.

Coach Robert Neyland, a severe cold forcing him to operate from the press box, substituted his second team after another drive to the two-yard line. Substitute Quarterback Robert Sneed plunged over for a score as the fourth period began. Sneed failed to convert.

A triple lateral, Sam Bartholomew to Nick Webber to Red Harp, accounted for the final score. Bill Barnes missed the point after touchdown.

Manning's 59-Yard Sprint Gives Florida Triumph In Last Game Of Year

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Florida cashed in on Ed Manning's 59-yard run today to turn back Kentucky 6 to 0 in the season's finale for both football teams.

Closing out his brilliant career, Walter Mayberry led the 'Gators through 60 minutes of wide-open, rough and tumble play. Both teams set up sterling pass defenses and interceptions halted a number of promising advances.

It was Manning, Mayberry's substitute, who sparked the 85-yard drive to the lone touchdown in the third period. Kentucky had taken the kickoff and smashed deep into 'Gator territory after Vincent Robinson returned the kick 44 yards to the Florida 41.

The Wildcat attack bogged down on the 18 and the 'Gators took over the ball. On the first play Manning was dumped for a three-yard loss, but he tore loose for 11 on the next try. From deep punt formation, he sped around left end, cut back across the field and almost managed to elude the safety man before he was slowed down and tackled on the Kentucky 16. Paul Delaney circled left end on a reverse for 14 more yards, then smashed over guard for the touchdown after two plunges failed.

Manning's placekick for the extra point was blocked by Lawrence Garland, end.

Recording 14 first downs to seven for Kentucky, Florida outgained the Wildcats 224 yards to 112 rushing and 63 to 16 on passes.

TED LYONS INJURED AS GRID BLEACHERS FALL

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Ted Lyons, veteran Chicago White Sox pitcher, limped today from an injury to his left leg suffered yesterday in the collapse of a stand of 100 spectators at the Vinton-Amite High school football game.

John Breaux, of Vinton, suffered a fracture of the arm and several other persons were bruised.

Lyons, a loyal follower of his home town Vinton team, will enter his 16th major league season of baseball with the White Sox in 1938.

BARNEY ROSS TO MARRY NEW JERSEY GIRL TODAY

The boxing champion, whose right name is Barnet David Rasofsky, and his bride will make their home in New York.

MATTHEWS KNOCKS OUT HAYDEN IN 2ND ROUND

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Oscar (King Kong) Matthews of Tallulah, La., ran his consecutive knockout string to seven straight at the Rockland palace tonight when he gained a technical knockout over Steve Hayden of Los Angeles in 41 seconds of the second round in a ten-round bout. A capacity crowd of 3,500 saw the scrap. Matthews weighed 198 and Hayden 200.

ARMY NOW OKAY ON BIG TEN LIST

Cadets Restored To Roster Of Eligible Opponents For Members

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The United States military academy was restored to the list of opponents eligible for competition with Western conference universities today, when the Big Ten faculty committee rescinded the ban placed on the Cadets in 1932.

The Cadets were barred from participating with Big Ten teams because the West Point school allowed three years of competition to players who had previous seasons of play with other colleges. The conference limits its athletes to a combined total of three years on varsity teams.

Only football relations with the Army are expected to develop because West Point is too far removed from Big Ten territory to make feasible competition in minor sports. Illinois and Ohio State are the only schools likely to schedule the Cadets. It will be impossible, however, to arrange football dates with the Army until 1940 or later because Big Ten schedules have been tentatively arranged until that time.

The Big Ten training table problem which is perenially brought up, was discussed, but the committee deferred definite action until the May meeting, which will be held at Columbus, O., at the time of the Big Ten track and field championship meet.

The directors of athletics approved the suggestion for the installation of electric timing clocks placed on the score board in view of the spectators as the official timing device for all games. They also approved the suggestion that officials be garbed in white shirts or jerseys of black and white stripes to distinguish them from players.

ARMY 'BOOKED SOLID'

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Army athletic officials, while expressing satisfaction today over removal of further barrier to football relations with Big Ten colleges, pointed out that West Point gridiron schedules are already booked solid up to 1942.

Illinois, which played a colorful series with Army until it was interrupted by the Big Ten ban, probably will be the first conference college to return to the soldier schedule. Several others have indicated their desire to play Army.

REAL PLAY WINS BILOXI 'CAP AT FAIR GROUNDS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Real Play, one of the most consistent of the 1937 two-year-olds, added the $2,000 Biloxi Handicap to her string of victories today when she carried the silks of the Southland stable to an easy triumph over nine other juveniles.

The triumph, achieved under the guidance of Hubert Le Blanc of Kaplan, La., was the fifth straight for the daughter of Playtime and her sixth in seven races this year. Backed by such an enviable record she was heavily played in the mutuels, paying $3.50 for $2. It was the third straight race in which she was the odds-on-choice.

TEXAN TO MEET ROUGH OPPONENT IN MAIN EVENT

Balk Estes And Jackson Curtis, Two Newcomers, In Semi-Final Match

Charley Layden, the rugged Texas star, will take on another touch opponent at Twin City stadium next Wednesday night when tangles with Farmer Mack, the Maine potato grower, in the main event of the weekly wrestling card, it was announced yesterday.

The stadium officials apparently have adopted a policy of matching Layden against the barrelhouse performers as they come along, and so far it has provided some stirring matches. The Texan has demonstrated that he is thoroughly capable of taking care of himself, although it's doubtful if he's run up against anyone as tough as Mack, who made his local debut last week.

In the semi-final match of the weekly card, two new faces will be presented. Balk Estes, rough Pennsylvania coal miner, will meet Jackson Curtis, a Vicksburg entry who prefers the scientific style of grappling but who is said to be well able to take care of himself when the going gets tough. Both boys come well recommended.

Layden, who has won a large following here, has compiled a perfect record in the local arena. The former Texas football star, who is rated as one of the leading contenders for the light heavyweight championship, has met and defeated some tough ones here and he always gives the fans a run for their money. He's perfectly at home in all surroundings; if the boys wants to wrestle clean, he knows all the holds and can give 'em a busy evening. If they want to get rough, he'll play along with 'em and he usually comes out on top in the modern style of wrestling.

Mack wrestled a one-hour draw with Benny Mathis last week and it was only Mathis' rugged constitution that enabled him to stay the limit. The Maine agriculturist used all sorts of tactics in an effort to beat the Texan and he gave him penty of trouble. In fact, Mathis reported after the match that he had taken plenty of punishment and protested Mack's behavior. Stadium officials believe the Farmer will give Layden plenty of trouble in a match that's certain to be a rousing affair. Incidentally, the fans almost mobbed Mack after the Mathis match and only police interference saved him from trouble.

Both matches will be best two out of three falls, with the main event having a two-hour time limit and the semi-final limited to one hour. Officials for the card have not been announced.

WRITERS APPROVE CHOICE OF 'BAMA

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Pacific coast sports editors and writers generally approve the choice of Alabama's Crimson Tide to oppose California's Golden Bears in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

However, several coast scribes suggested that another team might have been a better choice.

Here's what the coast had to say:

Bill Leisler, associate sports editor, San Francisco Chronicle—The Crimson Tidemen, when they land in strange country in front of 100,000 strange fans, always hit emotional and mental peaks that makes them well nigh unbeatable. . . . Alabama always was first choice among California officials of the three available teams—Alabama, Pitt and Fordham.

Curley Grieve, San Francisco Examiner sports editor—Alabama probably will not be the inspirational foe Pittsburgh or Fordham would have been, but undoubtedly will prove a popular opponent.

Harry Smith, sports editor, San Francisco Chronicle—Personally I would have preferred Pittsburgh or Fordham.

Art Cohn, sports editor, Oakland Tribune—Well, anyhow it follows the Rose Bowl formula; When in doubt, invite Alabama.

Pat Frayne, sports editor, San Francisco Call-Bulletin—I think it was a bad piece of matchmaking. California should have played Fordham, which would have been a more representative team of the eastern half of the country.

C. R. Stark, Jr., sports editor, Spokane Spokesman-Review—Alabama is the logical choice in an illogical season. . . . They have a bang-up, knock-down and drag-out fight, as indicated.

Dan Walton, sports editor, Tacoma News-Tribune—Fordham's team is good, but its record indicates it is primarily a defensive team and would not give California as interesting a game as Alabama.

Herb Ashlock, Spokane, Chronicle—It's too bad Coach Frank Thomas and his boys must defend their spotless Tournament of Roses record against the Golden Bears.

Jack James, Los Angeles Examiner—Be assured of this, in case you've any lingering doubts, such as some of us entertained regarding Pitt last year—those boys will put up a ball game! A winning ball game, chances are.

Tom Akers, San Diego, Tribune—Alabama enters the Rose Bowl this time something of a popular choice, in spite of the fact that the Golden Bears have come through with flying colors in the Pacific Coast conference a powerful, resourceful, game team.

Owls' Triumph Features Saturday Football Card

Slim Program Just About Winds Up Gridiron Activities For Season

(By Associated Press)

The football Owls of Rice Institute, who started to "click" only after losing two of their first three games and tying the third, are the Southwest conference champions for 1937.

Topping off their late drive, the Owls came from behind to whip Southern Methodist 15-7 yesterday, thereby winning the conference title and the right to meet Colorado's Whizzer White and company in the New Year's day Cotton Bowl game at Dallas.

The Rice victory topped a slim Saturday program as college football just about completed the job of putting the 1937 campaign into the mothballs. Action was limited to the southwest, south and Pacific coast, with only nine games of more than passing interest.

On the intersectional slate, the east won against the south when Duquesne's Night Riders pinned a 9-0 shutout on Mississippi State, and tied against the southwest when Manhattan's Jaspers battled Tulsa to a scoreless draw. For Duquesne it was the first away-from-home daytime win of the season.

Although Alabama's Rose-Bowl-bound Crimson Tide had long since sewed up Southeastern conference honors, the loop made a belated farewell with a pair of games. Tennessee beat the ears off Mississippi 32-0 and wound up the campaign with six victories, three setbacks and a tie, compared to the mediocre four wins and five losses turned in by Ole Miss. Also on the conference card, Florida provided what amounted to the day's upset by nosing out Kentucky 6-0. The 'Gators had lost seven previous games this fall, while Kentucky, in winning four, had downed Manhattan and South Carolina among others.

Louisiana Tech fought Centenary to a 7-7 tie, each team scoring in the first period and then stalemating the rest of the way.

Rice's victory over S. M. U. climaxed one of the season's neatest comeback efforts. The Owls started out as "weak sisters" of the southwest, losing to Oklahoma and Louisiana State and getting only a deadlock with Tulsa in the first three weeks. Thereafter, however, they started to move, and in their last six games they finished on top four times, tied the Texas Aggies and dropped a close one to Texas Christian. T. C. U. would have won the conference crown if Rice had lost today.

Perhaps the day's No. 1 upset was the 7-7 tie to which Hardin-Simmons was held by Howard Payne. The deadlock removed the Cowboys from the nation's undefeated, untied list, after they had downed eight straight rivals, and left only 12 teams boasting perfect records for the season.

Texas A. & M., although eliminated from the Southwest conference race, were figured to have trouble in their intersectional finale against San Francisco on the Pacific coast but they ran wild on a touchdown spree and turned in a 42-0 victory, scoring in every period and topping it off with a 19-point fourth-quarter splurge.

Arizona furnished somewhat of a surprise by tripping Oregon 20-6, while Southern California, finishing up the Pacific coast conference proceedings, did about as expected in whipping U. C. L. A., 19-13, after barely standing off the Uclans' last-period rush.

TROJANS NOSE OUT U. C. L. A., 19 TO 13

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Seventy thousand fans saw the Trojans of Southern California defeat the Bruins of University of California at Los Angeles, 19-13, in a spectacular gridiron battle today.

For three quarters Trojan power crushed the reserve-weak Bruins into the bottom of the Pacific Coast conference cellar but the Uclans came back in the final period to score two touchdowns on the miracle arm of Kenny Washington, negro halfback star.

Trailing 19 to 0 Washington fired a touchdown pass, good for 44 yards, to Hal Hirshon. Walt Schell kicked the extra point.

Twenty-six seconds later, on the first play after taking the kickoff, Kenny sailed a perfect spiral that traveled no less than 66 yards and maybe as much as 73 yards. Hirshon made the goal dash.

Troy's great quarterback, Grenville Lansdall, scored the first two tallies and passed 20 yards to Joe Shell, reserve back, for the other.

ETCHEBASTER WINS FIRST OF COURT TENNIS MATCHES

TUXEDO, N. Y., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Pierre Etchebaster, a little Frenchman reminsdful of Henri Cochet, gave hulking Ogden Phipps the licking of his life at the Tuxedo club today in the opening four-set block of their match for the World's Open Court Tennis championship.

"Alabaster," who will be 44 next week, completely outclassed his 29-year-old opponent, who holds the American amateur title, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

The little Basque was in command from the start. Few of those who paid $16.50 a throw to witness the match knew how to keep score. It takes long, sober years to learn that. But none could fail to appreciate the artistry of Pierre's strokes. When it was over Phipps stuttered: "My, I didn't know anybody could play like that."

EASTON DEFEATS JESUITS, 7 TO 0

Long Pass Late In Second Quarter Gives Eagles Victory In Playoff

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A long pass to Milton Clavier from Lou Thomas gave the Warren Easton Eagles a victory over Jesuit High school today before 25,000 fans at Tulane stadium, 7 to 0.

By rules of the Louisiana High School Athletic association, the Easton triumph placed the Eagles in a tie with Fortier High school for the city prep school championship.

Fortier was undefeated by conventional scoring during the regular season. However, under rules of the state association, its scoreless tie with Warren Easton was adjudged an Easton victory by virtue of the Eagles' greater number of first downs.

Warren Easton was defeated, 6 to 0, by Holy Cross, in the New Orleans Prep School Athletic Association league.

It is likely that directors of the state athletic association will meet tomorrow or Monday to decide the tie, possibly by arranging a playoff game. J. M. Boyett of Vinton is president of the state body.

The winner then will meet the victor in tonight's Catholic High of Baton Rouge-Bogalusa High school tussle waged for the south Louisiana championship.

The conqueror will be matched with Byrd High school of Shreveport for the state high school championship.

FLORIDA EDGES UP IN SOUTHEASTERN

Victory Over Kentucky Gives 'Gators Eighth Place In Conference

ATLANTA, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Florida edged up into eighth place in the final Southeastern conference football standings today by nicking Kentucky 6-0, in the windup program of the intra-league season.

Tennessee failed to improve it's seventh position but handed Mississippi a 32-0 shellacking, the worst beating of the season for the Rebels.

Mississippi State stoof off all Duquesne thrust before 4,000 customers at Starkville until the final minutes of the game when the easterners snatched a 9-0 victory.

Manning's 58-yard run set up the Florida touchdown that pushed the Gators a few percentage points ahead of Tulane. A dropped pass in the final minute killed the visiting Kentuckians' last chance for their first 1937 touchdown against a conference foe.

The fierce running and deft passing of Sophomore Cafego stood out in the savage second half attack that swamped Mississippi in the presence of 7,000 chilled customers at Memphis.

Georgia's non-conference date with Miami at the Florida city next Friday night and the Rose Bowl assignment for Alabama's champions are the only ones left on the card.

The final conference standings:

| | W | L | T | TP | OP |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Alabama | 6 | 0 | 0 | 145 | 20 |
| Louisiana State | 5 | 1 | 0 | 108 | 21 |
| Auburn | 4 | 1 | 2 | 95 | 23 |
| Vanderbilt | 4 | 2 | 0 | 80 | 36 |
| Mississippi State | 3 | 2 | 0 | 42 | 94 |
| Georgia Tech | 3 | 2 | 1 | 64 | 34 |
| Tennessee | 4 | 3 | 0 | 130 | 47 |
| Florida | 3 | 4 | 0 | 46 | 59 |
| Tulane | 2 | 3 | 1 | 66 | 50 |
| Georgia | 1 | 2 | 2 | 13 | 50 |
| Mississippi | 0 | 4 | 0 | 14 | 68 |
| Kentucky | 0 | 5 | 0 | 0 | 104 |
| Sewanee | 0 | 6 | 0 | 7 | 204 |

The team:

Ends—Bill Jordan, Georgia Tech, and Ken Kavanaugh, Louisiana State.

Tackles—Frank Kinard, Mississippi, and Torrance Russell, Auburn.

Guards—Leroy Monsky, Alabama, and Ed Merlin, Vanderbilt.

Center—Carl Hinkle, Vanderbilt.

Quarterback—Fletcher Sims, Georgia Tech.

Halfbacks—Walter Mayberry, Florida, and Joe Kilgrow, Alabama.

PICAYUNE AND JESUITS TO PLAY FOR DOLL FUND

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Directors of the Times-Picayune Doll and Toy Fund announced today that Picayune High school of Mississippi and Jesuit High school of New Orleans will meet in the "Toy Bowl" football game here next Saturday.

They selected the Jesuit team today. Choice of the Picayune Maroon Tide had been announced previously.

Picayune has lost but five football games in five years, the last on New Year's day this year to Jesuit, 19 to 0, in the Toy Bowl game. Dobie Holden, former Louisiana State university star, is coach.

This season the Tide scored 344 points against 44 in defeating 10 opponents.

GERMAN TEAM WINS 63RD SIX-DAY BICYCLE GRIND

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Turning on a last hour burst of speed, the German team of Gustave Kilian and Heinz Vopel rode the rest of the field into the track tonight and won New York's 63rd six-day bicycle race by a point margin before a still-out crowd of 16,000 in Madison Square garden.

COLUMBIA MEETS ARCADIA FOR 'B' TITLE ON FRIDAY

North Louisiana Championship At Stake When Strong Teams Clash

COLUMBIA, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The annual north Louisiana Class B football championship battle will take place for the first time in the history of Columbia here next Friday, when the Crimson Tide of Columbia High school tangles with the high-geared little Arcadia High school Hornets.

A virtual holiday is expected to be declared here during the game, which is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m., and many football fans from this section of the state are expected to attend.

The Tide, district two champions, won the title of this area in an 18 to 6 victory over Choudrant at Tech field in Ruston the past Thursday, and had previously beaten Lake Providence, 7 to 0, in a preliminary playoff game.

Arcadia, experiencing one of its most successful seasons in years, won the northwest district crown and the right to face Columbia nearly two weeks ago by stopping Springhill, 13 to 0.

Columbia will present as stellar a combination of football talent as has been seen in Class B for some time, and is especially boosting the power of six members of the eleven for all-state honors. The Tide's candidates for all-state are running in pairs, two ends, two guards and two backs. They are Frank Ticheli, 198, and Vance Harrison, 184, ends; George Martin, 162, and Garland Gregory, 163, guards; and Joe May, 170, and Joe Hague, 165, backs.

Hague and May have been the Tide's touchdown combination practically all season, and Hague has tossed eight touchdown passes to May in the last four games alone. The locals also have two stellar tackles in a pair of redheads, Lewellyn and Duke; a capable center in James Sanders; and Don Haney, fullback, and J. M. (Poopdeck) Jones, Jr., halfback, round out a versatile backfield.

Arcadia is expected to provide a fast, light team led by the highly touted Gerald Hightower, who is being rated as one of the best performers in state Class B circles this season. Hightower has been the sparkplug of the Hornets all season, and will be the man to watch closely if the Tide hopes to check the invaders.

For the past couple of years Arcadia and Columbia have appeared in Class B play-off battles in their respective districts but neither got any farther. This season, however, they are both top ranking in north Louisiana and one is a cinch to take the north Louisiana crown and get a shot at the state crown.

MANY SEEK GEORGIA JOB VACATED BY COACH MEHRE

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 4.—(AP)—A flood of applications continued to arrive at University of Georgia athletic offices today for the head football coaching job relinquished this week by Harry J. Mehre, one-time star Notre Dame center.

Authorities refuse to release the names of applicants.

Some of the more vociferous alumni dissenters to the present coaching set-up have been clamoring for Bernie Bierman, the Minnesota pilot, or Frank Thomas, director of the Alabama Crimson Tide, for two or three years.

VOLS PUSH OVER FIVE TOUCHDOWNS TO WALLOP REBS

Sophomore George Cafego Paces Tennesseeans To Overwhelming Triumph

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The University of Tennessee climaxed an only fair gridiron season today with a brilliant running and passing exhibition, which rolled up five touchdowns to defeat the University of Mississippi here in Crump stadium, 32 to 0.

Sophomore Halfback George Cafego sparked the Vol ground and aerial attack, which clicked with ease through the much heavier Ole Miss line. The game was played in a mist before 7,000 spectators.

A Vol fumble in the first, recovered by the Rebels' Captain Bruiser Kinard on the Ole Miss 40, set the stage for an aerial attack which penetrated to the Tennessee 19. The Vols got down to business then, and stopped the drive.

The first score came in the second on a pass interception neatly executed by Halfback Melvin Herring, who took the Rebels' throw on the Ole Miss 40 and, behind the inspired blocking of Leonard Coffman and George Hunter, ran for a touchdown. Herring's placement was good.

Earlier in the period Cafego, on consecutive plunges and end sweeps, carried the ball from the Ole Miss 44 to the eight. Ray Hapes knocked down Cafego's pass intended for Bowden Wyatt and on the next play the Vols lost 12 yards. A try for a field goal by Herring was short.

Shortly after the third period opened Cafego, from his own 36, ripped through right tackle for 22 yards to the Ole Miss 32, where he was downed by Parker Hall. Cafego's pass to George Hunter was good for 14 more and on the next play the fleet halfback plunged to the right. Marion Perkins carried to the one and Cafego took it over. Herring converted.

Cafego's punt from his own 39 rolled crazily and touched Jack Ward, Ole Miss end, on the ankle. Hunter fell on the ball, giving possession to the Vols on the Rebel 23. A pass, Cafego to Hunter, placed it on the eight and Perkins scored.

Coach Robert Neyland, a severe cold forcing him to operate from the press box, substituted his second team after another drive to the two-yard line. Substitute Quarterback Robert Sneed plunged over for a score as the fourth period began. Sneed failed to convert.

A triple lateral, Sam Bartholomew to Nick Webber to Red Harp, accounted for the final score. Bill Barnes missed the point after touchdown.

Manning's 59-Yard Sprint Gives Florida Triumph In Last Game Of Year

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Florida cashed in on Ed Manning's 59-yard run today to turn back Kentucky 6 to 0 in the season's finale for both football teams.

Closing out his brilliant career, Walter Mayberry led the 'Gators through 60 minutes of wide-open, rough and tumble play. Both teams set up sterling pass defenses and interceptions halted a number of promising advances.

It was Manning, Mayberry's substitute, who sparked the 85-yard drive to the lone touchdown in the third period. Kentucky had taken the kickoff and smashed deep into Gator territory after Vincent Robinson returned the kick 44 yards to the Florida 41.

The Wildcat attack bogged down on the 18 and the 'Gators took over the ball. On the first play Manning was dumped for a three-yard loss, but he tore loose for 11 on the next try. From deep punt formation, he sped around left end, cut back across the field and almost managed to elude the safety man before he was slowed down and tackled on the Kentucky 16. Paul Delaney circled left end on a reverse for 14 more yards, then smashed over guard for the touchdown after two plunges failed.

Manning's placekick for the extra point was blocked by Lawrence Garland, end.

Recording 14 first downs to seven for Kentucky, Florida outgained the Wildcats 224 yards to 112 rushing and 63 to 16 on passes.

MATTHEWS KNOCKS OUT HAYDEN IN 2ND ROUND

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Oscar (King Kong) Matthews of Tallulah, La., ran his consecutive knockout string to seven straight at the Rockland palace tonight when he gained a technical knockout over Steve Hayden of Los Angeles in 41 seconds of the second round in a ten-round bout. A capacity crowd of 3,500 saw the scrap. Matthews weighed 198 and Hayden 200.

Cadets Restored To Roster Of Eligible Opponents For Members

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The United States military academy was restored to the list of opponents eligible for competition with Western conference universities today, when the Big Ten faculty committee rescinded the ban placed on the Cadets in 1932.

The Cadets were barred from participating with Big Ten teams because the West Point school allowed three years of competition to players who had previous seasons of play with other colleges. The conference limits its athletes to a combined total of three years on varsity teams.

Only football relations with the Army are expected to develop because West Point is too far removed from Big Ten territory to make feasible competition in minor sports. Illinois and Ohio State are the only schools likely to schedule the Cadets. It will be impossible however to arrange football dates with the Army until 1940 or later because Big Ten schedules have been tentatively arranged until that time.

The Big Ten housing table problem which is perennially brought up, was discussed but the committee deferred definite action until the May meeting, which will be held at Columbus, O., at the time of the Big Ten track and field championship meet.

The directors of athletics approved the suggestion for the installation of electric timing clocks placed on the score board in view of the spectators as the official timing device for all games. They also approved the suggestion that officials be garbed in white shirts or jerseys of black and white stripes to distinguish them from players.

ARMY 'BOOKED SOLID'

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Army athletic officials, while expressing satisfaction today over removal of further barrier to football relations with Big Ten colleges, pointed out that West Point gridiron schedules are already booked solid up to 1942.

Illinois, which played a colorful series with Army until it was interrupted by the Big Ten ban, probably will be the first conference college to return to the soldier schedule. Several others have indicated their desire to play Army.

REAL PLAY WINS BILOXI 'CAP AT FAIR GROUNDS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Real Play, one of the most consistent of the 1937 two-year-olds, added the $2,000 Biloxi Handicap to her string of victories today when she carried the silks of the Southland stable to an easy triumph over nine other juveniles.

The triumph, achieved under the guidance of Hubert Le Blanc of Kaplan, La., was the fifth straight for the daughter of Playtime and her sixth in seven races this year. Backed by such an enviable record she was heavily played in the mutuels, paying $3.50 for $2. It was the third straight race in which she was the odds-on-choice.

TEXAN TO MEET ROUGH OPPONENT IN MAIN EVENT

Balk Estes And Jackson Curtis, Two Newcomers, In Semi-Final Match

Charley Layden, the rugged Texas star, will take on another touch opponent at Twin City stadium next Wednesday night when tangles with Farmer Mack, the Maine potato grower, in the main event of the weekly wrestling card, it was announced yesterday.

The stadium officials apparently have adopted a policy of matching Layden against the barrelhouse performers as they come along, and so far it has provided some stirring matches. The Texan has demonstrated that he is thoroughly capable of taking care of himself, although it's doubtful if he's run up against anyone as tough as Mack, who made his local debut last week.

In the semi-final match of the weekly card, two new faces will be presented. Balk Estes, rough Pennsylvania coal miner, will meet Jackson Curtis, a Vicksburg entry who prefers the scientific style of grappling but who is said to be well able to take care of himself when the going gets tough. Both boys come well recommended.

Layden, who has won a large following here, has compiled a perfect record in the local arena. The former Texas football star, who is rated as one of the leading contenders for the light heavyweight championship, has met and defeated some tough ones here and he always gives the fans a run for their money. He's perfectly at home in all surroundings; if the boys wants to wrestle clean, he knows all the holds and can give 'em a busy evening. If they want to get tough, he'll play along with 'em and he usually comes out on top in the modern style of wrestling.

Mack wrestled a one-hour draw with Benny Mathis last week and it was only Mathis' rugged constitution that enabled him to stay the limit. The Maine agriculturist used all sorts of tactics in an effort to beat the Texan and to give him peace of trouble. In fact, Mathis reported after the match that he had taken plenty of punishment and protested Mack's behavior. Stadium officials believe the Farmer will give Layden plenty of trouble in a match that's certain to be a rousing affair. Incidentally, the fans almost mobbed Mack after the Mathis match and only police interference saved him from trouble.

Both matches will be [illegible] having a two-hour time limit and the semi-final [illegible] to one hour. Officials for the card have not been announced.

WRITERS APPROVE CHOICE OF 'BAMA

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Pacific coast sports editors and writers generally approve the choice of Alabama's Crimson Tide to oppose California's Golden Bears in the Rose Bowl New Year's day.

However, several coast scribes suggested that another team might have been a better choice.

Here's what the coast had to say:

Bill Leisler, associate sports editor, San Francisco Chronicle—The Crimson Tidemen, when they land in strange country in front of 100,000 strange fans, always hit emotional and mental peaks that makes them well nigh unbeatable.

Alabama always was first choice among California officials of the three available teams—Alabama, Pitt and Fordham.

Curley Grieve, San Francisco Examiner sports editor—Alabama probably will not be the inspirational foe Pittsburgh or Fordham would have been, but undoubtedly will prove a popular opponent.

Harry Smith, sports editor, San Francisco Chronicle—Personally I would have preferred Pittsburgh or Fordham.

Art Cohn, sports editor, Oakland Tribune—Well, anyhow it follows the Rose Bowl formula. When in doubt invite Alabama.

Pat Frayne, sports editor, San Francisco Call-Bulletin—I think it was a bad piece of matchmaking. California should have played Fordham, which would have been a more representative team of the eastern half of the country.

C. R. Stark, Jr., sports editor, Spokane Spokesman-Review—Alabama is the logical choice in an illogical season. . . . They have a bang-up, knock-down and drag-out fight, as indicated.

Dan Walton, sports editor, Tacoma News-Tribune—Fordham's team is good, but its record indicates it is primarily a defensive team and would not give California as interesting a game as Alabama.

Herb Ashlock, Spokane Chronicle—It's too bad Coach Frank Thomas and his boys must defend their spotless Tournament of Roses record against the Golden Bears.

Jack James, Los Angeles Examiner—Be assured of this, in case you've any lingering doubts, such as some of us entertained regarding Pitt last year, these boys will put up a ball game. A winning ball game, chances are.

Tom Akers, San Diego Tribune—Alabama enters the Rose Bowl this time something of a popular choice, in spite of the fact that the Golden Bears have come through with flying colors in the Pacific Coast conference a powerful, resourceful, game team.

Owls' Triumph Features Saturday Football Card

Slim Program Just About Winds Up Gridiron Activities For Season

By Associated Press.

The football Owls of Rice Institute, who started to "click" only after losing two of their first three games and tying the third, are the Southwest conference champions for 1937.

Topping off their late drive, the Owls came from behind to whip Southern Methodist 15-7 yesterday, thereby winning the conference title and the right to meet Colorado's Whizzer White and company in the New Year's day Cotton Bowl game at Dallas.

The Rice victory topped a slim Saturday program as college football just about completed the job of putting the 1937 campaign into the mothballs. Action was limited to the southwest, south and Pacific coast, with only nine games of more than passing interest.

On the intersectional slate the east won against the south when Duquesne's Night Riders pinned a 9-0 shutout on Mississippi State, and tied against the southwest when Manhattan's Jaspers battled Tulsa to a scoreless draw. For Duquesne it was the first away-from-home day-time win of the season.

Although Alabama's Rose-Bowl-bound Crimson Tide had long since sewed up Southeastern conference honors, the loop made a belated face-well with a pair of games. Tennessee beat the ears off Mississippi 32-0 and wound up the campaign with six victories, three setbacks and a tie, compared to the mediocre four wins and five losses turned in by Ole Miss. Also on the conference card, Florida provided what amounted to the first upset by nosing out Kentucky 6-0. The 'Gators had lost seven previous games this fall, while Kentucky, in won six four, had downed Manhattan and South Carolina among others.

Louisiana Tech fought Centenary to a 7-7 tie, each team scoring in the first period and then stalemating the rest of the way.

Rice's victory over S. M. U. climaxed one of the season's neatest comeback efforts. The Owls started out as "set-ups" of the southwest, losing to Oklahoma and Louisiana State and getting only a deadlock with Tulsa in the first three weeks. However, however, they started to come and in their last six games they trounced [illegible] four times, tied the Texas Aggies and dropped a close one to Texas Christian. T. C. U. would have won the conference crown of Rice had lost today.

Perhaps the day's No. 1 upset was the 7-7 tie to which Harris-Stoneham was held by Howard Payne. The deadlock removed the Cowboys from the nation's undefeated, untied list, after they had downed eight straight rivals and left only 12 teams boasting perfect records for the season.

Texas A. & M., although eliminated from the Southwest conference race, were [illegible] to have trouble in their intersectional finale against San Francisco on the Pacific coast but they ran wild on a touchdown spree and burned in a 42-0 victory, scoring in every period and topping it off with a 19-point fourth-quarter splurge.

Arizona furnished [illegible] of a surprise by tripping Oregon 20-6, while Southern California [illegible] in the Pacific coast conference [illegible] did about as expected by stopping U. C. L. A. 26-13 to keep [illegible] standing off the Bruins' [illegible] rush.

TROJANS NOSE OUT U. C. L. A., 19 TO 13

MEMORIAL COLISEUM, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Seventy thousand fans saw the Trojans of Southern California defeat the Bruins of University of California at Los Angeles, 19-13, in a sports-spectacular battle today.

For three quarters Trojan power stalled the reserve week Bruins into the bottom of the Pacific Coast conference cellar but the Uclans came back in the final period to score touchdowns on the pinpoint arm of Kenny Washington, negro halfback star.

Trailing 19 to 0, Washington flipped a touchdown pass good for 41 yards to Hal Hirshon. Walt Schell kicked the extra point.

Twenty-six seconds later, on the first play after taking the kickoff, Kenny sailed a perfect spiral that traveled no less than 66 yards and maybe as much as 73 yards. Hirshon made the goal dash.

Troy's great quarterback, Grover Lansdall, scored the first touchdown and passed 20 yards to Joe Shell, reserve back, for the other.

ETCHEBASTER WINS FIRST OF COURT TENNIS MATCHES

TUXEDO, N. Y., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Pierre Etchebaster, a little Frenchman no mindful of Henri Cochet, gave tennising Ogden Phipps the licking of his life at the Tuxedo club today in the opening four-set block of their match for the World's Open Court Tennis championship.

"Alabaster," who will be 41 next week, completely outclassed his 24-year-old opponent, who holds the American amateur title, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

The little Basque was in command from the start. Few of those who paid $16.50 a throw to witness the match knew how to keep score. It takes long, sober years to learn that. But none could fail to appreciate the artistry of Pierre's strokes. When it was over Phipps stuttered: "Mr. I didn't know anybody could play like that.

FLORIDA EDGES UP IN SOUTHEASTERN

Victory Over Kentucky Gives 'Gators Eighth Place In Conference

ATLANTA, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Florida edged up into eighth place in the final Southeastern conference football standings today by nicking Kentucky, 6-0, in the windup program of the intra-league season.

Tennessee failed to improve it's seventh position but handed Mississippi a 32-0 shellacking, the worst beating of the season for the Rebels.

Mississippi State staved off all Duquesne threat before 4,000 customers at Starkville until the final minutes of the game when the easterners snatched a 9-0 victory.

Manning's 59-yard run set up the Florida touchdown that pushed the Gators a few percentage points ahead of Tulane. A dropped pass in the final minute killed the visiting Kentuckians' last chance for their first 1937 touchdown against a conference foe.

The fierce running and deft passing of Sophomore Cafego stood out in the furious second half attack that swamped Mississippi in the presence of 7,000 chilled customers at Memphis.

Georgia's non-conference date with Miami at the Florida city next Friday night and the Rose Bowl assignment for Alabama's champions are the only [illegible] left on the card.

The final conference standings:

| | W | L | T | TP | OP |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Alabama | 6 | 0 | 0 | 145 | 20 |

PICAYUNE AND JESUITS TO PLAY FOR DOLL FUND

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Directors of the Times-Picayune Doll and Toy Fund announced today that Picayune High school of Mississippi and Jesuit High school of New Orleans will meet in the "Toy Bowl" football game here next Saturday.

They selected the Jesuit team today because of the Picayune Maroon Tide had been announced previously.

Picayune has lost just five football games in five years, the last on New Year's day this year to Jesuit 13 to 0 in the Toy Bowl game. Dobie Holden, former Louisiana State university star, coaches.

This season the Tide scored 344 points against 44 in defeating 20 opponents.

GERMAN TEAM WINS 63RD SIX-DAY BICYCLE GRIND

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Turning on a last hour burst of speed, the German team of Gustave Kilian and Heinz Vopel rode the rest of the field into the track tonight and won New York's 63rd six-day bicycle race by a count going to Kilian, excellent rounds of 16,000 in Madison Square garden.

EASTON DEFEATS JESUITS, 7 TO 0

Long Pass Late In Second Quarter Gives Eagles Victory In Playoff

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A long pass to Milton Clavier from Lou Thomas gave the Warren Easton Eagles a victory over Jesuit High school today before 25,000 fans at Tulane stadium, 7 to 0.

By rules of the Louisiana High School Athletic association, the Easton triumph placed the Eagles in a tie with Fortier High school for the city prep school championship.

Fortier was undefeated by conventional scoring during the regular season. However, under rules of the state association, its scoreless tie with Warren Easton was adjudged an Easton victory by virtue of the Eagles' greater number of first downs.

Warren Easton was defeated, 6 to 0, by Holy Cross, in the New Orleans Prep School Athletic Association league.

It is likely that directors of the state athletic association will meet tomorrow or Monday to decide the tie possibly by arranging a playoff game. J. M. Boyett of Vinton is president of the state body.

The winner then will meet the victor in tonight's Catholic High of Baton Rouge-Bogalusa High school tussle waged for the south Louisiana championship.

The conqueror will be matched with Byrd High school of Shreveport for the state high school championship.

MANY SEEK GEORGIA JOB VACATED BY COACH MEHRE

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 4.—(AP)—A flood of applications continued to arrive at University of Georgia athletic offices today for the head football coaching job relinquished a week by Harry J. Mehre, one-time star Notre Dame center.

Officials refuse to release the names of applicants.

Some of the most vociferous alumni deserters to the present coaching setup have been clamoring for Bernie Bierman, the Minnesota great or Frank Thomas, alumnus of the Alabama Crimson Tide for four or three years previous.

COLUMBIA MEETS ARCADIA FOR 'B' TITLE ON FRIDAY

North Louisiana Championship At Stake When Strong Teams Clash

COLUMBIA, La., Dec. 4.—(Special)—The annual north Louisiana Class B football championship battle will take place for the first time in the history of Columbia here next Friday, when the Crimson Tide of Columbia High school tangles with the high-geared little Arcadia High school Hornets.

A virtual holiday is expected to be declared here during the game, which is scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m., and many football fans from this section of the state are expected to attend.

The Tide, district two champions, won the title of this area in an 18 to 6 victory over Choudrant at Tech field in Ruston the past Thursday, and had previously beaten Lake Providence, 7 to 0, in a preliminary playoff game.

Arcadia, experiencing one of its most successful seasons in years, won the northwest district crown and the right to face Columbia nearly two weeks ago by stopping Springhill, 13 to 0.

Columbia will present as stellar a combination of football talent as has been seen in Class B for some time, and is especially boasting the power of six members of the eleven for all-state honors. The Tide's candidates for all-state are running in pairs, two ends, two guards and two backs. They are Frank Tisbett, 198, and Vance Harrison, 184, ends; George Martin, 162, and Garland Gregory, 163, guards; and Joe May, 170, and Joe Hague, 165, backs.

Hague and May have been the Tide's touchdown combination practically all season, and Hague has tossed eight touchdown passes to May in the last four games alone. The locals also have two stellar tackles in a pair of redheads, Lowelyn and Duke; a capable center in James Sanders; and Don Haney, fullback, and J. M. (Poopdeck) Jones Jr., halfback, round out a versatile backfield.

Arcadia is expected to provide a fast, tight team led by the highly touted Gerald Hightower, who is being rated as one of the best performers in state Class B circles this season. Hightower has been the sparkplug of the Hornets all season, and will be the man to watch closely if the Tide hopes to check the invaders.

For the past couple of years Arcadia and Columbia have appeared in Class B play-off but as in their respective districts but neither got any farther. This season, however, they are both top ranked in north Louisiana and one is expected to win the north Louisiana crown and get a shot at the state crown.

BULLDOGS SCORE EARLY IN GAME

interference of their associates in the Bulldog backfield.

The Bulldog line, particularly that of the the team that started the game, was superb. Those forwards were largely responsible for the magificent showing of the "underdog" Tech eleven. The Centenary line also was great, but then the Gents were supposed to be superior.

Thirteen Tech seniors turned in their togs for good following the game. The departing gridmen are James Mize, Aloys Adkins, Irwin Causey, Don Darling, Oscar Wells, Clyde Funderburk, "Wimpy" Giddens, Wallace Hanna, S. X. Lewis, Don Wiley, Herbert Massey, Carl Gardner and Captain Johnny Wyss.

It also was the finale of six Centenary players: Hal Burgess, Ogbourne Rawlinson, Lanford Huddleston, W. H. Stone, Al Beasley and William Harris.

The size of the crowd was surprising. It rained right up to game time and nobody could have blamed one for staying away. Yet the stands were filled with some real football fans and officials of both schools were more than pleased with the crowd. Several hundred Monroe fans attended the north Louisiana classic.

Tech supporters feared the Bulldogs were facing another "wet weather" jinx. A muddy field—something Tech hasn't had to put up with in three years—was held responsible for the Bulldogs' 13-0 loss to Ole Miss and their 2-2 loss to Illinois Wesleyan. But today it was different. The Tech passes clicked when needed, although there are several thousand Bulldog supporters who will tell you that Tech would would have won on a dry field.

The Tech and Centenary bands paraded during the half. Centenary's aggregation made a big hit with its serenade of the west stands. As the band played some hotsy-totsy music, a platinum-haired beauty swayed to and fro, as well as up and down, to add a real collegiate touch to the occasion. Needless to add, the young lady made a big hit with the crowd.

The starting lineups:

NEW HIGH HURDLES MARK APPROVED BY AMATEURS

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Paul R. Jordan, chairman of the National Amateur Athletic union records committee, announced today the committee had approved a new record of 14 seconds for the 120-yard high hurdles set by Robert D. Osgood of the University of Michigan last May 22 in the Big Ten outdoor meet.

The mark displaces the old record of 14.1 seconds held by Forrest Towns of the University of Georgia. Towns still holds the A. A. U. record of 14.1 for the 110-meter high hurdles, however. The 110-meter course is 10.7 inches longer than 120 yards.

GEORGIA MAPS DEFENSIVE PLANS FOR MIAMI GAME

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The Georgia Bulldogs laid scrimmage defenses against Miami plays today in preparation for their tilt December 10 with the Miamians. In a tussle with the freshmen, the varsity crossed the goal six times. Jimmy Fordham and Gus Cate were offensive standouts. Coach Vernon Smith, who saw the Miami-South Carolina game, gave the freshmen pointers on using the hurricane offense.

WAGNER RE-ELECTED AS SEMI-PRO COMMISSIONER

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—J. Honus Wagner, once one of baseball's greatest infielders, was re-elected high commissioner of semi-pro baseball today for a fourth consecutive term.

Wagner is a coach with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

$110,000 AS AMATEUR

To be sure, there always is Fordham, but when Pittsburgh rejects a highly remunerative pigskin appointment, Grade A bowlers are becoming scarce.

California's demanding some learning in the other corner was commendable, but a school about to drag down $110,000 for participating in a commercial venture miles from its campus, shouldn't be too choosy. It can't expect to collect that kind of kale on a strictly amateur basis.

It is Alabama's fifth trip to the Arroyo Seco, and the Crimson Tide has yet to be repelled. Under Wallace Wade, Alabama repulsed Washington in a thriller, 20-19, January 1, 1926. It tied Stanford, 7-7, one year later, and Wade's finest job at Tuscaloosa crushed Washington State, 24-0, January 1, 1931.

Frank Thomas was in charge of the Alabama squad that passed its way to victory over Stanford three years ago.

After watching erudite Alabama ramble through the 1937 season of upsets wtihout a setback, southern observers are at a loss to figure out just where the strength of the precise, never-give-up array lies.

TEAMWORK, BALANCE

Coach Thomas believes the fourfold answer to this year's success is teamwork, balance, coordination and spirit.

Of course there's Joe Kilgrow, whose play in the backfield all year has been unwavering, but Kilgrow isn't the broken-field breakaway artist nor the punter that Dixie Howell was.

Tut Warren and Tex Shoemaker are consistent ends who have had a great deal to do with the success of the Tide, but neither is in the class with Don Hutson as a deceptive pass-snagger.

Kilgrow, 176-pound senior, is the team's mainspring. He played 60 minutes in the tough Tulane, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt battles, never tiring in his plugging, plunging style. Kilgrow calls signals from left halfback, does the passing and much of the running.

Sharing the ball-lugging chores are Charley Holm, strapping 191-pound fullback and younger brother of Tony Holm, all-America fullback at Alabama in 1929. George Zivich, 176-pound East Chicago, Ind., youth, does the punting, and his blocking, unbeknownst to most of those who watch the man with the ball, is one of the reasons the wheels go round. Vic Bradford, quarterback, is also a fine blocker.

GRADE A LINE

In the line, Captain Leroy Monsky, 198-pound guard, and Jim Ryba, 196-pound tackle, are the big berthas. Monsky and Lew Bostick, a 193-pounder, man the guards, and are two of the fastest, deadliest pair of blockers 'Bama has ever had. Ryba is poison at tackle.

At the tackle post opposite Ryba is Walter Merrill, staunch 220-pound sophomore who looks like a great player for two years to come. He is raw-boned and rugged. Another soph, Carey Cox, handles first string center after having beaten out an upperclassman in mid-season. Only Ryba, Kilgrow, and Monsky of the first eleven are seniors.

Thomas' second team is sparked by Soph Herky Moseley, who runs, passes and punts like Howell. The second-stringers are far more spectacular than the regulars. There is little lost when replacements are sent in.

Hayward Sanford won the Vanderbilt battle with a fourth-period field goal.

Thomas is a resourceful coach, and has the material with which to find the way at Pasadena.

MANHATTAN AND TULSA PLAY SCORELESS DRAW

TULSA, Okla. Dec. 4.—(AP)—A goal line fumble when a Manhattan touchdown seemed a certainty and the bottling up of Tulsa's passing attack spelled a scoreless tie today in the intersectional football game between Manhattan college and the University of Tulsa.

Halfback Victor Fusia was the victim of the goal line bobble that cost Manhattan a touchdown in the second.

It was first down on the Tulsa two yard line. Halfback Harold Savage made a yard. Fusia smashed the left side of the line and as he hit a pile of players on the goal line the ball spurted from his arms and into clear. It rolled behind the goal line where R. Gregory fell on it for Tulsa.

THE MAX BAERS ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF EIGHT-POUND BOY

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 4.—(AP)—An eight-pound boy was born tonight to Mrs. Max Baer, wife of the former heavyweight boxing champion.

Physicians said the mother and baby were "doing nicely."

Mrs. Baer is the former Mary Ellen Sullivan, Washington, D. C.

Baer, who had announced "if it's a boy he's going to be a champ, I know," paced the hospital corridor for a half hour before the nurse announced he had become a father.

CRACKERS SELL CATCHER GALVIN TO LITTLE ROCK

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—President Earl Mann of the Atlanta Southern association baseball club announced sale of Catcher Jim Galvin to the champion Little Rock club today.

Galvin will replace Ray Thompson, who retired to become a policeman.

Mann said he would bring Dewey Williams to the Crackers as a "B" catcher. Williams was farmed to the Macon Peaches last season.

Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt formed an organization known as the American Legion some years before the World war, in conjunction with some of his Rough Riders of Spanish war days.

NEW YORK TOUGH ON UNDERWORLD

Series Of Narcotic Raids Follows Racket-Busting Campaign

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—New York has become "definitely hot" for the underworld.

A series of narcotic raids, following closely on the Dewey racket-busting campaign and the "slap 'em down" orders of Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, has added a sizzling touch of the dramatic cleanup.

Discussing the latest offensive against organized crime, Major Garland Williams, district chief of the federal narcotics bureau, said:

"The heat is on. That's known to the underworld all over. They're either going to move out of the city or go to jail. They can take their choice."

"In a few weeks," he said, "we will have things definitely under control."

The officer has established a new policy of maneuvering whole narcotic syndicates into his traps before springing them.

"Our chief concern, of course, is to get the big shots," he said, "but we are not satisfied with stopping there. We want the whole organization."

The task has been complicated, he said by the fact that while the rings were interlocked to some extent they operated for the most part as independent organizations.

Four months after Major Williams came here to take charge of the district—he formerly was superintendent of the customs border control at El Paso, Tex.—a raiding party swarmed over a little British freighter in the harbor and seized half a million dollars worth of opium and eight prisoners.

It was only the opening gun of the major offensive that started in October.

Their watches synchronized, a small army of agents in New York, Houston, Galveston and New Orleans made the first of a series of simultaneous raids on the night of October 4. A total of 74 persons including 12 women, were indicted as members of that gang, which was charged with handling up to $25,000,000 worth of narcotics in the last two years.

Then came the fantastic roundup of what he referred to as "the Chinese mob," on November 19. Two agents, derworld leader and buying narcotics posing as nephews of a powerful unlavishly, had worked for two years to penetrate the barriers of a Chinese secret society.

They were accepted as members of the secret organization, and were initiated at an elaborate ceremony during which they genuflected before strange Chinese images in a swirl of exotic incense.

On the basis of information they obtained at constant risk of their lives, fellow agents descended suddenly on Francisco, Butte, Mont., Pittsburgh, members of the gang in Chicago, San and New York.

Twenty-three prisoners were taken. Three customs officers were among the 20 prisoners seized in the next sortie, which took place eleven days later, on November 30. The customs men were accused of accepting bribes to look the other way when young women debarked from transatlantic liners with trunk-loads of narcotics.

THINK MADRID'S ZERO HOUR NEAR

Eight Insurgent Planes Bomb Several Towns In That Sector

MADRID, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eighteen insurgent war planes bombed several towns in the Madrid sector today in what observers considered the terrorizing prelude to a powerful offensive against the central front.

It was the third raid in three days on several villages. Anti-aircraft fire turned back the air fleet's approach to Madrid, disabling one plane.

The series of bombings on the cold plains above Madrid, at Tarancon, Santa Cruz de la Zarza and Fuentedueña de Tajo, already has sent about 500 persons to their graves and to hospitals.

Today's casualties were low because the continued attacks had set the villagers to burrowing underground refuges in hillsides. Lookouts, stationed on hilltops, gave warning at the approach of the planes.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's big push is long overdue. While most quarters said he planned no winter campaign most observers contended the zero hour was near.

Another view was that Franco sought to draw government planes from the Aragon front, preliminary to a vigorous thrust in eastern Spain. Nearly every dispatch from that area reported increasingly heavy insurgent concentrations.

Early today 20 government bombers, escorted by three squadrons of fighters, bombed Almudevar on the Zaragoza-Huesca road with intensive damage.

CRUTCHER PLANS 'BUY NOW' PROGRAM

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—James H. Crutcher, Louisiana WPA administrator, said today a "buy now" program for materials and commodities has been adopted and may send $1,500,000 into trade channels by January 15.

Crutcher said Harry L. Hopkins, national WPA administrator, telegraphed instructions in behalf of President Roosevelt to purchase as soon as possible materials needed by the state organization for January, February and March.

Governor Richard W. Leche and Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans have been asked to cooperate.

Crutcher added he had asked sponsors of WPA projects throughout the state to aid in the program.

BULLY

BOOTLEGGING ON DOWNWARD TRAIL

Quality Goes Up And Price Down As Time For Bonded Whisky Nears

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The fourth anniversary of federal prohibition repeal tomorrow will find the bootlegger still in existence but his activities "greatly reduced."

The fifth year of repeal opens with 43 out of the 48 states permitting the sale of hard liquor, with liquor tax revenues rising and with the first large supply of bonded whisky about ready to tap.

From the consumer standpoint, officials say the quality of whisky is gradually going up and the price down. This process, they believe, will be speeded up next July 1 when between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 gallons of bonded whisky will be ready to come out of warehouses. Bonded whisky must be aged for four or more years and next July will be the first release date for the post-repeal product.

The impact of this supply on prices will be watched closely by enforcement officers. They believe that, although bootlegging probably never will be wiped out altogether, cheap legal whisky will make most bootlegging unprofitable.

Measured by seizures of illegal stills, bootlegging has been cut in half in the last two years. Before then, the treasury's alcohol tax unit confiscated an average of 300 stills a week.

Many of these still seizures, he added, are in the five remaining dry states—Tennessee, Georgia, Mississippi, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Government figures show substantial increases in the consumption of legal liquor during the last three fiscal years. The gallonage figures on quantities of tax paid alcohol for the three years ended June 30 in each case were: 1935, 82,544,332; 1936, 110,186,311; 1937, 130,196,858.

The federal government has collected nearly two billion dollars in taxes on liquor since repeal and the states many millions more. Here's the federal bill:

FREEZING WEATHER AGAIN PREDICTED

(By Associated Press)

Freezing weather was predicted for the south by Monday morning, with "some possibility of snow," as a result of a cold wave moving out of the northwest.

Light showers were forecast Saturday night in many portions of the southeast, accompanied by slowly rising temperatures. The mercury was due to reach its highest point Sunday noon, and thereafter plunge to the low 30's.

The cold snap, weather observers said, would probably last about three days, but is not expected to equal that experienced in the southeast two weeks ago.

The high pressure area was described as centered over Montana and and Pembina, N .D., were among the coldest spots on the weather map, moving slowly eastward. Williston each with a reading of 6 degrees above zero at midday. Chicago reported 34, Duluth 16, Omaha 32, Des Moines 26, Kansas City and St. Louis 34, and Oklahoma City 42.

GENERAL BAILS OUT OF ICY AIRPLANE

PIKEVILLE, Tenn. Dec. 4—(AP)—Adjutant General R. O. Smith of the Tennessee national guard jumped to safety in his parachute from an ice coated plane in the Cumberland mountains near here today.

His pilot, Major Walter M. Williams, sighted a landing spot as he stood on the plane wing poised to jump, crawled back into the cockpit and landed the plane. The two were en route to their homes in Nashville from the Miami air show.

"Our plane became covered with ice as a storm closed in on us over Monteagle, Tenn.," said Major Williams.

"We were unable to turn back to Chattanooga and feared to go ahead. The visibility was so bad we could not see the ground. We radioed that we were going to jump.

"General Smith bailed out and his chute caught in a tall pine tree, leaving him suspended about 15 feet from the ground. He dropped to earth without injury."

TWO NASHVILLE PAPERS COMBINE

News And Editorial Departments, However, Will Remain Separate

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The two Nashville newspapers—the Banner and the Tennessean—announced tonight the formation of a printing corporation to publish both, but with each preserving its own corporate identity.

The plan, effective after tomorrow morning's issues, involves discontinuance of the Tennessean's evening edition and of the Sunday Banner. The Tennessean will be published seven mornings a week and the Banner six afternoons.

"We have formed the Newspaper Printing corporation, an agency corporation charged solely with the production of our respective newspapers," said the announcement by Silliman Evans, publisher of the Tennessean, and James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Banner.

"This corporation will have charge of the advertising, circulation and mechanical processes of the Nashville Banner and the Nashville Tennessean.

"This is no new departure in the newspaper publishing business. It is a localized adaptation of plans that are being successfully carried out elsewhere."

Work is in progress on a new building that will accommodate both papers. Until it is completed, the Tennessean will publish in the Banner building.

"Each newspaper will preserve its respective corporate identity," the publishers' statement said, emphasizing that each "will preserve its exclusive news and editorial authority, independence and identity, free from any editorial authority, independence and identity, free from any relationship" with the other. * * *"

"This is a joint enterprise, conceived in the public interest, as well as our own. Neither paper is taking the other over. Each of us is endeavoring to apply ordinary common sense to a joint situation.

"Costs of newspaper production have been mounting for years. Taxes, labor, materials have been gradually diminishing the profitable return from newspaper properties."

It was disclosed that the negotiations have been in progress since August.

The statement gave "the public assurance that each newspaper is entering a new era of operation heretofore impossible in Nashville, with the conviction that the operation will prove to the utmost satisfaction to our readers, our advertisers and the public generally."

CAMPBELL FINED BY BARBER-JUDGE

Actor-Scenarist Shows Better Humor And Pays Off Assessment

KINGSVILLE, Md., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The magistrate-barber of Kingsville, who doffs his white coat for a black one while sitting on the bench in a corner of his shop, shaved $101.45 today from the bankroll of Alan Campbell, actor-scenarist husband of Dorothy Parker, author and wit.

Campbell, in better humor than yesterday when he went to jail rather than pay the fine against himself after paying one of $101.45 for his driver, Louis Bohlman, grinned during the hearing and paid the fine. His attorney gave notice of appeal.

Magistrate Harry D. Probert, who gets 35 cents for haircuts, 15 cents for shaves, and $1.45 costs for hearing speeding cases, found Campbell guilty of allowing his chauffeur to speed 70 miles an hour through a 25-mile zone, despite Campbell's pleas that:

He was on his way to Baltimore for treatment for an eye ailment, had put "drops" in his eyes, was wearing dark glasses, kept his eyes closed to avoid strain, and couldn't see the speedometer.

He had never ridden in the light truck before and didn't know "the feel" of it at high speeds.

"To test his eyes," testified Sergeant E. S. Haddaway, who arrested Campbell, "I looked under the M's for oculists (when Campbell asked that he look up the telephone number of his oculist). 'He said, 'I think you'll have more success if you look under the O's.' Then he said he would call information for the telephone number. That's my case."

"Then," said the judge, "in your opinion he could see the speedometer?"

"Yes. If he could see the M's in the telephone book, I see no reason why he couldn't see the speedometer."

Campbell grinned.

BIG JIM THORPE FIGHTS INDIAN ACT

SHAWNEE, Okla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Big Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, stormed into tribal politics tonight as he once did down a football gridiron.

"They want us to go back to the blanket," Thorpe told fellow Sac and Fox Indians in a speech denouncing the Thomas-Rogers Indian act and urging against adoption of a separate constitution by the tribe.

"What's the use of educating an Indian and training him for citizenship then forcing him to live under separate constitution?" He asked.

The Thomas-Rogers act would permit tribes to set up their own constitutions under approval of the Indian service. More than 600 Sac and Fox Indians are eligible to vote on the constitution question Tuesday.

World's Latest Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Specialties, led by farm implements, gave a quiet display of strength in today's stock market.

While a few issues got up as much as 6 points or so at the best, most leaders lacked sufficient buying support to extend the recent rally by more than fractions. There also was an assortment of losers at the close.

The machinery group apparently was taken in hand on the theory congress would put through a farm bill increasing rural buying power.

Dealings were unusually slow for a Saturday session, approximating 500,000 shares.

Commodities and bonds were uneven.

Steels were unable to get much of a grip on the upside.

Utilities were moderately resistant following word Senator King of Utah would introduce a bill next week to repeal the so-called "death sentence" clause in the controversial holding company. Rails, oils, merchandising and aircraft shares were narrow.

Coppers were bolstered by a modest advance in the export price for the metal. A few building material issues again responded to hopes engendered by the New Deal housing program.

BULLDOGS SCORE EARLY IN GAME

interference of their associates in the Bulldog backfield.

The Bulldog line, particularly that of the the team that started the game, was superb. Those forwards were largely responsible for the magificent showing of the "underdog" Tech eleven. The Centenary line also was great, but then the Gents were supposed to be superior.

Thirteen Tech seniors turned in their togs for good following the game. The departing gridmen are James Mize, Aloys Adkins, Irwin Causey, Don Darling, Oscar Wells, Clyde Funderburk, "Wimpy" Giddens, Wallace Hanna, S. X. Lewis, Don Wiley, Herbert Massey, Carl Gardner and Captain Johnny Wyss.

It also was the finale of six Centenary players: Hal Burgess, Ogbourne Rawlinson, Lanford Huddleston, W. H. Stone, Al Beasley and William Harris.

The size of the crowd was surprising. It rained right up to game time and nobody could have blamed one for staying away. Yet the stands were filled with some real football fans and officials of both schools were more than pleased with the crowd. Several hundred Monroe fans attended the north Louisiana classic.

Tech supporters feared the Bulldogs were facing another "wet weather" jinx. A muddy field—something Tech hasn't had to put up with in three years—was held responsible for the Bulldogs' 13-0 loss to Ole Miss and their 2-2 loss to Illinois Wesleyan. But today it was different. The Tech passes clicked when needed, although there are several thousand Bulldog supporters who will tell you that Tech would would have won on a dry field.

The Tech and Centenary bands paraded during the half. Centenary's aggregation made a big hit with its serenade of the west stands. As the band played some hotsy-totsy music, a platinum-haired beauty swayed to and fro, as well as up and down, to add a real collegiate touch to the occasion. Needless to add, the young lady made a big hit with the crowd.

The starting lineups:

| Centenary | Pos. | La. Tech |
|---|---|---|
| Patterson | LE | Funderburk |
| Vinson | LT | Giddens |
| Bradley | LG | Nitter |
| Rawlinson | C | Hewitt |
| Zimmerman | RG | Adkins |
| Jones | RT | Swindell |
| Olzack | RE | Trimble |
| Beasley | QB | Darling |
| Aills | HB | Eagar |
| Bynum | HB | Westbrook |
| Birklebach | FB | Whitman |

Score by periods:

| | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Centenary | 7 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 7 |
| La. Tech | 7 | 0 | 0 | 0 | — 7 |

Scoring: Tech touchdowns: Funderburk (pass from Eager); point after touchdown: Eagar (placement). Centenary touchdown: Stone; point after touchdown: Birklebach (placement).

First downs: Centenary 9, Tech 5.

Substitutes: Centenary, Outz, Stone, Looney, Clark, Staples, Lingo, Smith, Whitehurst, Partin, Warren. Tech: Lewis, Jaggers, Girard, Williamson, Sumrall, Mize, LaBue, Causey, Hanna, Meeks, Wiley, Wyss, Jones, Williams, Barnett, Adams, Rajean, Floyd.

Penalties: Centenary 30 yards, Tech 25 yards.

Officials: Viner (Missouri), referee; Burghard (Mississippi college), umpire; Maxton (Mississippi), head linesman; Young (Illinois Wesleyan).

NEW YORK SUN ANNOUNCES ANNUAL ALL-AMERICA TEAM

The selections:

First team: Ends, Smith, Oklahoma, and Souchak, Pittsburgh; tackles, Mellus, Villanova, and Kinard, Mississippi; guards, Routt, Texas A. and M., and Franco, Fordham; center; Wojciechowicz, Fordham; quarterback, Meek, California; halfbacks, White, Colorado, and Chapman, California; fullback, Frank, Yale.

Alternates: Ends, Holland, Cornell, and Sweeney, Notre Dame; tackles, Matisi, Pittsburgh, and Markov, Washington; guards, Monsky, Alabama, and Zarnas, Ohio State; center, Hinkle, Vanderbilt; quarterback, Luckman, Columbia; halfbacks, Goldberg, Pittsburgh, and MacLeod, Dartmouth; fullback, Davis, Indiana.

NEW HIGH HURDLES MARK APPROVED BY AMATEURS

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Paul R. Jordan, chairman of the National Amateur Athletic union records committee, announced today the committee had approved a new record of 14 seconds for the 120-yard high hurdles set by Robert D. Osgood of the University of Michigan last May 22 in the Big Ten outdoor meet.

The mark displaces the old record of 14.1 seconds held by Forrest Towns of the University of Georgia. Towns still holds the A. A. U. record of 14.1 for the 110-meter high hurdles, however. The 110-meter course is 10.7 inches longer than 120 yards.

GEORGIA MAPS DEFENSIVE PLANS FOR MIAMI GAME

WAGNER RE-ELECTED AS SEMI-PRO COMMISSIONER

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—J. Honus Wagner, once one of baseball's greatest infielders, was re-elected high commissioner of semi-pro baseball today for a fourth consecutive term.

Wagner is a coach with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

$110,000 AS AMATEUR

To be sure, there always is Fordham, but when Pittsburgh rejects a highly remunerative pigskin appointment, Grade A bowlers are becoming scarce.

California's demanding some learning in the other corner was commendable, but a school about to drag down $110,000 for participating in a commercial venture miles from its campus, shouldn't be too choosy. It can't expect to collect that kind of kale on a strictly amateur basis.

It is Alabama's fifth trip to the Arroyo Seco, and the Crimson Tide has yet to be repelled. Under Wallace Wade, Alabama repulsed Washington in a thriller, 20-19, January 1, 1926. It tied Stanford, 7-7, one year later, and Wade's finest job at Tuscaloosa crushed Washington State, 24-0, January 1, 1931.

Frank Thomas was in charge of the Alabama squad that passed its way to victory over Stanford three years ago.

After watching erudite Alabama ramble through the 1937 season of upsets wtihout a setback, southern observers are at a loss to figure out just where the strength of the precise, never-give-up array lies.

TEAMWORK, BALANCE

Coach Thomas believes the fourfold answer to this year's success is teamwork, balance, coordination and spirit.

Of course there's Joe Kilgrow, whose play in the backfield all year has been unwavering, but Kilgrow isn't the broken-field breakaway artist nor the punter that Dixie Howell was.

Tut Warren and Tex Shoemaker are consistent ends who have had a great deal to do with the success of the Tide, but neither is in the class with Don Hutson as a deceptive pass-snagger.

Kilgrow, 176-pound senior, is the team's mainspring. He played 60 minutes in the tough Tulane, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt battles, never tiring in his plugging, plunging style. Kilgrow calls signals from left halfback, does the passing and much of the running.

Sharing the ball-lugging chores are Charley Holm, strapping 191-pound fullback and younger brother of Tony Holm, all-America fullback at Alabama in 1929. George Zivich, 176-pound East Chicago, Ind., youth, does the punting, and his blocking, unbeknownst to most of those who watch the man with the ball, is one of the reasons the wheels go round. Vic Bradford, quarterback, is also a fine blocker.

GRADE A LINE

In the line, Captain Leroy Monsky, 198-pound guard, and Jim Ryba, 196-pound tackle, are the big berthas. Monsky and Lew Bostick, a 193-pounder, man the guards, and are two of the fastest, deadliest pair of blockers 'Bama has ever had. Ryba is poison at tackle.

At the tackle post opposite Ryba is Walter Merrill, staunch 220-pound sophomore who looks like a great player for two years to come. He is raw-boned and rugged. Another soph, Carey Cox, handles first string center after having beaten out an upperclassman in mid-season. Only Ryba, Kilgrow, and Monsky of the first eleven are seniors.

Thomas' second team is sparked by Soph Herky Moseley, who runs, passes and punts like Howell. The second-stringers are far more spectacular than the regulars. There is little lost when replacements are sent in.

Hayward Sanford won the Vanderbilt battle with a fourth-period field goal.

MANHATTAN AND TULSA PLAY SCORELESS DRAW

TULSA, Okla. Dec. 4.—(AP)—A goal line fumble when a Manhattan touchdown seemed a certainty and the bottling up of Tulsa's passing attack spelled a scoreless tie today in the intersectional football game between Manhattan college and the University of Tulsa.

Halfback Victor Fusia was the victim of the goal line bobble that cost Manhattan a touchdown in the second.

It was first down on the Tulsa two yard line. Halfback Harold Savage made a yard. Fusia smashed the left side of the line and as he hit a pile of players on the goal line the ball spurted from his arms and into clear. It rolled behind the goal line where R. Gregory fell on it for Tulsa.

THE MAX BAERS ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF EIGHT-POUND BOY

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 4.—(AP)—An eight-pound boy was born tonight to Mrs. Max Baer, wife of the former heavyweight boxing champion.

Physicians said the mother and baby were "doing nicely."

Mrs. Baer is the former Mary Ellen Sullivan, Washington, D. C.

Baer, who had announced "if it's a boy he's going to be a champ, I know," paced the hospital corridor for a half hour before the nurse announced he had become a father.

CRACKERS SELL CATCHER GALVIN TO LITTLE ROCK

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(AP)—President Earl Mann of the Atlanta Southern association baseball club announced sale of Catcher Jim Galvin to the champion Little Rock club today.

Galvin will replace Ray Thompson, who retired to become a policeman.

Mann said he would bring Dewey Williams to the Crackers as a "B" catcher. Williams was farmed to the Macon Peaches last season.

NEW YORK TOUGH ON UNDERWORLD

Series Of Narcotic Raids Follows Racket-Busting Campaign

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—(AP)—New York has become "definitely hot" for the underworld.

A series of narcotic raids, following closely on the Dewey racket-busting campaign and the "slap 'em down" orders of Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, has added a sizzling touch of the dramatic cleanup.

Discussing the latest offensive against organized crime, Major Garland Williams, district chief of the federal narcotics bureau, said:

"The heat is on. That's known to the underworld all over. They're either going to move out of the city or go to jail. They can take their choice."

"In a few weeks," he said, "we will have things definitely under control."

The officer has established a new policy of maneuvering whole narcotic syndicates into his traps before springing them.

"Our chief concern, of course, is to get the big shots," he said, "but we are not satisfied with stopping there. We want the whole organization."

The task has been complicated, he said by the fact that while the rings were interlocked to some extent they operated for the most part as independent organizations.

Four months after Major Williams came here to take charge of the district—he formerly was superintendent of the customs border control at El Paso, Tex.—a raiding party swarmed over a little British freighter in the harbor and seized half a million dollars worth of opium and eight prisoners.

It was only the opening gun of the major offensive that started in October.

Their watches synchronized, a small army of agents in New York, Houston, Galveston and New Orleans made the first of a series of simultaneous raids on the night of October 4. A total of 74 persons including 12 women, were indicted as members of that gang, which was charged with handling up to $25,000,000 worth of narcotics in the last two years.

Then came the fantastic roundup of what he referred to as "the Chinese mob," on November 19. Two agents, derworld leader and buying narcotics posing as nephews of a powerful unlavishly, had worked for two years to penetrate the barriers of a Chinese secret society.

They were accepted as members of the secret organization, and were initiated at an elaborate ceremony during which they genuflected before strange Chinese images in a swirl of exotic incense.

On the basis of information they obtained at constant risk of their lives, fellow agents descended suddenly on Francisco, Butte, Mont., Pittsburgh, members of the gang in Chicago, San and New York.

Twenty-three prisoners were taken.

Three customs officers were among the 20 prisoners seized in the next sortie, which took place eleven days later, on November 30. The customs men were accused of accepting bribes to look the other way when young women debarked from transatlantic liners with trunk-loads of narcotics.

THINK MADRID'S ZERO HOUR NEAR

Eight Insurgent Planes Bomb Several Towns In That Sector

MADRID, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Eighteen insurgent war planes bombed several towns in the Madrid sector today in what observers considered the terrorizing prelude to a powerful offensive against the central front.

It was the third raid in three days on several villages. Anti-aircraft fire turned back the air fleet's approach to Madrid, disabling one plane.

The series of bombings on the cold plains above Madrid, at Tarancon, Santa Cruz de la Zarza and Fuentedueña de Tajo, already has sent about 500 persons to their graves and to hospitals.

Today's casualties were low because the continued attacks had set the villagers to burrowing underground refuges in hillsides. Lookouts, stationed on hilltops, gave warning at the approach of the planes.

Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's big push is long overdue. While most quarters said he planned no winter campaign most observers contended the zero hour was near.

Another view was that Franco sought to draw government planes from the Aragon front, preliminary to a vigorous thrust in eastern Spain. Nearly every dispatch from that area reported increasingly heavy insurgent concentrations.

CRUTCHER PLANS 'BUY NOW' PROGRAM

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—James H. Crutcher, Louisiana WPA administrator, said today a "buy now" program for materials and commodities has been adopted and may send $1,500,000 into trade channels by January 15.

Crutcher said Harry L. Hopkins, national WPA administrator, telegraphed instructions in behalf of President Roosevelt to purchase as soon as possible materials needed by the state organization for January, February and March.

Governor Richard W. Leche and Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans have been asked to cooperate.

Crutcher added he had asked sponsors of WPA projects throughout the state to aid in the program.

BULLY

BOOTLEGGING ON DOWNWARD TRAIL

Quality Goes Up And Price Down As Time For Bonded Whisky Nears

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—The fourth anniversary of federal prohibition repeal tomorrow will find the bootlegger still in existence but his activities "greatly reduced."

The fifth year of repeal opens with 43 out of the 48 states permitting the sale of hard liquor, with liquor tax revenues rising and with the first large supply of bonded whisky about ready to tap.

From the consumer standpoint, officials say the quality of whisky is gradually going up and the price down. This process, they believe, will be speeded up next July 1 when between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 gallons of bonded whisky will be ready to come out of warehouses. Bonded whisky must be aged for four or more years and next July will be the first release date for the post-repeal product.

The impact of this supply on prices will be watched closely by enforcement officers. They believe that, although bootlegging probably never will be wiped out altogether, cheap legal whisky will make most bootlegging unprofitable.

Measured by seizures of illegal stills, bootlegging has been cut in half in the last two years. Before then, the treasury's alcohol tax unit confiscated an average of 300 stills a week.

Many of these still seizures, he added, are in the five remaining dry states—Tennessee, Georgia, Mississippi, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Government figures show substantial increases in the consumption of legal liquor during the last three fiscal years. The gallonage figures on quantities of tax paid alcohol for the three years ended June 30 in each case were: 1935, 82,544,332; 1936, 110,186,311; 1937, 130,196,858.

The federal government has collected nearly two billion dollars in taxes on liquor since repeal and the states many millions more. Here's the federal bill:

FREEZING WEATHER AGAIN PREDICTED

(By Associated Press)

Freezing weather was predicted for the south by Monday morning, with "some possibility of snow," as a result of a cold wave moving out of the northwest.

Light showers were forecast Saturday night in many portions of the southeast, accompanied by slowly rising temperatures. The mercury was due to reach its highest point Sunday noon, and thereafter plunge to the low 30's.

The cold snap, weather observers said, would probably last about three days, but is not expected to equal that experienced in the southeast two weeks ago.

The high pressure area was described as centered over Montana and and Pembina, N .D., were among the coldest spots on the weather map, moving slowly eastward. Williston each with a reading of 6 degrees above zero at midday. Chicago reported 34, Duluth 16, Omaha 32, Des Moines 26, Kansas City and St. Louis 34, and Oklahoma City 42.

GENERAL BAILS OUT OF ICY AIRPLANE

PIKEVILLE, Tenn. Dec. 4—(AP)—Adjutant General R. O. Smith of the Tennessee national guard jumped to safety in his parachute from an ice coated plane in the Cumberland mountains near here today.

His pilot, Major Walter M. Williams, sighted a landing spot as he stood on the plane wing poised to jump, crawled back into the cockpit and landed the plane. The two were en route to their homes in Nashville from the Miami air show.

"Our plane became covered with ice as a storm closed in on us over Monteagle, Tenn.," said Major Williams.

"We were unable to turn back to Chattanooga and feared to go ahead. The visibility was so bad we could not see the ground. We radioed that we were going to jump.

"General Smith bailed out and his chute caught in a tall pine tree, leaving him suspended about 15 feet from the ground. He dropped to earth without injury."

TWO NASHVILLE PAPERS COMBINE

News And Editorial Departments, However, Will Remain Separate

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The two Nashville newspapers—the Banner and the Tennessean—announced tonight the formation of a printing corporation to publish both, but with each preserving its own corporate identity.

The plan, effective after tomorrow morning's issues, involves discontinuance of the Tennessean's evening edition and of the Sunday Banner. The Tennessean will be published seven mornings a week and the Banner six afternoons.

"We have formed the Newspaper Printing corporation, an agency corporation charged solely with the production of our respective newspapers," said the announcement by Silliman Evans, publisher of the Tennessean, and James G. Stahlman, publisher of the Banner.

"This corporation will have charge of the advertising, circulation and mechanical processes of the Nashville Banner and the Nashville Tennessean.

"This is no new departure in the newspaper publishing business. It is a localized adaptation of plans that are being successfully carried out elsewhere."

Work is in progress on a new building that will accommodate both papers. Until it is completed, the Tennessean will publish in the Banner building.

"Each newspaper will preserve its respective corporate identity," the publishers' statement said, emphasizing that each "will preserve its exclusive news and editorial authority, independence and identity, free from any editorial authority, independence and identity, free from any relationship" with the other. • • •"

"This is a joint enterprise, conceived in the public interest, as well as our own. Neither paper is taking the other over. Each of us is endeavoring to apply ordinary common sense to a joint situation.

"Costs of newspaper production have been mounting for years. Taxes, labor, materials have been gradually diminishing the profitable return from newspaper properties."

It was disclosed that the negotiations have been in progress since August.

The statement gave "the public assurance that each newspaper is entering a new era of operation heretofore impossible in Nashville, with the conviction that the operation will prove to the utmost satisfaction to our readers, our advertisers and the public generally."

CAMPBELL FINED BY BARBER-JUDGE

Actor-Scenarist Shows Better Humor And Pays Off Assessment

KINGSVILLE, Md., Dec. 4.—(AP)—The magistrate-barber of Kingsville, who doffs his white coat for a black one while sitting on the bench in a corner of his shop, shaved $101.45 today from the bankroll of Alan Campbell, actor-scenarist husband of Dorothy Parker, author and wit.

Campbell, in better humor than yesterday when he went to jail rather than pay the fine against himself after paying one of $101.45 for his driver, Louis Bohlman, grinned during the hearing and paid the fine. His attorney gave notice of appeal.

Magistrate Harry D. Probert, who gets 35 cents for haircuts, 15 cents for shaves, and $1.45 costs for hearing speeding cases, found Campbell guilty of allowing his chauffeur to speed 70 miles an hour through a 25-mile zone, despite Campbell's pleas that:

He was on his way to Baltimore for treatment for an eye ailment, had put "drops" in his eyes, was wearing dark glasses, kept his eyes closed to avoid strain, and couldn't see the speedometer.

He had never ridden in the light truck before and didn't know "the feel" of it at high speeds.

"To test his eyes," testified Sergeant E. S. Haddaway, who arrested Campbell, "I looked under the M's for oculists (when Campbell asked that he look up the telephone number of his oculist). "He said, 'I think you'll have more success if you look under the O's.' Then he said he would call information for the telephone number. That's my case."

"Then," said the judge, "in your opinion he could see the speedometer?"

"Yes. If he could see the M's in the telephone book, I see no reason why he couldn't see the speedometer."

Campbell grinned.

BIG JIM THORPE FIGHTS INDIAN ACT

SHAWNEE, Okla., Dec. 4.—(AP)—Big Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, stormed into tribal politics tonight as he once did down a football gridiron.

"They want us to go back to the blanket," Thorpe told fellow Sac and Fox Indians in a speech denouncing the Thomas-Rogers Indian act and urging against adoption of a separate constitution by the tribe.

"What's the use of educating an Indian and training him for citizenship then forcing him to live under separate constitution?" He asked.

The Thomas-Rogers act would permit tribes to set up their own constitutions under approval of the Indian service. More than 600 Sac and Fox Indians are eligible to vote on the constitution question Tuesday.

World's Latest Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Specialties, led by farm implements, gave a quiet display of strength in today's stock market.

While a few issues got up as much as 6 points or so at the best, most leaders lacked sufficient buying support to extend the recent rally by more than fractions. There also was an assortment of losers at the close.

The machinery group apparently was taken in hand on the theory congress would put through a farm bill increasing rural buying power.

Dealings were unusually slow for a Saturday session, approximating 500,000 shares.

Commodities and bonds were uneven.

Steels were unable to get much of a grip on the upside.

Utilities were moderately resistant following word Senator King of Utah would introduce a bill next week to repeal the so-called "death sentence" clause in the controversial holding company. Rails, oils, merchandising and aircraft shares were narrow.

Coppers were bolstered by a modest advance in the export price for the metal. A few building material issues again responded to hopes engendered by the New Deal housing program.

CHRISTMAS SEALS PLACED IN MAILS

Almost Every Home In Parish Given Chance To Help Fight Tuberculosis

Thousands of Christmas seals, to be used in connection with the annual campaign of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis and Public Health association, were placed in the mails Saturday and sent to virtually every home in the parish, it was announced by A. B. Clarkson, general chairman of the campaign.

Those receiving the seals are urged to immediately acknowledge their receipt by sending the headquarters of the T. B. association a remittance covering the face value of the seals, each of which is valued at one cent.

"The desire of the association," Mr. Clarkson said, "is that every family in Ouachita parish shall have an opportunity to participate in the campaign against tuberculosis. The seals will serve their purpose only if they are devoted to their intended use, that is placing them on the backs of letters, packages and other mail matter. Every Christmas seal may be described as a "bullet" fired in the campaign. Each seal contains its own message and cannot fail to make an impression on the person receiving a letter or package bearing the message. Thus the public at large becomes more and more conscious of the menace of tuberculosis and the necessity for co-operation in fighting it."

Mr. Clarkson announced that arrangements have been completed to enlist the cooperation of negro groups of the community in the campaign. Negro leaders understand the importance of the effort to stamp out tuberculosis, because it is among this class that the disease is most prevalent.

A mass meeting will be held at the Monroe Colored High school Tuesday night at 7:50 o'clock to acquaint negroes of the work and what they can do to help. Ministers, doctors and other negro leaders will be present at the meeting, and all members of the negro race are expected to be present.

Christmas Holidays To Be Full Of Gay Entertainment For Monroe Society

Many Yule Parties Now Being Arranged

Mr. and Mrs. McHenry To Entertain For Nieces; Hudsons And Whites To Give Dance

By Eve Bradford

OF ALL the holidays Christmas is the loveliest, as it stays with us longer. Other holidays are just for a day but Christmas is a season. It colors the path ahead and lingers in the memory long after the holly wreaths are dry and faded. Joy comes, grief goes at Christmas time. If ever the heart is going to be glad it is now when the whole world is in harmony with the song in the air.

The holiday rush with all its excitement and preparations is most certainly upon us. The young folks, realizing that parties in retrospect are memory-fun, find anticipation even more fun, are now shaking out their party clothes for one of the gayest seasons in the history of Monroe. An anticipatory thrill is being enjoyed over the ball Carl and Frances McHenry are going to give their nieces, Marguerite McHenry, Gloria Frances Major, Martha Wilton McHenry, and their nephew, Armand McHenry, Jr., on the Cherokee terrace of the Frances hotel, on the night of December 23.

Then there is the dancing party Christmas night on the Virginia roof that the Murray Hudsons and the R. C. Whites are giving for their interesting offspring, Doll and Fred Hudson, III, and R. C. Jr., and Dottie White. They are all attending school in the east but will be among the first of the college set to arrive home for the holidays.

The Christmas season wouldn't be quite complete without invitations in the mail for the annual Delta Sigma dansante at Lakeside Country club some time between Christmas and New Year's. At this time all the young and lovelies, members of the charmed circle, don their chiffons and satins and jaunty little sequin caps with flaring veils and dance with the gay young blades in the shadowy lounge where the older folks watch the scintillating scene from the sidelines.

Then of course there is the annual ball of the Delta Sigmas to look forward to. It is then that formality holds sway. Many a youngster has put on his first formals for one of these affairs and many a girl has thrilled to her first "date." The time has not been definitely settled but you can rest assured it will brighten the calendar just before Christmas.

The Christmas season would be quite incomplete without the Phi Kappa ball to look forward to. This company of young gallants have the reputation for giving the most brilliant affairs of the season. Perfect in detail and with no expense spared, each ball goes down in history as one of the most delightful events of the year.

Amos and Frances Smelser are groping around in the maze of events for a free night during the holidays so that they can entertain with a dancing party in honor of Mabel Cole, one of Monroe's young and lovelies. Byron and Minta Vaughan are also searching vainly for a date for a ball for their titian-haired niece, Betty Reily, who will be home from Converse college.

The older set will soon polish up the gold sequins and shake the moths out of tuxedos for the nights of revelry ahead. They don't intend to take a back seat for the youngsters by any means. Eggnogg will flow just as freely and the brimming cups will be lifted high as in years past. The custom a few years ago of having a few friends in for bridge or crashing the new year in the bosom of the family is most definitely out. Several homes will be opened wide to guests Christmas morning and New Year's day as was the custom long ago.

The Lotus club and Lakeside Country club in gay holiday attire will, as customary, be popular rendezvous for members who will regale themselves on old memories by day and by night keep step to the Big Apple.

Minnie Cole will be home from New York City, where she is attending school, to brighten the parental fireside at Pargoud plantation during the holidays. Sara Cole Morrison is another co-ed who is checking off the days until vacation starts at Randolph Macon and she can board the train for home.

Saw Margaret Dell Horuff standing in front of the photographer's window the other day viewing the picture taken last year when she talked so earnestly to Santa Claus in a downtown store. She is one year older now and grows more winsome as the years go by. Her grandmother declares that wedding have become a "grande passion" with her. She makes them all and selects the frock to be worn with all the discrimination of a seasoned debutante. Of course you saw her at Adelia Sandel's wedding in her pink angora bonnet and pink broadcloth coat, leaning far out in the aisle, breathlessly awaiting the bridal party.

Something to really look forward to is the elegant soiree now being planned complimentary to Gertrude Feazel early in January. No less a personage than Governor Leche and his charming wife will be present in addition to almost everyone you know, socially. This affair will be one of the most pretentious pre-nuptial affairs gracing Gertrude's calendar of charming compliments soon to be showered upon her.

Mrs. Leander Hebert, Miss Vivian Hebert and Mrs. W. E. Sivage of Orange, Tex., are the guests this week of Miss Jean Hebert.

Little Theater To Give Play Dec. 16

Plans for "The Torch-Bearers," premier production of the Little Theater this season, are being perfected, and will be given on the evening of December 16 at Northeast Center under the direction of Miss Sue Hefley. The production, which is a satire on Little Theater productions, is a hilariously mirth-provoking comedy and will mark the opening of the Little Theater season. The membership drive which is being conducted by the organization will also end on this date, and no more memberships for this year will be accepted.

Miss Hefley announces the following cast for the play:

Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Miss Pargie Hudson, Miss Myrtle Killian, Miss Polly Cole, Miss De De Arnold, Miss Ruth Hood, Courtney Ryland, Stanley Reid, Joe Craig, Bill Byrd, Weldon Hood and Dr. Paul Herron.

"The Torch-Bearers" was written by George Kelly and first appeared in New York in August, 1922. It is said, to quote an article on its first appearance, "that five or six hundred New Yorkers, two or three hundred friends of the management and about 50 sophisticated first-nighters were in grave danger of rolling off their seats in hysteria because of 'The Torch-Bearers.'"

The intermissions were filled with questions. Who was George Kelly? Where did he get the comedy? How would it go?

On August 29, 1922, George Kelly was a perfectly good Philadelphian in his late twenties who was much better known to vaudeville than to fame. He had written, directed and played in about a dozen one-act comedies and dramas on Keith and Orpheum time. He had begun by quitting his family's private tutor to try acting in a playlet by the late Paul Armstrong. Then—with no more preparation, apparently—he had begun to write his own vehicles. A certain drama in France absorbed his attentions for a while. After that more "sketches"—as the vaudeville powers call any effort above vocal or bodily acrobatics—and suddenly a play.

The origin of "The Torch-Bearers" was simple enough. Kelly wrote the kind of tight, effective short plays that amateur actors and little theater directors are always looking for. He had a perfectly good Philadelphia family behind him. And so he was being invited to lunch every now and then by the Pampinellis of the cities in which he played. To hear them was enough. They had to live a wider life.

"The Torch-Bearers" passed a prosperous term on Broadway, and will go far in the little theaters which it satirizes.

'The Sun Dance' To Be Staged By Guild

The New York Light Opera guild, through John Hand, general director, has announced that "The Sun Dance," scintillating, tuneful light opera by William F. Hanson, American composer, will be given a premiere New York presentation as the guild's Broadway offering for this season. This will be the first time that a light opera depicting the love-life, romantic songs and authentic melodies, and the all embracing religious sincerity of the western Indian has ever been presented on Broadway. The opera will be staged in one of New York's most prominent theaters, with the benefits of expert New York direction, New York Light Opera guild debut artists and the famous guild chorus of more than 60 voices. Guild debut singers are of Metropolitan Opera house standards. Some of the artists presented by the New York Light Opera guild have been engaged for the regular roster of the Metropolitan Opera association, while the guild chorus is rated as one of the finest ensembles in the entire country.

"The Sun Dance" will go into rehearsal this month, John Hand will cast young American singers of exceptional ability for roles in "The Sun Dance" and will audition them by appointment at his studios, 370 Central Park West, New York City. The author of "The Sun Dance," Professor William F. Hanson, is well known throughout the west as a composer of exceptional merit, and an authority on Indian music. He is head of the public schools music at the Brigham Young university in Utah and has made an exhaustive study of the music and customs of the American Indian. In his several operas he has been imbued with the idea of preserving for posterity the music, dances and traditions of the Sioux, Shoshone, Cheyenne and Ute tribes among whom he actually lived while composing. The "Sun Dance" has for its theme the famous dance in honor of the sun god, as performed by the Sioux and the Utes. It is a colorful and authentic presentation of the western American Indian in one of his most ancient religious rituals. The music has been written by a master musician and the opera shows not only the deft touch of a true musical genius, but also a unique knowledge of Indian lore and customs.

In description of the score, the general director of the guild states, "'The Sun Dance' is without question, one of the finest Indian works ever to be presented on the operatic stage, or elsewhere. It will retain for future generations Indian melodies and musical forms and effects existent no other place in our history or civilization. It goes beneath the mundane surface of Indian life and in music and song glorifies the beauty of the romance, sincerity and nobility of the Indian race. Thus it will become one of the most striking educational sources in existence." In the production of this American opera the policies of the New York Light Opera guild will be intensified, viz.: to encourage the American singer and the American composer, and to provide professional presentation of American light opera with fresh young American voices.

Professor Hanson composed "The Sun Dance" after many years living among the Sioux and the Utes on their reservations, studying Indian legends, myths, ceremonials, music and dances. In collaboration with him at this time was Zitkala-Sa, Indian lady of culture who is now president of the National Council for American Indians, with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

It was in 1931 that the now successful New York Light Opera guild was founded. It was established on the firm belief that America is teeming with fresh young voices, many of exceptional possibilities, who, if given the proper chance, would become famous and reduce the necessity of importing so many foreign singers. The supreme difficulty confronting young and able vocalists was to secure proper presentation under correct auspices on the operatic stage and concert platform, consequently, the New York Light Opera guild came into existence to aid young American singers in overcoming this barrier.

As a tribute to the memory of Mrs. Alice Millsaps, who was a lifelong member of the First Presbyterian church, a dedication service will be held this morning at the church, dedicating the Alice Millsaps' Memorial class. The dedication will be made by Rev. E. D. Holloway and Mrs. A. M. Wills will lead in prayer. Mrs. D. M. Moore will give the scripture reading and Mrs. F. V. Allison will give a vocal selection.

Ouachita Historical Society Organized

Mrs. Mitchell Named President Of Group To Preserve History Of Local Area

Outstanding among the affairs of much interest during the past week was the organization of the Ouachita Valley Historical society at the home of Mrs. Charles Mitchell on North Sixth street, Tuesday evening.

The objective of the society will be to focus interest on the history of the Ouachita valley and to stimulate research that will separate fact from tradition. Among the speakers endorsing the formation of a historical society in Monroe were Mr. Fred Williamson, Mr. John Filhiol, Mr. J. E. Brown, Mr. Harry Russell and Mrs. Charles Mitchell.

Mr. Williamson, while enumerating the objectives of a historical society, stressed the need of Ouachita parish for a reliable narrative history of the whole Ouachita valley which comprises the area drained by the Ouachita river and its tributaries.

Mrs. Mitchell was elected president of the organization and Mrs. Palmer Hardie secretary.

After the meeting, Mrs. Mitchell served a delicious supper in the dining room, where Mrs. David Garrett and Mrs. Harvey Trousdale presided.

Among those present were Mrs. Blanche Oliver, Mrs. Elizabeth McCranie, Mrs. Elizabeth Cryer McGuire, Mrs. Alfred Reid, Mrs. Palmer Hardie, Miss Grace Ingledue, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Trousdale, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown, Judge and Mrs. David Garrett, Dr. Ho. a Phillips, Mr. Harry Russell, Mr. John Filhiol, Dr. Philip Gayle, Mr. Fred Culver. The names of others desiring to become charter members will be added to the list.

The society hopes to have as members, all persons interested in preserving and studying the history of northeast Louisiana.

Miss Polly Payne Leaves For Orleans

Miss Polly Payne, whose marriage to Mr. James Ryder will be solemnized in New Orleans this week, left yesterday afternoon for New Orleans.

Miss Payne has been a much feted honoree at a number of social affairs this week, and her wedding the early part of the week will be an outstanding social event.

On Tuesday Mrs. Bert Feiber entertained with a beautifully appointed luncheon in Miss Payne's honor at the home of Mrs. Judson Smith on Louisville avenue.

The luncheon table was centered with a colorful array of vari-colored flowers and quaint little Mexican dolls marked the places of the guests.

Privileged to enjoy this delightful affair were Miss Payne, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Miss Juanita Hogge, Miss Bernice Wright and Miss Blanche Walters.

Mr. and Mrs. Milling Bernstein entertained during the past week with a most enjoyable buffet supper complimentary to Miss Payne and Mr. Ryder.

A blue and silver Christmas motif was reflected in the blue waxen tapers in silver holders and other appointments of the table.

Little Theater To Give Play Dec. 16

Plans for "The Torch-Bearers," premier production of the Little Theater this season, are being perfected, and will be given on the evening of December 16 at Northeast Center under the direction of Miss Sue Hefley. The production, which is a satire on Little Theater productions, is a hilariously mirth-provoking comedy and will mark the opening of the Little Theater season. The membership drive which is being conducted by the organization will also end on this date, and no more memberships for this year will be accepted.

Miss Hefley announces the following cast for the play:

Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Miss Pargie Hudson, Miss Myrtle Killian, Miss Polly Cole, Miss De De Arnold, Miss Ruth Hood, Courtney Ryland, Stanley Reid, Joe Craig, Bill Byrd, Weldon Hood and Dr. Paul Herron.

"The Torch-Bearers" was written by George Kelly and first appeared in New York in August, 1922. It is said, to quote an article on its first appearance, "that five or six hundred New Yorkers, two or three hundred friends of the management and about 50 sophisticated first-nighters were in grave danger of rolling off their seats in hysteria because of 'The Torch-Bearers.'"

The intermissions were filled with questions. Who was George Kelly? Where did he get the comedy? How would it go?

On August 29, 1922, George Kelly was a perfectly good Philadelphian in his late twenties who was much better known to vaudeville than to fame. He had written, directed and played in about a dozen one-act comedies and dramas on Keith and Orpheum time. He had begun by quitting his family's private tutor to try acting in a playlet by the late Paul Armstrong. Then—with no more preparation, apparently—he had begun to write his own vehicles. A certain drama in France absorbed his attentions for a while. After that more "sketches"—as the vaudeville powers call any effort above vocal or bodily acrobatics—and suddenly a play.

The origin of "The Torch-Bearers" was simple enough. Kelly wrote the kind of tight, effective short plays that amateur actors and little theater directors are always looking for. He had a perfectly good Philadelphia family behind him. And so he was being invited to lunch every now and then by the Pampinellis of the cities in which he played. To hear them was enough. They had to live a wider life.

"The Torch-Bearers" passed a prosperous term on Broadway, and will go far in the little theaters which it satirizes.

'The Sun Dance' To Be Staged By Guild

The New York Light Opera guild, through John Hand, general director, has announced that "The Sun Dance," scintillating, tuneful light opera by William F. Hanson, American composer, will be given a premiere New York presentation as the guild's Broadway offering for this season. This will be the first time that a light opera depicting the love-life, romantic songs and authentic melodies, and the all embracing religious sincerity of the western Indian has ever been presented on Broadway. The opera will be staged in one of New York's most prominent theaters, with the benefits of expert New York direction. New York Light Opera guild debut artists and the famous guild chorus of more than 60 voices. Guild debut singers are of Metropolitan Opera house standards. Some of the artists presented by the New York Light Opera guild have been engaged for the regular roster of the Metropolitan Opera association, while the guild chorus is rated as one of the finest ensembles in the entire country.

"The Sun Dance" will go into rehearsal this month, John Hand will cast young American singers of exceptional ability for roles in "The Sun Dance" and will audition them by appointment at his studios, 370 Central Park West, New York City. The author of "The Sun Dance," Professor William F. Hanson, is well known throughout the west as a composer of exceptional merit, and an authority on Indian music. He is head of the public schools music at the Brigham Young university in Utah and has made an exhaustive study of the music and customs of the American Indian. In his several operas he has been imbued with the idea of preserving for posterity the music, dances and traditions of the Sioux, Shoshone, Cheyenne and Ute tribes among whom he actually lived while composing. The "Sun Dance" has for its theme the famous dance in honor of the sun god, as performed by the Sioux and the Utes. It is a colorful and authentic presentation of the western American Indian in one of his most ancient religious rituals. The music has been written by a master musician and the opera shows not only the deft touch of a true musical genius, but also a unique knowledge of Indian lore and customs.

In description of the score, the general director of the guild states, "'The Sun Dance' is without question, one of the finest Indian works ever to be presented on the operatic stage, or elsewhere. It will retain for future generations Indian melodies and musical forms and effects existent no other place in our history or civilization. It goes beneath the mundane surface of Indian life and in music and song glorifies the beauty of the romance, sincerity and nobility of the Indian race. Thus it will become one of the most striking educational sources in existence." In the production of this American opera the policies of the New York Light Opera guild will be intensified, viz.: to encourage the American singer and the American composer, and to provide professional presentation of American light opera with fresh young American voices.

Professor Hanson composed "The Sun Dance" after many years living among the Sioux and the Utes on their reservations, studying Indian legends, myths, ceremonials, music and dances. In collaboration with him at this time was Zitkala-Sa, Indian lady of culture who is now president of the National Council for American Indians, with headquarters at Washington, D. C.

It was in 1931 that the now successful New York Light Opera guild was founded. It was established on the firm belief that America is teeming with fresh young voices, many of exceptional possibilities, who, if given the proper chance, would become famous and reduce the necessity of importing so many foreign singers. The supreme difficulty confronting young and able vocalists was to secure proper presentation under correct auspices on the operatic stage and concert platform, consequently, the New York Light Opera guild came into existence to aid young American singers in overcoming this barrier.

Dr. Tiebout Gives Second Lecture

"The Significance of Adolescence" was discussed by Dr. Carolyn Tiebout Thursday afternoon at the parish courthouse as the second topic of the lecture course sponsored by the Twin City P.-T. A. council and offered through the general extension division of the Louisiana State university. This lecture is to be followed by a series dealing with adolescence, according to plans announced by the speaker.

Adolescence was defined in terms of time by Dr. Tiebout as "the years of the teens" and in biological terms as "the period beginning with puberty and ending with the cessation of growth." This period covers a somewhat ambiguous phase of development, the speaker pointed out, as the person is no longer a child, yet has not reached full maturity. Adolescence has always been looked upon as an important period in human development, she further stated, citing the various rites marking the onset of puberty among civilized and uncivilized peoples of ancient, medieval and modern times.

Former concepts of adolescence as a period of great physical and emotional change representing a distinct break with the past were shown to be inadequate. The adolescent is now regarded as an individual who brings his past with him and who is continuing his development toward maturity, the speaker stated.

Among the significant adjustments which must be made in this development, Dr. Tiebout cited those of mating, of becoming economically self-supporting, of adapting to social convention and customs, and of developing a fundamental philosophy of life. "It is problems of this type which give adolescence its significance," the speaker concluded.

Following the lectures, the Twin City council held its regular meeting at which time all committees for the year were read as follows: Finance, Mrs. N. W. Stinson; Mrs. M. P. Kuntz, Mrs. C. C. McAuliffe, Mrs. Scott Spencer; membership, Mrs. G. A. Aiden; publicity, Mrs. H. F. Burdeaux; health, Mrs. T. L. Morris, Mrs. Dewey Kramer; budget, Mrs. R. L. McHenry; welfare, Mrs. E. G. Courtney.

It was voted to stage an amateur program, to be arranged later.

Safety Chairman Advises On Toys

One of the busiest persons (P.-T. A. workers) is Mrs. G. B. Wilson of Fairbanks. Besides being a very efficient mother of five children, and taking an active part in all civic and welfare projects of her community, Mrs. Wilson is the state chairman of safety of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, which is, in itself, a sizable job. Mrs. Wilson recently stressed the importance of parents exercising the utmost caution in permitting their children to celebrate with fireworks during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Wilson said: "Our year is passing, and as it passes are we going to be able to say, 'We did our part for safety?'

"I am going to stray from the usual traffic trend and stress safety on another point—one that is so near any heart as the holidays draw nearer—that of toys.

"Every year about 100 children are killed in the United States because they played with deadly toys. Fireworks were responsible in 1935 for 57 cases of loss of sight. In 1936 hundreds of children under 15 years of age were killed with guns. Is it safe and sane to give an inexperienced child a BB gun? If Johnny must have a gun, be sure that he knows where, how and when to shoot. That's a job for dad (the other parent).

"When intelligent parents of the country fully realize the danger to which their children are exposed when they use firearms (even the lowly BB gun), and fireworks as toys, they will use to it that the full use of the law is made to keep these deadly hazards away from children.

"I cannot refrain from saying this in regard to bicycles. If you have nothing but a heavily traversed public road for your child to ride his bicycle on, why not persuade him to forego that bicycle? Last year 25,000 were injured and 60 killed on bicycles.

"There is as much danger in a bicycle as there is in a gun. The bicyclist must be taught to use his bicycle as the marksman his gun.

"We find on the market toys of every description. It is easy to select and reject the ones that would cause injury to our boys and girls.

"Will you, as parents, seriously consider the toys you buy for your boys and girls this 1937 Christmas and materially aid in reducing the death and injured list caused by the unwise selection of toys?"

Safety Chairman Advises On Toys

One of the busiest persons (P.- T. A. workers) is Mrs. G. B. Wilson of Fairbanks. Besides being a very efficient mother of five children, and taking an active part in all civic and welfare projects of her community, Mrs. Wilson is the state chairman of safety of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, which is, in itself, a sizable job. Mrs. Wilson recently stressed the importance of parents exercising the utmost caution in permitting their children to celebrate with fireworks during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Wilson said: "Our year is passing, and as it passes are we going to be able to say, 'We did our part for safety?'

"I am going to stray from the usual traffic trend and stress safety on another point—one that is so near any heart as the holidays draw nearer—that of toys.

"Every year about 100 children are killed in the United States because they played with deadly toys. Fireworks were responsible in 1935 for 57 cases of loss of sight. In 1936 hundreds of children under 15 years of age were killed with guns. Is it safe and sane to give an inexperienced child a BB gun? If Johnny must have a gun, be sure that he knows where, how and when to shoot. That's a job for dad (the other parent).

"When intelligent parents of the country fully realize the danger to which their children are exposed when they use firearms (even the lowly BB gun), and fireworks as toys, they will see to it that the full use of the law is made to keep these deadly hazards away from children.

"I cannot refrain from saying this in regard to bicycles. If you have nothing but a heavily traversed public road for your child to ride his bicycle on, why not persuade him to forego that bicycle? Last year 25,000 were injured and 60 killed on bicycles.

"There is as much danger in a bicycle as there is in a gun. The bicyclist must be taught to use his bicycle as the marksman his gun.

"We find on the market toys of every description. It is easy to select and reject the ones that would cause injury to our boys and girls.

"Will you, as parents, seriously consider the toys you buy for your boys and girls this 1937 Christmas and materially aid in reducing the death and injured list caused by the unwise selection of toys?"

Welfare Program Launched By P.-T. A.

At an executive committee meeting of St. Matthew's P.-T. A. held Tuesday afternoon, an extensive plan was formulated for Christmas welfare work and all persons desiring to cooperate are urged to do so as soon as possible.

Clothing and wearing apparel will be solicited and distributed through Mrs. Louis Breard and Mrs. Stanley Hodges. The Christmas basket deliveries will be in charge of Mrs. M. Devereaux.

Free school transportation has been provided for children without means and the children of St. Matthews school have inaugurat eda thrift chest drive as one of the school's means to help aid the poor.

Noted Singer Will Appear At O.P.H.S

Douglas Beattie To Give Concert Under Auspices Of Civic Music Association

Music lovers of northeast Louisiana who are members of the Monroe Civic Music association are athrill over the prospect of hearing Douglas Beattie, young American bass-baritone, who will appear tomorrow night at the Ouachita Parish High school auditorium in the second concert of the season sponsored by that organization.

Mr. Beattie has quite captured the American musical world, according to all the accounts that have been received in connection with his approaching recital here. His appearances before New York and San Francisco audiences during his present tour of the country electrified his hearers, the musical critics unanimously describing his voice as "one of the finest now to be heard."

Mr. Beattie will give the following program at the Monroe concert:

Die Krahe ..... Schubert
Die Post ..... Schubert
O Tod, wie bitter ..... Brahms
Verrath ..... Brahms
The Statue at Czarskoe-Selo ..... Cui
My Native Land ..... Gretchaninoff
Slumber Song ..... Gretchaninoff
When the King Went Forth to War ..... Koenemann
Aria: Il Lacerato Spirito (Simon Boccanegra) ..... Verdi
Aria: La Calunnia (Barber of Seville) ..... Rossini
Folk Songs—
When All the World Is Young ..... Wharton (English)
The Donkey's Burial ..... Ledesma-Schindler (Salmantine)
The Vagabond's Song ..... Marraco-Schindler (Catalan)
Duke Marlborough ..... Old French Melody
White Peace ..... Bax
An Old Song Re-sung ..... Griffes
Feast ..... Moorheart
Stampede ..... Charles

Robert Turner at the Piano

Mr. Beattie has had an intriguing history, both musically and otherwise. He is the son of a prominent surgeon of California and was originally intended for a surgeon's career. But young Beattie had other ideas, and while attending university devoted most of his time to the study of music. On a visit to Italy he definitely made up his mind to follow his artistic bent. He studied for two years in Italy under Aristide Anceschi and Gino Puccetti.

He made a name for himself in Europe before he returned to his native California. In Genoa he sang 12 performances in as many successive nights, appearing in three different operas. This he followed with eight successive performances in Savona and 16 in 17 days in Turin.

In the United States he has scored an equally impressive triumph, which is indicated in a few of the tributes paid by the press as follows:

New York Post: "A young singer of superior merit. The production is smooth and controlled. The tones are of warm, human quality. Mr. Beattie is young, talented, good-looking."

New York Times: "A voice of excellent qualities—resonant and manly, with dark fine color and with marked expressive capacities. Dramatic feeling was shown and the program was one of exceptional interest."

New York Herald Tribune: "A voice of exceptional caliber which should reap for him a notable career. The interpretations were intelligent and sympathetic."

James Stewart, Tom Brown and Robert Young in a scene from the Paramount's Wednesday and Thursday attraction, "Navy Blue and Gold."

Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy in one picture is the unusual attraction offered in "Manhattan Melodrama," playing at the Capitol theater today and Monday.

'Manhattan Melodrama' At Capitol

Clark Gable, William Powell And Myrna Loy Head Cast Of Hit Film

NEW YORK in the early years of the century when "Diamond Jim" Brady was a familiar figure and Lillian Russell was the toast of the town, lives briefly on the screen in "Manhattan Melodrama," which co-stars Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy and opens at the Capitol theater.

As a sort of prologue to the principal action, which is laid in 1934, the picture re-creates one of the most horrible disasters in the big city's history—the fire and beaching of the excursion steamer General Slocum, a tragedy that cost more than 1,000 lives.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio technicians re-enacted the entire disaster in and around the studio's stages, and made it one of the most spectacular scenes ever filmed.

Re-created also is the famous Winter Garden roof, long since torn down where, in 1906, Harry Thaw killed Stanford White. A brief sequence of the picture takes place there.

John Boles In Cast Of Hit Picture

Anne Shirley, Alan Hale And Barbara O'Neil Also In Dramatic Film

THE accuracy of Samuel Goldwyn's showmanship judgment in selecting "Stella Dallas" to launch his 1937-38 program of eight important productions for release through United Artists, was gloriously vindicated at the Paramount theater when this great drama of a woman's heartbreak and sacrifice had its premiere showing.

The poignant story of the tawdry, vulgar woman who rises to magnificent heights through her sublime love for her daughter was interpreted by Barbara Stanwyck and a stellar cast with a realism that was breathtaking in its intensity.

Barbara Stanwyck in the title role gives a performance that will undoubtedly be hailed as one of the finest of the year and should rocket her to new heights of film fame just as the characterization of "Stella Dallas" in the silent version produced by Samuel Goldwyn twelve years ago catapulted Belle Bennett into sensational box-office prominence.

"Stella Dallas" carries a terrific appeal to the emotions in its simple and powerful story. It depicts the love life of Stella, a beautiful and pleasure-starved mill girl, who after a brief romance marries Stephen Dallas, outside her social sphere. They soon discover that they are definitely mismated. Their baby is born, and Stella's only redeeming quality seems to be her understanding heart expressed in her love for her little daughter Laurel. Her coarse manner of living becomes more pronounced and her flirtation and friendship with Ed Munn, race track tout, and his loud companions further alienate her husband.

On her eighth birthday Laurel is humiliated when her schoolmates refuse to come to her birthday party because of the gossip created by her mother's vulgar behavior.

Later Stella, who idolizes her daughter, takes her to a fashionable resort to meet some of the better people. Her mother's garish attire and flamboyant attitude, however, invites ridicule and Laurel, who has just met her first sweetheart, Richard Grosvenor, is so ashamed she insists on going back home.

A conversation which Stella overhears on the train en route for home brings the horrifying realization that she is standing in the way of her daughter's happiness. She decides to permit Stephen to divorce her providing he marries Mrs. Morrison, an old sweetheart, so that Laurel can live with them and have the advantages of a refined home.

The fierce loyalty of Laurel to her mother and her refusal to go with her father and Mrs. Morrison are poignant sequences that play on the heartstrings. But the mother is determined to sacrifice herself for her daughter's sake. How she finally turns her child from her and hides the love for her that is tearing at her heart is the most deeply moving situation that has ever been filmed.

Barbara Stanwyck's portrayal of the mother, showing the gradual breaking down of her moral fiber and her transition from the light-hearted mill girl to the disillusioned and lonely woman, is a triumph of dramatic artistry.

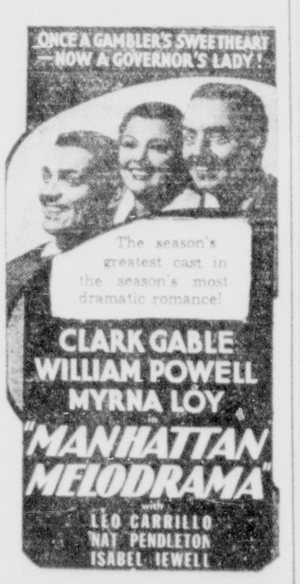

John Boles as Stephen Dallas has one of the strongest roles of his career. Anne Shirley registers a distinct hit as the loyal little daughter who despite her mother's shortcomings refuses to leave her. Alan Hale is superb as the roistering Ed Munn, whose boisterous flirtation with Stella Dallas leads to the break up of the Dallas home. Other members of the cast who distinguish themselves in important roles are Al Shean as Mr. Lieber, Stephen Dallas' employer, Barbara O'Neil as Mrs. Morrison and Tim Holt as Laurel's sweetheart, Richard Grosvenor. Supporting players include George Walcott, Marjorie Main, Bruce Satterlee, Anne Shoemaker, Halan Briggs and Etta McDaniels.

James Stewart, Tom Brown and Robert Young in a scene from the Paramount's Wednesday and Thursday attraction, "Navy Blue and Gold."

Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy in one picture is the unusual attraction offered in "Manhattan Melodrama," playing at the Capitol theater today and Monday.

Clark Gable, William Powell And Myrna Loy Head Cast Of Hit Film

NEW YORK in the early years of the century when "Diamond Jim" Brady was a familiar figure and Lillian Russell was the toast of the town, lives briefly on the screen in "Manhattan Melodrama," which co-stars Clark Gable, William Powell and Myrna Loy and opens at the Capitol theater.

As a sort of prologue to the principal action, which is laid in 1934, the picture re-creates one of the most horrible disasters in the big city's history—the fire and beaching of the excursion steamer General Slocum, a tragedy that cost more than 1,000 lives.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio technicians re-enacted the entire disaster in and around the studio's stages, and made it one of the most spectacular scenes ever filmed.

Re-created also is the famous Winter Garden roof, long since torn down where, in 1906, Harry Thaw killed Stanford White. A brief sequence of the picture takes place there.

John Boles In Cast Of Hit Picture

Anne Shirley, Alan Hale And Barbara O'Neil Also In Dramatic Film

THE accuracy of Samuel Goldwyn's showmanship judgment in selecting "Stella Dallas" to launch his 1937-38 program of eight important productions for release through United Artists, was gloriously vindicated at the Paramount theater when this great drama of a woman's heartbreak and sacrifice had its premiere showing.

The poignant story of the tawdry, vulgar woman who rises to magnificent heights through her sublime love for her daughter was interpreted by Barbara Stanwyck and a stellar cast with a realism that was breathtaking in its intensity.

Barbara Stanwyck in the title role gives a performance that will undoubtedly be hailed as one of the finest of the year and should rocket her to new heights of film fame just as the characterization of "Stella Dallas" in the silent version produced by Samuel Goldwyn twelve years ago catapulted Belle Bennett into sensational box-office prominence.

"Stella Dallas" carries a touch of appeal to the emotions in its simple and powerful story. It depicts the love life of Stella, a beautiful and pleasure-starved mill girl who, after a brief romance marries Stephen Dallas, outside her social sphere. They soon discover that they are definitely mismated. Their baby is born and Stella's only redeeming quality seems to be her understanding heart expressed in her love for her little daughter, Laurel. Her coarse manner of living becomes more pronounced and her flirtation and friendship with Ed Munn, face

'You Can't Take It With You' To Be Presented At Northeast Center

A current Broadway hit, "You Can't Take It With You," by Kaufman and Hart, will be presented at the Northeast Center of Louisiana State university, by Miss Grace Ingledue, head of the college speech department, Thursday at 8 p.m. The presentation will be that of an interpretative review. No admission will be charged.

This play was awarded the Pulitzer prize for the year.

The setting of the play is in the home of Martin Vanderhof, just around the corner from Columbia university. The living room serves many purposes. Here meals are eaten, plays are written, snakes collected, ballet steps practiced, xylophones played, printing presses operated. The brood over which Martin Vanderhof presides go about the business of living in the fullest sense of the word. It is a house where you do as you like and no questions are asked.

Miss Ingledue, being a professional artist-interpreter, is able to create a distinct type of each of the 15 characters included in the play. The presentation will require an hour and 20 minutes.

Miss Ingledue has been active in bringing interpretation programs here. Last year she arranged for the appearance of two guest artist-interpreters, Miss Mary Lutz and Dr. Harley Smith.

The program on Thursday will be the fourth one in which Miss Ingledue has appeared before Monroe audiences.

Miss Ingledue is editor of the Louisiana Speech Journal. She is a director and an announcer for the Northeast Center radio broadcasts and has had considerable experience broadcasting over other stations. She has degrees from Ohio Northern university, Butler university, Wisconsin university, and has only a dissertation to finish studies for a doctor's degree at Louisiana State university.

She spoke recently at the convention of the Louisiana Teachers' association in Shreveport and will appear again on the program of the National Association of Teachers of Speech in New York City later this month.

NEW MINISTER FOR W. MONROE

Rev. C. K. Smith, D. D., Will Preach Twice At Sunday Services

Rev. C. K. Smith, D. D., who has just been assigned to the pastorate of the West Monroe Methodist church, will preach his first sermons as the new minister of the congregation at the services today. The morning service will be at 11 o'clock and the evening service at 7:30.

An informal reception to the new pastor and Mrs. Smith was held Friday night, when a large number of the congregation gave them welcome to the community. Dr. Smith succeeds Rev. Martin Hebert, who has been pastor of the church for the last four years.

Dr. Smith comes to West Monroe from Tallulah, where he also served for four years. Prior to that he held the pastorate of the Methodist church at Crowley. He is widely known throughout Louisiana, and made many friends in the Twin Cities last spring when he conducted a series of evangelistic services in West Monroe.

Besides his ministerial activities, Dr. Smith has been a leader in civic and welfare work in Tallulah and other communities he has served. He has been prominently identified with the Rotary club, and was a delegate to the Rotary International convention at Vienna several years ago, when he represented 35 clubs of the United States at the gathering.

He is also prominent in Masonic circles, and in 1931, while absent on a world tour pursuing special studies and investigations of conditions abroad was selected by the grand lodge of Scotland to open Jerusalem lodge No. 1 in Solomon's Quarries in the Holy Land.

Dr. Smith is a graduate of S. M. U., and received his degree of doctor of divinity from the university's school of divinity.

With his family he is now located in the Methodist parsonage on Wood street, West Monroe.

'FIRST CITIZEN' TO BE HONORED

Captain G. B. Cooley Will Receive Legion Trophy Monday Night

The 1937 citizenship trophy will be presented to Captain G. B. Cooley by the L. B. Faulk post of the American Legion at its meeting at the memorial home, Forsythe park, Monday at 8 p.m. This will indicate that, in the opinion of a secret legion committee, Captain Cooley is regarded as the citizen who has performed the most outstanding civic service for the past year in Monroe and West Monroe. A similar award will be made each year by the local post to the most outstanding citizen.

The presentation of the trophy, in this case a handsome silver ship, indicative of the captain's love of things nautical, will be made by Dean C. C. Colvert of the Northeast Center of Louisiana State university, and member of the post.

Monday night's meeting will not be restricted to legion members, for the public of the Twin Cities is cordially invited to attend the meeting and participate in the honor that is being bestowed for work well done.

The distinguished services rendered comprised the captain's generous gifts of money and of his time to the new tuberculosis hospital located near West Monroe, and his constant furtherance of the work of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association, of which he is the guiding light, having served as president ever since it was organized. The captain's interest in public affairs and in the advancement of everything that might mean a bigger and better city, parish, and state has been ceaseless and the recognition of his efforts, it is believed, will meet with universal approval.

This will not be the first time that the captain has received recognition for his efforts. In 1929, the Monroe Elks lodge awarded him a handsome silver loving cup for community service performed that year.

AS TARZAN DEPARTED, ISHTAK COMMANDED; "ARCHERS! KILL HIM!" THEN BOW STRINGS SNAPPED. ARROWS WHIRRED.

THE APE-MAN WAS SHOCKED TO FIND HIMSELF THE TARGET OF THOSE WHO POSED AS HIS FRIENDS.

BUT HIS SURPRISE DID NOT CHECK HIS AGILITY. DARTING AND DODGING, HE SPED QUICKLY OUT OF RANGE.

ACROSS THE PLAIN HE FLED, LIKE A NIMBLE ANTELOPE, TOWARD THE WAGON TRAIN. DESPITE ISHTAK'S PUZZLING TREACHERY, HE WAS RESOLVED TO PREVENT THE THEFT OF THE BLACK CHIEF'S LANDS, IF THEFT IT TRULY WAS.

WHEN JAN VAN BOEREN SAW HIM, HE FINGERED HIS MUSKET. ON THE WILD FRONTIER IT WAS WELL TO HAVE THE DROP ON A STRANGER.

BUT TARZAN MADE A SIGN OF PEACE, THEN DEMANDED: "WHY ARE YOU HERE? THESE ARE ISHTAK'S LANDS."

"THESE LANDS ARE OURS. WE BOUGHT THEM OF ISHTAK AND PAID HIM WELL. SEE------"

HE DREW FORTH A PARCHMENT. "THIS IS THE CONTRACT, SEALED BY ISHTAK'S HANDPRINT."

"GIVE IT TO ME," TARZAN COMMANDED. SOMETHING IN THE PATRIARCH'S SIMPLE HEART MOVED HIM TO TRUST THE STATELY STRANGER.

SO HE GAVE THE PARCHMENT INTO THE HANDS OF TARZAN, WHO TURNED AND RACED AWAY.

PICKING UP THE PRINT BY MEANS OF THE UNEXPOSED PHOTO PAPER PROCESS, I DEVELOPED IT AND MADE A SLIDE. SNAP OFF THE LIGHT, PAT.

THIS IS PART OF THE FACELESS MAN'S PRINT - A THUMB AND A PORTION OF THE FOREFINGER.

SEARCHING THROUGH THE FINGER-PRINT FILES, I FOUND ITS DUPLICATE - THIS PRINT BELONGED TO ONE FRANK REDRUM, A VICIOUS KILLER WHO ESCAPED FROM THE STATE PENITENTIARY IN 1927 - AND, LATER, WAS SUPPOSED TO HAVE DIED AS A RESULT OF WOUNDS.

YOU MEAN TO SAY THIS FACELESS MAN IS AN ESCAPED CONVICT WHO WAS SUPPOSED TO HAVE DIED?

EXACTLY!

SAY, I REMEMBER THAT ESCAPE. REDRUM WAS BADLY SHOT IN THE FACE BUT ESCAPED, HOLDING A PRISON GUARD IN FRONT OF HIM AS A SHIELD.

RIGHT, CHIEF. AND MONTHS LATER A BODY WAS DISCOVERED IN THE BERRING RIVER CLOTHED IN REDRUM'S CLOTHES - BUT THE GUARD WAS NEVER FOUND.

WHAT DOES THAT MEAN, DICK?

IT MEANS REDRUM CHANGED CLOTHES WITH THE GUARD, AND IT WAS THE GUARD'S BODY THAT WAS FISHED OUT OF THE RIVER.

REDRUM'S FACE MUST HAVE BEEN BADLY MARKED, BUT WHY IS HE PICKING OFF THESE GANGSTERS?

BECAUSE EACH OF THE MEN RUBBED OUT SO FAR WAS A MEMBER OF THE OLD REDRUM GANG! EVIDENTLY THEY WOULDN'T TAKE HIM BACK AND HE'S OUT FOR REVENGE.

BECAUSE OF HIS FACE, SOCIETY WOULDN'T HAVE HIM - AND THE UNDERWORLD WOULDN'T TAKE HIM BACK. HM-??--

DARED TO CHART THE PACIFIC

COPR. 1937 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

ALREADY a master navigator at the age of 30, Capt. James Cook sailed from Plymouth, Eng., on Aug. 26, 1768, in command of an exploratory expedition to the Pacific. He was to dare charting that vast ocean. And he did.

Doubling Cape Horn, he reached Tahiti the following April; plowed on to New Zealand, which had not been visited by Europeans for more than a century. Here he charted the coast; then Australia's, naming New South Wales. The entire separation of Australia from New Guinea was discovered. But almost half of his crew died in the effort. Three years after his departure, June 12, 1771, Cook returned to England. He had just begun his work!

One year later Captain Cook set sail again from Plymouth; this time to discover the imaginary "Terra Australis Incognita." In the next three years he had explored the Antarctic from New Zealand to Cape Horn. And for this signal achievement Cook was appointed to command a new expedition to search for a passage around North America from the Pacific.

But that task Cook never completed. Following important surveys along the Bering Sea coast, he returned to winter in the Sandwich Islands. Here he was brutally murdered on Feb. 14, 1779, in a sudden attack by natives. His landing at Poverty Bay, New Zealand, in 1769 is portrayed on a 1935 New Zealand stamp.
